Roxas Stricken After Blasting Reds In Speech

Quirino To Head Island Republic

MANILA, Friday, April 16 (AP)—President Manuel A. Roxas died unexpectedly of a heart attack last night at Clark Field, where he had just delivered a strong attack on world Communism.

The body of the 56-year-old Roxas, first President of the Philippines Republic, arrived today on a funeral train from that United States Air Base 50 miles northwest of this sorrowing capital.

Elpidio Quirino, 57, Vice-President and Foreign Secretary, was advised of his chief's death and began drafting a message to the people. The new President was on a cutter in the Central Philippines when word reached him.

This capital was shocked and stunned by the news. Roxas had appeared in good health when he left yesterday for Clark Field to make his first official visit to the big air base.

He collapsed shortly after declaring in a speech that the free peoples of the world "must stop and if necessary fight aggression by Communist fifth columns the world over."

Widow Prostrated With Grief

Great crowds gathered at Tutuban railway station and lined the route of the cortege from there to Malacanan Palace, the presidential residence two and a half miles away.

The train arrived at 8:55 a. m. The body of the late President was draped simply in the Philippine flag.

Mrs. Roxas, prostrated with grief, was helped off the train by Senate President Jose Avelino and assisted to her automobile by a daughter, Ruby Roxas.

Police reserves and presidential guards held back the throngs as they pressed toward the station platform. The President's body was carried to an ambulance by presidential guards.

As a color guard formed and a Philippine army band played "Hail To The Chief" and the Philippine National Anthem, Mrs. Roxas stepped from her car. She lifted the flag over the body and kissed the forehead of her late husband.

The procession then started slowly for Malacanan Palace. Khaki-clad honor guards in white gloves and black armbands lined the route.

Messages of condolences, headed by a statement from President Truman, poured in from all over the world.

Oxygen Administered

Roxas was stricken at 2:30 p. m. yesterday and died at 10:10 p. m. His death was announced early today from Malacanan Palace.

Quirino was expected to reach Manila some time before midnight.

When Roxas was stricken, United States Air Force doctors and the Secretary of Health, Dr. Antonio Villarama, immediately attended him. Oxygen was administered. His personal physician, Dr. Antonio G. Sison, flew from Manila in a United States Embassy plane.

It was announced at the palace then that the President was suffering merely from "acute fatigue" and was recovering.

However, Mrs. Roxas and the Judge Will Rule Monday Whether Lewis Is Guilty

UMW Chieftain Sits Massively Silent

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The John L. Lewis trial ended today except for the final judgment. Judge T. Alan Goldsborough kept Lewis and the country in suspense by putting off his decision until Monday morning.

He will announce then whether Lewis and the United Mine Workers are guilty of contempt of court.

At a similar trial in 1946 the same federal judge rocked the same defendants with a "guilty" judgment and heavy fines.

Lewis sat massively silent again today. He didn't so much as shake his bushy gray hair while Assistant Attorney General Graham Morison, summing up the government's case, thrust at him with accusations.

Morison, a short, dark-haired man 27 years younger than Lewis, said the issue is simple—the defendants on April 5 were handed a court order to end the soft coal strike and they let exactly one week pass before doing anything about it.

Morison said John L. Lewis should be held responsible for his acts "as well as any other man." He told the attentive judge:

That Lewis caused the miners to quit work March 15;

That he "well knew" he was causing it;

That he "took his time" about obeying the court order;

And that he finally ordered the miners back to work April 12.

The union's lawyer, Welly K. Hopkins, declined to sum up the defendants' case, though Goldsborough almost begged him to make a final argument.

The judge said it would help the court, and be to the public interest, to hear both sides state their positions. But Hopkins respectfully said no. He limited himself to claiming merely that the record in the trial "fails completely" to establish a case of contempt.

Goldsborough sighed and adjourned court until Monday at 10 a. m. (EST).

Today's whole proceeding took less than half an hour.

As Morison held the attention of the crowd packed in the little courtroom, the soft coal industry was gradually getting back on its feet.

A sizeable majority of the nearly 400,000 soft-coal miners were back at work, heeding Lewis' telegrams of Monday telling them that miners' pensions had been granted and they should return to work.

Jews Spurn Holy Land Truce Plan

Russians Oust U. S. Newsman

Magidoff Not Spy, Ambassador Says

MOSCOW, April 15 (AP) — The American news correspondent, Robert Magidoff, said today he had been informed by the Soviet Press Department that his further work here was impossible. He said he was leaving the Soviet Union in two or three days.

His statement followed publication of a long letter in the government newspaper Izvestia—which Izvestia said was from Magidoff's American-born secretary—accusing him of spying for the United States.

Magidoff said the press department had told him in view of this letter his further residence in the USSR was undesirable.

Izvestia quoted the secretary, Cecilia Nelson, a former employe of the United States Embassy, as saying that Magidoff had dispatched reports in United States diplomatic pouches, not subject to censorship.

Smith Denies Allegation

(In Washington, the State Department said United States Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith had cabled from Moscow a flat denial that Magidoff served as a spy for the embassy. Smith said also that Magidoff had told him Miss Nelson's allegations were false.)

Magidoff has served the National Broadcasting Company, the Exchange Telegraph (British) and the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company, of New York. He once was on the Associated Press staff here.

(William F. Brooks, NBC vice president in charge of news, said in New York the network had full confidence in Magidoff's integrity. Russell F. Anderson, editor of McGraw-Hill World News, said the charges were without foundation and were developed on a routine news assignment sent to Magidoff in June, 1947. Anderson said Magidoff has been unable to carry out the assignment because of Soviet censorship regulations.)

"Incriminating" Letter Found

Izvestia quoted Miss Nelson as saying she had come upon documents which revealed that Magidoff was "using his residence in the USSR in the role of correspondent for purposes of espionage and he was conducting intelligence activities against the Soviet Union."

The letter gave this as her reason for referring the matter to Russian authorities:

"In particular it became clear to me why during a recent period

SENATE APPROVES BILL RAISING LIMIT ON VETS' ON-JOB TRAINING WAGES

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The Senate today passed a bill to raise the limit on earnings of veterans taking on-the-job training courses.

The measure now goes to the House, where approval is assured, and then to the White House.

It would increase to $210 the amount a single veteran may receive while taking on-the-job training. He now receives a top of $175. A veteran with one dependent could receive up to $270, and one with two or more dependents up to $290. The present ceiling for a veteran with dependents is $200.

Security Council Unable To Agree

LAKE SUCCESS, April 15 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council failed tonight to agree on a truce to stop fighting and bloodshed in Palestine.

The Jewish Agency for Palestine rejected the truce proposal that was warmly backed by the United States, Colombia, and Canada.

The Arab Higher Committee for Palestine did not commit itself but the ranking Arab spokesman on the council said he would accept the truce plan with some iron-clad conditions.

The council finally gave up at 6:10 p. m. (EST) after Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, declared he had not received his instructions on how to vote on the proposal.

Gromyko and the Soviet Ukraine delegate, Vassily A. Tarasenko, declared the Jewish Agency objections must be thoroughly considered.

The council will meet again tomorrow at 9 p. m. (EST) after the first day's session of the second United Nations Assembly on Palestine.

The agency demanded, in effect, a truce on its own terms.

It said the truce proposal before the United Nations Security Council "appeared to load the dice very heavily against the Jews."

Faris El Khoury, of Syria, Arab country spokesman in the council, then said he would accept the American-supported proposal with the understanding there would be no political changes in Palestine and that Jewish immigration would be halted.

While delegates talked on here violence continued on an increasing scale in the Holy Land. Jews in Jerusalem claimed a "decisive victory" over an Arab army in Northern Palestine.

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate who had a big hand in drawing up the truce proposal, reminded the delegates the council must stop the fighting and prevent massacres.

Since the United Nations Assembly approved the Palestine partition plan last November 29, the daily average of people killed in the Holy Land has been about 20. The total has reached nearly 3,000 dead in just less than 20 weeks.

August 1 British Deadline

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Arthur Creech-Jones, British Secretary of State for Colonies, said today there was no possibility that British troops might remain in Palestine after August 1.

"I hope they will be out before the first," he told newsmen on his arrival by plane from London to attend the United Nations General Assembly meetings on Palestine. "Make it quite clear—we are not staying on. We have had enough."

The British mandate over the Holy Land is scheduled to end on May 15.

Decisive Victory Claimed By Jews

JERUSALEM, April 15 (AP)—Jewish sources declared today they had won a "decisive victory" over the Arab Yarmuk army of Northern Palestine and administered a personal defeat to its leader, Fawzi Bey Al Kaukji.

The Jews said 2,000 Jewish fighters had inflicted 200 Arab casualties, captured seven of Fawzi Bey's field guns and were circling over the hills lining the famous Plain of Armageddon in an effort to encircle the retreating Arabs.

In a communique, Haganah, the Jewish militia, claimed a second victory, saying it had driven the Arabs out of Camp Tel Letvinsky, former American military rest camp near Tel Aviv.

(In Cairo, grave concern was expressed at Arab League headquarters where Trans-Jordan's foreign minister, Fawzi Mulki Pasha, said he had received an urgent appeal for help from Fawzi Bey who reported he was encircled by 12,000 Jewish fighters.

(The Trans-Jordan official relayed the appeal to King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan and predicted the British-trained Trans-Jordan Arab Legion, rated the most efficient Arab military force, would intervene on a large scale if Fawzi Bey were unable to extricate himself soon.

(Gen. Ismail Sawfat Pasha, Iraqi commander-in-chief of the Arab armies of liberation in Palestine, met in a hurried conference with the secretary general of the Arab League, and then left for Amman, capital of Trans-Jordan, where he was reported to have arrived late in the afternoon.

(Cairo dispatches said Arab circles appeared shocked, and that an air of crisis prevailed at Arab League headquarters. Mulki described the northern fighting as "a major battle which if won by the Arabs will be a fatal blow to Jewish ambitions.")

New Pernicious Anemia Treatment Is Discovered

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — Discovery of a new substance in liver which has proved in initial tests to be 8,000 to 10,000 times more powerful than previous treatments for pernicious anemia, was announced today.

Investigators reported on it in "Science" journal. They said they believe it may be the active substance—or one of the active substances—which has been sought for years to account for the fact that liver and liver-extract are effective in controlling this form of anemia.

Pernicious anemia—a blood disease—affects 50,000 Americans annually.

The new substance is tentatively called vitamin B-12, and it was isolated in crystalline form from liver.

Used so far on only three patients, it has done this:

1. It has shown indications of restoring normal blood conditions even though the quantity of material injected was 8,000 times less than the amount of an unpurified liver-extract required to produce comparable effects. The maximum observation period has been only 23 days, but during that time steady improvement was shown.

2. It has demonstrated these same effects even though the quantity employed was 10,000 times less than that required when another pernicious anemia treatment—folic acid—is employed under the same conditions.

Isolation and use of the new material, and developments leading up to it, were reported in three separate articles in the journal by:

Dr. Edward L. Rickes and a team of researchers of the Merkck and Company Laboratories, Rahway, N. J., where the substance was isolated; Dr. Mary S. Shorb, of the University of Maryland, and Dr. Randolph West, of Columbia University and Presbyterian Hospital, N. Y.

Communists Rout Fascists As Rome Clashes Continue

Turbulent Election Campaign Nears End

ROME, April 15 (AP)—Communists and Fascists battled in Tiburtino Square tonight with chunks of concrete as Italy's turbulent election campaign neared its close.

Heavy forces of riot police fought to stop the battle, when about 2,500 leftists descended with armloads of heavy missles on the dingy square where a rally of the nationalistic Italian Social Movement (MSI) was in progress.

Soon the MSI followers were put to flight, and Communists took complete possesion of the square, singing their songs, while police looked on. An airplane overhead dropped Communist leaflets.

At least six persons were injured.

It was the second such clash in as many nights involving the MSI which sings Fascist marching hymns and boasts nearly all the paraphernalia of Mussolini's legions except the black shirts.

A score were injured last night when MSI youth marched ostentatiously through Rome's ancient Jewish Ghetto. The interior ministry charged the MSI followers with starting the running fight and committing "vulgar outrages" in the quarter. The Communist press also charged "Fascist criminals" with being the aggressors. But MSI's newspaper, Social Order, blamed Communists for provoking the incident by shouting insults.

The two clashes and the scheduling of 12 more big MSI rallies throughout the city tomorrow raised a suspicion among many middle-of-the-road Italians that while they have been busy trying to kick Communism out the door Fascism has climbed back up to the window.

A mere splinter off the schism-ridden "common man movement" three months ago, MSI was mushroomed until now it claims 200,000 members and 1,300,000 followers. Some predictions say it may win 30 to 50 of the seats in the Chamber of Deputies in the elections Sunday.

Other scattered violence pinpricked Italy as the hour of the Sunday election approached. Campaigning is to end Friday midnight, giving Italians 32 hours of truce before about 29,000,000 voters pick senators and deputies for the first republican parliament.

Union Accepts Mediation Of Curb Exchange Strike

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—Members of the AFL United Financial Employes voted today to accept a mediation agreement and settle their strike against the New York Curb Exchange.

The curb board of governors will meet tomorrow to vote on the agreement.

Terms of the agreement, reached today by union and curb representatives at a federal mediation conference, were not revealed.

Segregation Upheld

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The House today voted down, 103 to 14, a proposal to prohibit racial segregation in the Air Force.

What Happened In Bogota Could Happen Here, Chief Of Intelligence Declares

Hedy Says Nose Unaltered; Sues Look Magazine

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 15 (AP)—Hedy Lamarr, of the movies, filed a $200,000 suit against Look magazine today, alleging that a Look article makes it appear she had her nose altered by plastic surgery.

Attorney Jerry Giesler filed the action, which alleges that the actress' reputation for natural beauty has been damaged, along with her standing before the film public and her three children.

The suit said a Look article in the April 13 issue, entiled "A New Face Through Plastic Surgery," used two photographs of the actress and "represents them as typical example of a 'before and after' case history."

FLYER, THREE CHINESE ACCUSED OF SMUGGLING 23 ALIENS FROM CUBA

MIAMI, Fla., April 15 (AP) — The arrest of a Miami flight instructor and three New York City Chinese charged with smuggling aliens into the United States from Cuba was announced today by the Immigration Border Patrol.

Frank Hornyak, border patrol chief in Miami, listed them as Edward W. Murphy, 34, Miami, arrested here and released under $500 bond, and Peter Chu Twai, Chin Toy, and Chin Du Foo, arrested in New York.

Hornyak said the Chinese will be brought to Miami for prosecution.

Murphy admitted that he made five flights from Cuba to Chicago, Philadelphia and New York, Hornyak said, bringing in 19 Chinese and four Europeans, for which he received from $600 to $1,500 each.

State Dept. Knew Trouble Brewing

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The revolution that spread death and destruction through Colombia's capital was pictured to congress and the American people today as a Communist-inspired horror of a kind that can heppen here.

And for the first time it was disclosed that Secretary of State Marshall and other high American officials had warning before they went to Bogota that the Communists were stirring up trouble.

Marshall, the State Department said, went ahead because he scornfully rejected any idea that "a handful of Communists" could intimidate the sovereibn American republics and prevent the Pan-American Conference.

Although the State Department received a number of advance notices of trouble, one message warning that Marshall and the others might be molested, apparently never reached the department.

Surprise To Truman

And President Truman said the revolution was a surprise to him. He said he had heard there was unrest in Colombia and that there might be trouble but had no idea anybody was going to get shot.

The picture of Communist plotting that flared into wild and deadly disorder was given by the head of the United States Central Intelligence Service, Rear Adm. R. H. Hillenkoetter, and by Rep. Donald Jackson (R-Calif.), who is here on a flying visit from the riot-wrecked capital.

The admiral said Jorge Gaitan, Liberal leader whose assassination touched off the revolt, was a figure like "Henry Wallace in our country—a man who played along with the extreme left and the Communists."

He said conditions in Colombia are "similar to those in the United States—except that they are advanced a couple of years."

Jackson went further. He said

Editors Would Step Up Word War Against Reds

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The American Society of Newspaper Editors today heard appeals for a stepped up war of words against Russia and vigilance against any "bureaucratic menace" to freedom of news at home.

A special committee, reporting to the ASNE annual convention which opened here, urged also that the Associated Press and United Press let the government's "Voice of America" broadcasts use their reports during the world crisis.

ASNE is expected to decide its stand on the latter issue Saturday. On that closing day it will vote also on at least three resolutions. The three, said Richard W. Clarke, of the New York Daily News, chairman of the resolutions committee, "deal with censorship in one form or another."

They are:

First, a condemnation of peacetime censorship except that covering scientific developments of a military nature.

Second, a request that state legislatures—aside from the 11 which already have done so—pass laws to protect reporters from naming their news sources. The recent jailing of newspapermen at Newburgh, N. Y., excited much comment among the 350 delegates.

Third, a request that the Post Office Department "clarify" its ban against news of lotteries. The resolutions committee, said Clarke, feels that the rule prevents publication of some news which should be printed.

The ASNE committee on world dissemination of news, headed by Hamilton Owens, editor-in-chief of the Baltimore Sunpapers, declared itself convinced of the "national necessity for carrying on and even intensifying" the government's overseas information effort.

"That the Russian propaganda is effective, we all have too much proof—it certainly fooled us for quite a while," it went on. "It continues to fool all too many of the people of the world."

Upper Ohio River Begins To Recede

CINCINNATI, April 15 (AP)—The Ohio River's April floodwaters began falling today in the first 5 of its 981 miles. The worst was over in that area and the threat of greater damage downstream was thereby lessened.

The river reached a crest short of 30 feet deep, not quite five feet over flood stage, early today at Pittsburgh's Golden Triangle, then started to drop slowly. The Ohio starts there, where the Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers meet.

A few hours later the rise stopped at East Liverpool, O., 42 miles downstream and across the river from the tip of the West Virginia Panhandle.

From below there to the mouth at Cairo, Ill., the Ohio was rising. But the rate of rise was slow and becoming slower. River people hoped that dry weather would continue for a few more days to let the big stream dump its load into the still bigger Mississippi.

The Ohio still was five to 10 feet out of its banks everywhere except in the Evansville, Ind., section. There it was close to bankfull. Nowhere was there serious property damage. Three deaths were indirectly blamed on the flood.

The American Red Cross said more than 3,900 families were affected by the flood. It was assigned 37 national disaster workers to key spots to assist chapters in emergency relief work.

Truman Loses To Advocates Of Big Airmada

Administration Split Thrown Into Relief

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP)—Advocates of a vast airmada scored a thumping victory over President Truman today when the House passed a $3,198,000,000 bill to start building up a 70-group Air Force. The vote was 343 to 3.

Secretary of Defense Forrestal, backed by the President, has been supporting a 55-group force, taking the position that the bigger expansion would destroy the balance of the armed services.

The action threw into sharp relief a wide open split within the administration. Secretary of Air Symington, who has been plugging for a 70-group Air Force, drew an implied rebuke today from Mr. Truman.

The President said he doesn't know why Symington is differing with the administration plan. Asked whether he will "spank" Symington, the President said he will have to answer that later.

Symington had no direct comment, but his office said he "has no plans to resign."

Bill Called Warning To Stalin

Those who advocate a big, long-range Air Force as a deterrent to Russia were in command in the House today. Rep. Case (R-SD) called the bill a warning to Stalin to "stop, look and listen."

By an unusual unanimous vote—115 to 0—the House added $822,000,000 to a $2,376,100,000 bill designed originally to finance a 55-group Air Force.

Then it passed the entire measure, and sent it to the Senate. The program would be a five-year plan. Additional bills would have to be voted later to complete it.

The $822,000,000 increase was formally proposed by Chairman Taber (R-NY), of the House Appropriations Committee. At first, $922,000,000 was proposed as an amendment but Taber said anticipated savings and other factors made the $822,000,000 figure adequate.

The $3,198,100,000 is broken down by the House to provide:

Air Forces: $608,100,000 cash and $1,687,000,000 contract authority (for which funds must be voted later).

Naval aeronautics: $315,000,000 cash and $588,000,000 contract authority.

Draft-UMT Action Delayed

Committees in both House and Senate have been studying a draft-UMT measure, but demands for a greatly expanded Air Force have delayed action.

Symington told the House Armed Services Committee Tuesday that an Air Force of 70 groups is more important to American security than UMT.

Yesterday Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Army Chief of Staff, disagreed.

Today Mr. Truman came out flatly for the original program. He said the expanded but balanced defense program outlined by Forrestal had been agreed to by all of the services.

Congressional approval of a 70-group Air Force has been general, and recent warnings of Russian strength have pushed the program ahead.

Truman Doesn't Expect To Move

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—President Truman said jauntily today that he doesn't scare easily and that he'll be in the White House four more years.

Thus he smiled off political troubles besetting him in the South, New York and elsewhere.

He took a graver view on an intra-administration dispute over defense needs. He also expressed regret and surprise at the bloody revolt in the Inter-American Conference city of Bogota, Columbia.

Mr. Truman completed three years as President this week. The question whether he shall be renominated is one of bitter controversy within the Democratic Party.

One spot where some Democrats are bucking his nomination is New York City. A Henry A. Wallace man has won in a normally strong Democratic district there. Too, there has been sharp opposition from some New York Jewish groups to the administration's Palestine policy.

But Mr. Truman related that he'd had a secret meeting this week with Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national committeeman from New York, and Paul Fitzpatrick, the party's state chairman.

He talked politics with them, he said, and they went away happy. The picture was all right, he replied, when asked whether it was rosy or gray.

The question of southern objections to his civil rights program came up. A girl reporter asked whether he has seen any evidence that some southern states are coming back to Truman.

He was asked whether he regarded the Bogota events as a warning of the Communist danger in this hemisphere. Mr. Truman replied that Secretary of State Marshall commented on that very well.

(Marshall blamed international Communism for the bloodshed.)

Magidoff Not Spy, Ambassador Says

MOSCOW, April 15 (AP)—The American news correspondent, Robert Magidoff, said today he had been informed by the Soviet Press Department that his further work here was impossible. He said he was leaving the Soviet Union in two or three days.

His statement followed publication of a long letter in the government newspaper Izvestia—which Izvestia said was from Magidoff's American-born secretary—accusing him of spying for the United States.

Magidoff said the press department had told him in view of this letter his further residence in the USSR was undesirable.

Izvestia quoted the secretary, Cecilia Nelsoh, a former employe of the United States Embassy, as saying that Magidoff had dispatched reports in United States diplomatic pouches, not subject to censorship.

Smith Denies Allegation

(In Washington, the State Department said United States Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith had cabled from Moscow a flat denial that Magidoff served as a spy for the embassy. Smith said also that Magidoff had told him Miss Nelson's allegations were false.)

Magidoff has served the National Broadcasting Company, the Exchange Telegraph (British) and the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company, of New York. He once was on the Associated Press staff here.

(William F. Brooks, NBC vice president in charge of news, said in New York the network had full confidence in Magidoff's integrity. Russell F. Anderson, editor of McGraw-Hill World News, said the charges were without foundation and were developed on a routine news assignment sent to Magidoff in June, 1947. Anderson said Magidoff has been unable to carry out the assignment because of Soviet censorship regulations.)

"Incriminating" Letter Found

Izvestia quoted Miss Nelson as saying she had come upon documents which revealed that Magidoff was "using his residence in the USSR in the role of correspondent for purposes of espionage and he was conducting intelligence activities against the Soviet Union."

The letter gave this as her reason for referring the matter to Russian authorities:

"In particular it became clear to me why during a recent period

SENATE APPROVES BILL RAISING LIMIT ON VETS' ON-JOB TRAINING WAGES

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The Senate today passed a bill to raise the limit on earnings of veterans taking on-the-job training courses.

The measure now goes to the House, where approval is assured, and then to the White House.

It would increase to $210 the amount a single veteran may receive while taking on-the-job training. He now receives a top of $175. A veteran with one dependent could receive up to $270, and one with two or more dependents up to $290. The present ceiling for a veteran with dependents is $200.

New Pernicious Anemia Treatment Is Discovered

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—Discovery of a new substance in liver which has proved in initial tests to be 8,000 to 10,000 times more powerful than previous treatments for pernicious anemia, was announced today.

Investigators reported on it in "Science" journal. They said they believe it may be the active substance—or one of the active substances—which has been sought for years to account for the fact that liver and liver-extract are effective in controlling this form of anemia.

Pernicious anemia—a blood disease—affects 50,000 Americans annually.

The new substance is tentatively called vitamin B-12, and it was isolated in crystalline form from liver.

Used so far on only three patients, it has done this:

1. It has shown indications of restoring normal blood conditions even though the quantity of material injected was 8,000 times less than the amount of an unpurified liver-extract required to produce comparable effects. The maximum observation period has been only 23 days, but during that time steady improvement was shown.

2. It has demonstrated these same effects even though the quantity employed was 10,000 times less than that required when another pernicious anemia treatment—folic acid—is employed under the same conditions.

Isolation and use of the new material, and developments leading up to it, were reported in three separate articles in the journal by:

Dr. Edward L. Rickes and a team of researchers of the Merkck and Company Laboratories, Rahway, N. J., where the substance was isolated; Dr. Mary S. Shorb, of the University of Maryland, and Dr. Randolph West, of Columbia University and Presbyterian Hospital, N. Y.

Security Council Unable To Agree

LAKE SUCCESS, April 15 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council failed tonight to agree on a truce to stop fighting and bloodshed in Palestine.

The Jewish Agency for Palestine rejected the truce proposal that was warmly backed by the United States, Colombia, and Canada.

The Arab Higher Committee for Palestine did not commit itself but the ranking Arab spokesman on the council said he would accept the truce plan with some iron-clad conditions.

The council finally gave up at 6:10 p. m. (EST) after Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, declared he had not received his instructions on how to vote on the proposal.

Gromyko and the Soviet Ukraine delegate, Vassily A. Tarasenko, declared the Jewish Agency objections must be thoroughly considered.

The council will meet again tomorrow at 9 p. m. (EST) after the first day's session of the second United Nations Assembly on Palestine.

The agency demanded, in effect, a truce on its own terms.

It said the truce proposal before the United Nations Security Council "appeared to load the dice very heavily against the Jews."

Faris El Khoury, of Syria, Arab country spokesman in the council, then said he would accept the American-supported proposal with the understanding there would be no political changes in Palestine and that Jewish immigration would be halted.

While delegates talked on here violence continued on an increasing scale in the Holy Land. Jews in Jerusalem claimed a "decisive victory" over an Arab army in Northern Palestine.

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate who had a big hand in drawing up the truce proposal, reminded the delegates the council must stop the fighting and prevent massacres.

Since the United Nations Assembly approved the Palestine partition plan last November 29, the daily average of people killed in the Holy Land has been about 20. The total has reached nearly 3,000 dead in just less than 20 weeks.

August 1 British Deadline

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Arthur Creech-Jones, British Secretary of State for Colonies, said today there was no possibility that British troops might remain in Palestine after August 1.

"I hope they will be out before the first," he told newsmen on his arrival by plane from London to attend the United Nations General Assembly meetings on Palestine. "Make it quite clear—we are not staying on. We have had enough."

The British mandate over the Holy Land is scheduled to end on May 15.

Decisive Victory Claimed By Jews

JERUSALEM, April 15 (AP)—Jewish sources declared today they had won a "decisive victory" over the Arab Yarmuk army of Northern Palestine and administered a personal defeat to its leader, Fawzi Bey Al Kaukji.

The Jews said 2,000 Jewish fighters had inflicted 200 Arab casualties, captured seven of Fawzi Bey's field guns and were circling over the hills lining the famous Plain of Armageddon in an effort to encircle the retreating Arabs.

In a communique, Haganah, the Jewish militia, claimed a second victory, saying it had driven the Arabs out of Camp Tel Letvinsky, former American military rest camp near Tel Aviv.

(In Cairo, grave concern was expressed at Arab League headquarters where Trans-Jordan's foreign minister, Fawzi Mulki Pasha, said he had received an urgent appeal for help from Fawzi Bey who reported he was encircled by 12,000 Jewish fighters.

(The Trans-Jordan official relayed the appeal to King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan and predicted the British-trained Trans-Jordan Arab Legion, rated the most efficient Arab military force, would intervene on a large scale if Fawzi Bey were unable to extricate himself soon.

(Gen. Ismail Sawfat Pasha, Iraqi commander-in-chief of the Arab armies of liberation in Palestine, met in a hurried conference with the secretary general of the Arab League, and then left for Amman, capital of Trans-Jordan, where he was reported to have arrived late in the afternoon.

(Cairo dispatches said Arab circles appeared shocked, and that an air of crisis prevailed at Arab League headquarters. Mulki described the northern fighting as "a major battle which if won by the Arabs will be a fatal blow to Jewish ambitions.")

Communists Rout Fascists As Rome Clashes Continue

Turbulent Election Campaign Nears End

ROME, April 15 (AP)—Communists and Fascists battled in Tiburtino Square tonight with chunks of concrete as Italy's turbulent election campaign neared its close.

Heavy forces of riot police fought to stop the battle, when about 2,500 leftists descended with armloads of heavy missles on the dingy square where a rally of the nationalistic Italian Social Movement (MSI) was in progress.

Soon the MSI followers were put to flight, and Communists took complete possesion of the square, singing their songs, while police looked on. An airplane overhead dropped Communist leaflets.

At least six persons were injured.

It was the second such clash in as many nights involving the MSI which sings Fascist marching hymns and boasts nearly all the paraphernalia of Mussolini's legions except the black shirts.

A score were injured last night when MSI youth marched ostentatiously through Rome's ancient Jewish Ghetto. The interior ministry charged the MSI followers with starting the running fight and committing "vulgar outrages" in the quarter. The Communist press also charged "Fascist criminals" with being the aggressors. But MSI's newspaper, Social Order, blamed Communists for provoking the incident by shouting insults.

The two clashes and the scheduling of 12 more big MSI rallies throughout the city tomorrow raised a suspicion among many middle-of-the-road Italians that while they have been busy trying to kick Communism out the door Fascism has climbed back up to the window.

A mere splinter off the schism-ridden "common man movement" three months ago, MSI was mushroomed until now it claims 200,000 members and 1,300,000 followers. Some predictions say it may win 30 to 50 of the seats in the Chamber of Deputies in the elections Sunday.

Other scattered violence pinpricked Italy as the hour of the Sunday election approached. Campaigning is to end Friday midnight, giving Italians 32 hours of truce before about 29,000,000 voters pick senators and deputies for the first republican parliament.

Union Accepts Mediation Of Curb Exchange Strike

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—Members of the AFL United Financial Employes voted today to accept a mediation agreement and settle their strike against the New York Curb Exchange.

The curb board of governors will meet tomorrow to vote on the agreement.

Terms of the agreement, reached today by union and curb representatives at a federal mediation conference, were not revealed.

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The House today voted down, 103 to 14, a proposal to prohibit racial segregation in the Air Force.

State Dept. Knew Trouble Brewing

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The revolution that spread death and destruction through Colombia's capital was pictured to congress and the American people today as a Communist-inspired horror of a kind that can heppen here.

And for the first time it was disclosed that Secretary of State Marshall and other high American officials had warning before they went to Bogota that the Communists were stirring up trouble.

Marshall, the State Department said, went ahead because he scornfully rejected any idea that "a handful of Communists" could intimidate the sovereibn American republics and prevent the Pan-American Conference.

Although the State Department received a number of advance notices of trouble, one message warning that Marshall and the others might be molested, apparently never reached the department.

Surprise To Truman

And President Truman said the revolution was a surprise to him. He said he had heard there was unrest in Colombia and that there might be trouble but had no idea anybody was going to get shot.

The picture of Communist plotting that flared into wild and deadly disorder was given by the head of the United States Central Intelligence Service, Rear Adm. R. H. Hillenkoetter, and by Rep. Donald Jackson (R-Calif.), who is here on a flying visit from the riot-wrecked capital.

The admiral said Jorge Gaitan, Liberal leader whose assassination touched off the revolt, was a figure like "Henry Wallace in our country—a man who played along with the extreme left and the Communists."

He said conditions in Colombia are "similar to those in the United States—except that they are advanced a couple of years."

Jackson went further. He said

Hedy Says Nose Unaltered; Sues Look Magazine

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 15 (AP)—Hedy Lamarr, of the movies, filed a $200,000 suit against Look magazine today, alleging that a Look article makes it appear she had her nose altered by plastic surgery.

Attorney Jerry Giesler filed the action, which alleges that the actress' reputation for natural beauty has been damaged, along with her standing before the film public and her three children.

The suit said a Look article in the April 13 issue, entiled "A New Face Through Plastic Surgery," used two photographs of the actress and "represents them as typical example of a 'before and after' case history."

FLYER, THREE CHINESE ACCUSED OF SMUGGLING 23 ALIENS FROM CUBA

MIAMI, Fla., April 15 (AP) — The arrest of a Miami flight instructor and three New York City Chinese charged with smuggling aliens into the United States from Cuba was announced today by the Immigration Border Patrol.

Frank Hornyak, border patrol chief in Miami, listed them as Edward W. Murphy, 34, Miami, arrested here and released under $500 bond, and Peter Chu Twai, Chin Toy, and Chin Du Foo, arrested in New York.

Hornyak said the Chinese will be brought to Miami for prosecution.

Murphy admitted that he made five flights from Cuba to Chicago, Philadelphia and New York, Hornyak said, bringing in 19 Chinese and four Europeans, for which he received from $600 to $1,500 each.

Editors Would Step Up Word War Against Reds

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The American Society of Newspaper Editors today heard appeals for a stepped up war of words against Russia and vigilance against any "bureaucratic menace" to freedom of news at home.

A special committee, reporting to the ASNE annual convention which opened here, urged also that the Associated Press and United Press let the government's "Voice of America" broadcasts use their reports during the world crisis.

ASNE is expected to decide its stand on the latter issue Saturday. On that closing day it will vote also on at least three resolutions. The three, said Richard W. Clarke, of the New York Daily News, chairman of the resolutions committee, "deal with censorship in one form or another."

They are:

First, a condemnation of peacetime censorship except that covering scientific developments of a military nature.

Second, a request that state legislatures—aside from the 11 which already have done so—pass laws to protect reporters from naming their news sources. The recent jailing of newspapermen at Newburgh, N. Y., excited much comment among the 350 delegates.

Third, a request that the Post Office Department "clarify" its ban against news of lotteries. The resolutions committee, said Clarke, feels that the rule prevents publication of some news which should be printed.

The ASNE committee on world dissemination of news, headed by Hamilton Owens, editor-in-chief of the Baltimore Sunpapers, declared itself convinced of the "national necessity for carrying on and even intensifying" the government's overseas information effort.

"That the Russian propaganda is effective, we all have too much proof—it certainly fooled us for quite a while," it went on. "It continues to fool all too many of the people of the world."

Truman Loses To Advocates Of Big Airmada

Administration Split Thrown Into Relief

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP)—Advocates of a vast airmada scored a thumping victory over President Truman today when the House passed a $3,198,000,000 bill to start building up a 70-group Air Force. The vote was 343 to 3.

Secretary of Defense Forrestal, backed by the President, has been supporting a 55-group force, taking the position that the bigger expansion would destroy the balance of the armed services.

The action threw into sharp relief a wide open split within the administration. Secretary of Air Symington, who has been plugging for a 70-group Air Force, drew an implied rebuke today from Mr. Truman.

The President said he doesn't know why Symington is differing with the administration plan. Asked whether he will "spank" Symington, the President said he will have to answer that later.

Symington had no direct comment, but his office said he "has no plans to resign."

Bill Called Warning To Stalin

Those who advocate a big, long-range Air Force as a deterrent to Russia were in command in the House today. Rep. Case (R-SD) called the bill a warning to Stalin to "stop, look and listen."

By an unusual unanimous vote—115 to 0—the House added $822,000,000 to a $2,376,100,000 bill designed originally to finance a 55-group Air Force.

Then it passed the entire measure, and sent it to the Senate. The program would be a five-year plan. Additional bills would have to be voted later to complete it.

The $822,000,000 increase was formally proposed by Chairman Taber (R-NY), of the House Appropriations Committee. At first, $922,000,000 was proposed as an amendment but Taber said anticipated savings and other factors made the $822,000,000 figure adequate.

The $3,198,100,000 is broken down by the House to provide:

Air Forces: $608,100,000 cash and $1,687,000,000 contract authority (for which funds must be voted later).

Naval aeronautics: $315,000,000 cash and $588,000,000 contract authority.

Draft-UMT Action Delayed

Committees in both House and Senate have been studying a draft-UMT measure, but demands for a greatly expanded Air Force have delayed action.

Symington told the House Armed Services Committee Tuesday that an Air Force of 70 groups is more important to American security than UMT.

Yesterday Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Army Chief of Staff, disagreed.

Today Mr. Truman came out flatly for the original program. He said the expanded but balanced defense program outlined by Forrestal had been agreed to by all of the services.

Congressional approval of a 70-group Air Force has been general, and recent warnings of Russian strength have pushed the program ahead.

Truman Doesn't Expect To Move

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—President Truman said jauntily today that he doesn't scare easily and that he'll be in the White House four more years.

Thus he smiled off political troubles besetting him in the South, New York and elsewhere.

He took a graver view on an intra-administration dispute over defense needs. He also expressed regret and surprise at the bloody revolt in the Inter-American Conference city of Bogota, Columbia.

Mr. Truman completed three years as President this week. The question whether he shall be renominated is one of bitter controversy within the Democratic Party.

One spot where some Democrats are bucking his nomination is New York City. A Henry A. Wallace man has won in a normally strong Democratic district there. Too, there has been sharp opposition from some New York Jewish groups to the administration's Palestine policy.

But Mr. Truman related that he'd had a secret meeting this week with Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national committeeman from New York, and Paul Fitzpatrick, the party's state chairman.

He talked politics with them, he said, and they went away happy. The picture was all right, he replied, when asked whether it was rosy or gray.

The question of southern objections to his civil rights program came up. A girl reporter asked whether he has seen any evidence that some southern states are coming back to Truman.

He was asked whether he regarded the Bogota events as a warning of the Communist danger in this hemisphere. Mr. Truman replied that Secretary of State Marshall commented on that very well.

(Marshall blamed international Communism for the bloodshed.)

New Silhouette Is Modified Since Launched Year Ago

Parisian 1948 collections show that there is really no new silhouette but rather an interpretation of the silhouette launched a year ago, according to cabled advices from Paris from Mrs. Carmel Snow, editor of Harper's Bazarr.

"This now has been firmly established," she cabled. "The clothes are infinitely more wearable and distinguished. They have lost the cocoette look they had because of their exaggeration. This exaggeration was naturally necessary to launch a new silhouette.

"Although the new silhouette remains, in general, the same, there are definite changes. There are no more false hips through padding, although roundness of line continues. But (most important) hip fulness is placed lower, often starting from the hipbone, rather than from the waist. There is no emphasis on the stomach. The fulness on the stomach as done last season looks passe. Emphasis everywhere, at all times of the day, is placed at the back."

Other fashion trends from Paris include waitlines which will be more natural; coats are belted or unbelted but most of them will be belted; the three-quarter length coat looks new and is definitely here; skirt lengths have not changed; Dior has lightened them and made them more wearable; hips are to be more natural—having only the material of the dress covering them.

"As for suits, this is the time for a woman to choose any length of jacket that is becoming to her, although the tendency is very strongly and surely towards shorter jackets.

"The collections are noteworthy because of the absence of color. When you remark color, it is the exception—very dark blue, so dark you might think it is black. Much cafe-au-lait. Gray is a favorite .For the evening smoke gray chiffon."

Shoes with large square buckles such as were worn years ago are popular and hats are small—either off the face as we have been wearing them or with a forward movement.

The first public road in the state of Idaho was Main street, in Florence, now a ghost town.

Advice To The Lovelorn

This Husband May Find Many Obstacles In The Way Of Divorcing His Wife

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Sometimes it is easier to live with a husband or wife who has a serious fault, or commits a big wrong, than one who merely makes life miserable for the other in small ways.

Four years of a wife who nags and goes into tantrums has driven to distraction a young husband who writes me as follows:

"I am 32 years old and have been married for eight years. Four of these years were spent overseas, which should have helped some, but I guess only made it worse, if possible.

"I have left home four times, and each time my wife has begged me to come back, promising to do better. But it's always the same thing all over again. She nags and goes into a tantrum in which I have to dodge anything from a knife to cups. Who wants to fight all the time? I don't, that's sure.

"I have a good job; she gets the check and I have a hard time getting a few cigarets. I have asked her to divorce me or let me divorce her but she won't, because of our faith. I feel that we are committing more of a sin living as we do than to be separated, as we have no children.

"I know I'm not perfect, but I know she doesn't love me. I've lost all love for her and I'd go to the far end of the earth to get away from what I've been going home to all my married life. Is there any state I can get a divorce in, as I feel it is the only way out?"

Distressing as this man's situation is, I am afraid he is going to find a good many obstacles in the way of divorcing his wife.

In the first place, the fact that they have been brought up in a religious faith which does not countenance divorce is not to be brushed off lightly. And in the second place, the laws of few states permit one person to divorce another merely because of a bad temper, so that unless he is sufficiently well off to finance a trip to some state where bad temper can come under the legal head of incompatibility or "cruel and inhuman treatment," he is likely to find his hands tied.

This does not mean, however, that one should go on living indefinitely with a partner so violently ill-tempered as his wife appears to be. If divorce is not feasible, a legal separation may be, and this might solve the immediate problem.

Before making any definite decision, however, I think this husband might well talk with a qualified marriage counselor who will thoroughly understand his problem and be able to give him sound advice. He can find the name of such a counselor in his vicinity by writing to Mr. Lester W. Dearborn, The American Association of Marriage Counselors, 316 Huntington Avenue, Boston, Mass.

Draft Vs Universal Military Training

The Gallup poll finds that voter sentiment throughout the country agrees with President Truman that both the draft and Universal Military Training are needed to strengthen the nation's armed forces. An apparent majority in Congress, however, thinks the two proposals should be kept separate and that only selective service should be voted now.

The evidence from Capitol Hill indicates that selective service has a better-than-even chance of adoption before this month is out, but the chance for UMT at any time this session is less than fifty-fifty. In fact, the UMT proposal is actually hurting the prospects for a draft. This is true because it is recognized that UMT in practice would militate against selective service.

The purpose of the draft is to build up our Army as rapidly as possible. UMT is a long-range scheme which would, at best, create over the years a reservoir of partly-trained young men to swell the manpower force available for training in the event of mobilization. Even if one accepts the glowing descriptions of UMT sponsors, the difference between the two is like the difference between consulting a physician when ill and taking out a life insurance policy on one's wedding day.

The cost of UMT would delay appropriations for urgent military needs. More important, it would rob the Army of 180,000 officers and men, needed to train the high school boys, at a time when every effort should be made to maintain and build up the Army. This simply does not make sense.

No doubt President Truman thought he could put over UMT by tying it up with the draft. Congress should keep the two separate and should concentrate on the one that is needed in the present world crisis, not in the remote future.

The Officer And The Soldier In Review

General MacArthur's failure to capture the Wisconsin Republican primary, it seems to us, reflects his long absence from the American scene, and nothing more. The suspiciously sudden emergence of "Veterans Against MacArthur" clubs, when he announced his willingness to be a presidential candidate, presaged nothing, we think, as to his drawing power in a political campaign. It did, however, shed some light on a military phenomenon of long standing—how the basic conflict between Liberty and Authority works out in the army.

The three greatest commanders, Alexander, Caesar and Napoleon, were all popular with their men. Yet the time came when Alexander's followers said to him, "No farther! Let's go back!" Caesar's legions said the same thing to him, but he quelled their mutiny by the way that he began his farewell speech. When he took them at their word and addressed them as "Fellow-Citizens," instead of "Comrades-in-Arms," they wept and said: "No! Let's go on!" Napoleon's hold on his men is embalmed for the ages in a song, "The Two Grenadiers."

Turning elsewhere, we find another story. In the Mexican War, Zachary Taylor was just a lucky officer who didn't know too much, while Winfield Scott was a really great commander. Yet the one was lauded as "Old Rough and Ready," the other derided as "Old Fuss and Feathers." In the Civil War, the usually unsuccessful McClellan was idolized by his men and in the presidential campaign of 1864 got nearly as many popular votes as Lincoln. For a time, Ben Butler—"political-brigadier" par excellence—seemed to have been more popular than Grant, McClernand, another of that ilk, was fired at Vicksburg after he issued an order praising his own troops at the expense of his associates and even of the commander-in-chief.

In the South African War, Buller, "good old Buller," as the British called him, though uniformly outwitted by the Boers, enjoyed a frantic popularity. Kitchner, who had to clean up the mess he made, and did so in short order, was cooly regarded. The classic instance in the age-long controversy between Liberty and Authority was furnished in Russia toward the end of the first World War when Bolshevist soldier-committees superseded effective officer command, and every time a committee-controlled army took the field, it took the count.

There is some doubt about the peach crop, and the outcome of the political plum crop is positively up in the air.

Bald But Unbowed

Bald men come up smiling in the latest round of the argument whether baldness is a sign of virtue and, or, virility. There is no conclusive evidence as to when the argument started. Darwin, to be sure, had a theory which assumed that female ape-men preferred to mate with relatively hairless male apemen. "And so," in the words of Fundamentalist William Jennings Bryan, "they just bred the hair off!"

But it was generally assumed that Darwin was talking about body hair in general, not about man's crowning glory. Or maybe he was. Come to think of it, there are few bald-headed bachelors.

Anyway, the theory sprang up somewhere that baldness was a sign of male virility. If not, why were there so few bald women? The superman of the futrue was always described as bald-headed. Bald-headed men have been suspected of spreading this story. Besides, if baldness is an accolade, why do some men wear toupees?

Then the pendulum swung back. Some scientist reported that bald-headedness was associated with cranial calcification which increased the bony structure of the skull. Baldies were boneheads.

But now comes Dr. R. E. G. Armattoe, a scientist from North Ireland, who has just completed a study which proves, he says, that educated men get bald sooner than uneducated ones. The story leaves out the most important fact, though: Does or does not Dr. Armattoe proudly bear a billiard-ball dome?

That ought to be a death blow to the toupee business. It may even send men shamefully hirsute rushing to the barber for a cranial shave.

Americans are urged to watch their weight. Russians to quit throwing theirs around.

Dog Bites and Rabies

We no longer associate rabies with hot weather because the malady can occur at any time of the year; consequently the term "dog days" is passe. Hydrophobia is a disease of man and dumb creatures; it is contracted by humans through the bite of a dog. The canine usually becomes infected from the bite of another dog, a fox, wolf, cat, or other afflicted animal.

Public health officials have been concerned of late because the disorder is becoming more prevalent in wild and domestic animals. In New York state an increase is reported among foxes and cattle. To counteract the threat, the authorities are recommending vaccination for dogs not only to protect the pets but to prevent the disease from reaching us.

The vaccine is not a cure-all but helps tremendously and, in areas where it is not used, rabies in animals is fifteen times more widespread. All this tends to demonstrate that the fight against hydrophobia is turning toward its source. The earlier the condition can be recognized the better because an infected pooch can scatter the virus far and wide.

In one type of rabies (furious), the gentle dog becomes morose, does not bark, refuses food, and seeks seclusion—hiding beneath the bed. Now and then he is more friendly than ever. Twelve to 48 hours later he becomes restless and obviously agitated. He lies down, jumps up, is annoyed by restraint, and may snap at a stranger without warning. He snarls, barks, and —if allowed to roam—will go out of his way to seek a quarrel in order to attack other animals. If housed, he scratches, tears, and chews the carpets, bedding, and furniture. In the paralytic form, the stage of excitement and irritability is absent or goes unnoticed. The lower jaws become paralyzed and saliva drools constantly. The canine acts as if a bone were stuck in his throat; should a sympathetic owner reach into his mouth to extract it, his hands become covered with infected saliva.

The ailment is somewhat similar in man. An average of 50 to 60 days elapses between the bite and the appearance of symptoms. The individual is at first oppressed, then seized with uncontrollable restlessness, almost to the point of becoming maniacal. Excess saliva appears and convulsions may occur on the slightest irritation such as a gust of wind blowing on the neck. After two or three days, painful spasms follow any attempt to drink water. This horrible feature explains why the malady is called "hydrophobia" because after one experience the victim develops an abnormal dread of water. Later, paralysis ensues and in the majority, the outcome is fatal.

Any one who is nipped by a dog should have the wound cauterized. Whether the Pasteur treatment should be employed depends upon the animal but it is always a good rule to suspect the worst unless proved otherwise. If the hound was a stray, and cannot be found, it should be considered rabid and the injections started immediately. Otherwise it should be kept under quarantine according to the local laws. Should the dog become ill within a few days, the answer is provided. On the other hand, if it remains well, the chances are slim that rabies is present.

Painful Hip

A.P. writes: I have had aching in my right hip for five months. Examination disclosed nothing. Could this be cancer?

REPLY

If the X-rays were taken by a reliable roentgenologist, the chances of cancer in this area are nil.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Traffic cops in Australia are developing something new . . . photographs.

Yessir, they're now photographing motorists in the act of violating traffic laws. When it comes to an argument in court, you can take the affirmative and he shows you the negative.

The police used to yell "pull over to the curb." Now they just smile sweetly and whisper, "watch the birdie."

It must be quite a sight to see those officers march out to the target range, break ranks, fall to the ground, then pull their brownies into the firing position.

Of course, the policeman with the best record doesn't go unrewarded. At the end of the month they give him a one man exhibit.

One cop wanted his picture to be dramatic. He let the cars crash and caught the driver in midair.

And one flashbulb flatfoot really takes his job seriously. He bought a movie camera and every week he comes in with a documentary short.

One driver became very cautious when he heard about the camera conscious cop. He wasn't worried about a ticket. He just isn't photogenic.

And I heard about a very efficient officer who asked the motorist to back up and crash into the telephone pole again. He didn't have any film in the camera the first time.

Of course, they've run into a little technical trouble with some of the drivers. They haven't discovered a camera fast enough to follow a woman driver's arm when she signals for a turn.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Blue-Chip Businessmen Back Stassen; A Legitimate Underground Organization Exists; Small Nations Resent Pressuring Palestine Unpartitionment

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, April 15—A lot of people have wondered where Harold Stassen's campaign expenses were coming from.

The ex-Minnesota Governor, not a wealthy man, has spent the last two years touring the length and breadth of the USA, with campaign headquarters set up in several states. Naturally, this takes money. The matter of who is putting up the money is important to the voting public.

Most of Stassen's backers, it can be revealed, are blue-chip businessmen, including some of his old Minnesota neighbors. Several of the group, it should be noted, have progressive ideas and enjoy excellent relations with labor. Here are the chief Minnesota men behind Stassen:

Harry E. Atwood, President, First National Bank, Minneapolis. Julian B. Baird, President First National Bank, St. Paul. Harry A. Bullis, Chairman of the Board, General Mills, Inc. Edward B. Cosgrove, President, Minnesota Valley Canning Co. Donald D. Davis, President, Minnesota and Ontario Paper Co. Daniel C. Gainey, President, Josten Manufacturing Co. Jay C. Hormel, Chairman of the Board, George A. Hormel & Co. W. L. McKnight, President, Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co. John S. Pillsbury, Chairman of the Board, Pillsbury Mills, Inc.

Underground Activities

A Commerce Department employe was being quizzed by a loyalty investigator about a young lawyer in the same department.

"Does he belong to any underground organizations?" asked the investigator.

"Yes."

"Which one?" The investigator leaned forward eagerly.

"The National Speleogical Society."

"What do its members believe in?" asked the puzzled prober.

"They specialize in the study of caves and underground caverns."

Note—During the war, the lawyer being invesigated had made a study of U. S. caves for the War Department with a view to using them for storage in case of enemy bombardment.

Unpartitioning Palestine

As delegates to the United Nations assemble in New York to consider unpartitioning Palestine, most of them will have in the back of their minds certain backstage things which happened when they first voted for partition.

For instance, the Liberian Government, largely dependent on the United States and the Firestone Rubber Company, last winter got a phone call from Harvey Firestone asking that Liberia vote for partition. Haiti, also economically dependent on the USA, got a call from Adolph Berle, former Assistant Secretary of State, now adviser to the President of Haiti.

The French Ambassador, following hints from State Department friends, urged his government to vote for partition. The Chinese Ambassador did likewise. Mexico, New Zealand, Columbia—all were discreetly pressured from Washington during the U.N. debate in November.

And having been told how to vote on Palestine last year, these nations now don't like to be told to vote the other way. They consider themselves sovereign states, not puppets voting as Uncle Sam cracks the whip and calls the roll.

American Handsprings

In diplomatic circles, it's discreetly stated that nothing has hurt American prestige more than our sudden somersault on Palestine. Comparing US foreign policy with British policy, diplomats point out that the British at least are consistent. Even though you disagree with them, you always know where the British stand.

But American policy is unpredictable. It is one thing one day and another thing the next.

For many years western European nations were in the habit of following Britain's lead. She was the strongest nation in the western world. But now, with the United States the most powerful, they prefer to follow us—provided they know where we are. However, it hurts any nation's prestige to have to explain that its vote was reversed because the United States turned a handspring

Note — Remarked one diplomat: "The United States is like the banker in a small town. You have many mortgages on other people's houses. So we always tip our hats to you, and usually vote with you. But the small-town banker isn't loved by the people who come to him for money, and that's why we don't always love you."

Contempt Of Congress

The first of the ten Hollywood screen writers, charged by the Thomas committee with being Communists, is now on trial. Of the ten, inside word is that six are Communists and four are not. The latter refused to answer questions because of honest conviction that Congress had no right to ask a man what party he belongs to.

Two years ago, a D. C. jury refused to convict Dr. Edward Rumely for contempt of Congress when he refused to answer questions about who contributed money to his Committee for Constitutional Government.

Rumely was backed by some of the big oilmen, by some of the Anderson-Clayton cotton executives and by Frank Gannett, New York's powerful chain newspaper publisher. Rumely himself had served time after being convicted for trading with Germany during World War I.

However, the jury let him off when he refused to tell Congress who his financial supporters were.

What influenced the jury was a charge by Judge James Proctor that the jury must be convinced Rumely "did not willfully default in failing to produce the required records" and that "the word willfully must be interpreted as having been done knowingly and with evil intent."

Judge Proctor has now been promoted to the Court of Appeals. Dr. Rumely still has failed to inform Congress—as now required by the Lobbying Act—who his financial contributors are, and a new contempt-of-Congress case is now before the D. C. court. It will be interesting to see whether Judge Edward Curran makes the same "evil intent" charge to the jury as Judge Proctor.

Nebraska Primary Indicates Far More Than Stassen Victory

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Nebraska's primary indicates far more than the mere fact that former Governor Stassen of Minnesota, who won the same primary race four years ago, is a plurality winner this year.

The most significant fact is that the Stassen vote plus the Vandenberg vote is close to a majority of the total vote polled. Inasmuch as Merrs. Stassen and Vandenberg are outspokenly international in their viewpoint, it means that, in a state occasionally referred to as "isolationist," there is a sizable bloc of Republican votes ready to accept the views of the two staunchest exponents of a policy in internationalism.

With only 103 precincts out of 2,024 unreported, the Vandenberg vote of 8,861 and the Stassen vote of 75,997 makes a total of 84,858, which is only a few thousand short of an actual majority as against all the other votes polled.

But it cannot be said that all the votes cast for Dewey—a total of 62,289 from the same precincts—are by any means "isolationist." A goodly proportion would go to either Vandenberg or Stassen if the choice were limited to those two persons as against any "isolationist" candidate.

It may be concluded, therefore, that the so-called "isolationist" vote in Nebraska is a small fraction of the total Republican vote in that state.

A combination of votes looked at from the domestic point of view, and from what might be termed a "left wing" or "right wing" concept on economic questions, would put Stassen with 75,997 over toward the "left" while Taft, MacArthur and Martin might be considered over toward the "right" with a total of 27,973.

The question then would be how to classify the 72,829 votes cast for Dewey, Vandenberg and Warren, who cannot be placed anywhere else except in the "center" in relation to Stassen, on the one hand, and the Taft-MacArthur-Martin bloc on the other.

The Dewey - Vandenberg - Warren bloc, being of the "center" type, might attract more adherents from the 27,973 votes cast for Taft, Martin and MacArthur than it could obtain from the Stassen group. It might be inferred that in a race between Stassen and any conservative, the latter would have won the Nebraska primary.

The indications, therefore, are that the dominant group in the Republican Party is either "center" or toward the "right," rather than to the "left." Thus, the total in Nebraska of all the Dewey, Vandenberg, Taft, MacArthur, Warren and Martin votes amounts to 100,802 as against Stassen's 75,997.

So far as headlines are concerned, where a plurality victory out of a field of seven names voted on means almost as much as if it were a clear majority, the Stassen stock will rise. His supporters in other states will be encouraged. In fact, it might be said that if the convention were held tomorrow Stassen would come near to getting the vice-presidential nomination. The conservative nature of the Republican delegates argues against the probability that he would be acceptable for the top of the ticket on domestic issues. Governor Dewey found a good deal of opposition from conservatives inside the Republican Party in 1944. He was accused of espousing "New Deal" ideas. He has managed to live down much of that reputation, but it is evident that among the conservatives there is a greater friendliness to Vandenberg, a known "progressive," than to the other two "progressives"—Dewey and Stassen.

In Favor of Vandenberg

In many of the state delegations which will appear at the Republican National Convention are members of the Senate and the House. There is among these a predisposition in favor of Senator Vandenberg. If Senator Taft and Governor Dewey appear to be out of the race, the chances are that these congressional members, who are influential in the party, would swing behind the Michigan senator rather than behind Stassen. It is conceivable, too, that the Stassen strength might be enlisted behind Senator Vandenberg if the Minnesota candidate is unable to get the nomination and it appears that the convention is swinging toward a conservative chosen from the Taft, MacArthur or Martin group of delegates. In fact, many of the Dewey delegates would get behind Senator Vandenberg rather than permit an ultra-conservative or isolationist type of candidate to be named.

Citizens Gain If They Back Strong Men In The Congress

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

You have just had a wage or salary increase. Congress gave it to you. If you are a farmer, Congress says you can keep more of what you produce.

You ought to write a letter of appreciation to your Congressman if he voted for the tax-cut—and few did not. Congress gets a lot of kicks, few thanks. When it does a good job, say so, and you'll have a better Congress.

This is the most constructive job this new Congress has done. It tried hard a year ago, but President Truman's vetoes of the two previous tax bills were sustained. This time, Congress overrode the veto. In the Senate, it did so almost 8 to 1. Truman was far out of step with the sentiment and needs of the country.

But apart from the fiscal side of the question, it is an invasion of the unwritten law of the Republic for a President to veto a tax bill. "The power of the purse" belongs to the representatives of the people who pay the taxes. Truman has vetoed three tax bills. Overwhelming defeat now ought to end this practice for all time.

Truman No Solomon

The spending branch of the government—the executive branch—ought not to say how much shall be taken from the pockets of the people. No more astonishing statement has ever been made by a President than Mr. Truman's recent remarks: "Conditions are too grave in the world at this time to put Congress in control of the purse strings of the country." That sounds like one-man government to me. Even if Mr. Truman had the wisdom of Solomon, this was not for him to say, and he is no Solomon.

The chairman of the House and Senate tax committees, Senator Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, and Congressman Harold Knutson of Minnesota, and their colleagues have done a grand job.

This bill takes 7,400,000 off the income tax roll entirely. It is a hundred per cent cut for them. It will help millions of families to cope with the rising cost of living without starting another inflationary cycle of wage increases.

Another long overdue correction is to apply the "community principle" in taxation to husbands and wives everywhere. Until now, the folks living in a dozen states have enjoyed a privilege denied families in all the rest of the states. Now, husbands and wives everywhere can divide the total family income between them and save money by paying taxes in a lower bracket, than when the husband alone pays the tax bill. It is the family that is important—not the husband or wife alone. The new bill is a strong bulwark to family life—the basis of society.

This bill underlines the importance of Congress. We pay entirely too much attention to the Presidency in election years. Congress is apt to be forgotten in the headline news of the candidates for the White House. Don't do it this year. The primaries are now under way. Nominate and elect strong men Republicans or Democrats—to Congress. If you have a good Congress, the country will not suffer greatly, no matter who is President, or what mistakes one man may make. All citizens gain if they unite to support strong men in Congress.

These Days

Cancer, Heart and Old Age

IN SPITE OF ALL the billions that government collects in taxes, private charity grows more essential and more pressing every year. And as one's savings lessen because of taxes, it becomes increasingly more important to scrutinize carefully funds requesting contributions. The best pattern for giving is to set up a plan and, having determined how much one can devote to charity, after taxes, to divide the amount among the chosen charities. I personally prefer to avoid drives, saving their circulars until December when we are able to determine what we shall have to give. Others prefer to give during drives. The important thing is to give and to give wisely.

In my own thinking, I prefer to avoid two categories of funds:

1. Those organizations which year after year undertake huge, well-publicized, heavily advertized drives and which possess enormous reserves that they cannot reasonably expend during the next two or three years. The dead hand of unused funds is not charity; it is business for administrators.

2. My taxes have contributed ample to foreign relief. UNRRA, ERP, the funds for UN come out of taxes —mine and yours. Therefore, I shall contribute nothing to foreign relief except for children and education. I shall not contribute to omnibus funds which combine foreign relief and funds for local organizations. Whereas foreign relief may arouse my emotions, I want to exercise independent judgment about local organizations. Sometimes when I look at these omnibus appeals, I discover among organizations which I can favor some that I regard as altogether disreputable. It is a matter of choice whether one wants to accept the bad with the good or to reject the good with the bad. The latter is my choice.

On the other hand, it seems to me that there are four causes that should have everybody's money. Cancer, heart, diabetes and old age need all the money that the American people can afford for them. It it difficult to understand why there has been so little money for cancer, particularly cancer research, when so many are killed by it. And the same is true of the heart. Of course, these diseases and diabetes are generally due to the fact that we live so much longer than our ancestors did. We get the "After Fifty" diseases more numerously because more of us live to be 60 and 70.

The heart wears out; the pancreas weakens; and those wild cells about which we know so little and need to know so much, appear. The wild cells we call cancer. They can become wild for any of us—for me, for you, for our dearest.

It ceases to be charity to contribute for cancer research; is is insurance. What a God-send it would be if someone found something like insulin for cancer. Of course, much is being done already and we are meeting more and more relatives and friends who have had a cancer and have it no more. And we need to know more about the heart, and particularly we need convalescent homes where cardiacs can rest their weary "pump" without being made worse by kindly but worrysome relatives and friends.

Then there are the old—the very old. What a tough end to life many of them face. Children and grandchildren mean to be kind but they do not understand. They often become less kindly when the legs give way or the heart becomes troublesome, or the kidneys stop functioning. But what children and grandchildren seem so seldom to recognize is that older people often are bored. They crave comrades their own age. They want to discuss the good world of 40 years ago.

They are horrified by the truly disgusting manners of our teenagers, their curious slang, their failure to associate living responsibility. These oldsters often need to retreat to the comfort of associating with their own kind. There are some excellent places for this purpose, but not enough and some of them have too little money.

High taxes notwithstanding, private charity is still important in our lives and we ought to give—to give freely and wisely. And, of course, private charity, up to a certain amount, still remains an income tax deduction.

Today's Talk

MIND ROVING

In my reading, recently I came across a very interesting comment by Norman Douglas, upon the mind of Charles M. Doughty, the author of "Arabia Deserta," who said: "Doughty is rich in character, self-consistent, never otherwise but himself. Press him to the last drop, it has the same taste as the first."

This quotation was taken to illustrate an argument by H. M. Tomlinson, who contended that in the writing of a book of travel the reader should be led into the mind of the writer, as well as into the story of the country described, and this is what Douglas contended that Doughty did.

I used to sit and listen for hours to the talk of the late Robert H. (Bob) Davis, as he talked of his travels all over the earth—and he travelled everywhere. But as I listened I always felt that I was also travelling the mind of Davis—taking at "interior voyage," every word bristling with color and personality. A gift indeed for either conversationalist or writer—and Bob had it all—to the last drop!

It is not what a talker or writer tells you about a subject that is the most fascinating, but what he reveals of himself in what he has to say. Boswell's Life, for example, is quite as truly an autobiography of Boswell himself. A double life story.

By listening to another person, what he actually says may be irrelevant and of little consequence, so far as that information he may bring forth, but what he reveals of his own mind may be quite significant. That is another story—the unconscious story of the man himself, taking you on a journey through his own mind. I felt this as I read that absorbing book by R. B. Cunninghame Graham which he called "Mogreb-el-Ecksa." One of the great travel books,but unfortunately rarely read, and long out of print, for the same reason! George Bernard Shaw, however, paid it high tribute and borrowed from it.

One of the most fascinating of all the books of W. H. Hudson is that one which he called "A Traveller in Little Things." He had an observant and speculative mind. You are always conscious, in the reading of this, as well as in most of his other books, that you are actually travelling the mind of Hudson itself.

Draft Vs Universal Military Training

The Gallup poll finds that voter sentiment throughout the country agrees with President Truman that both the draft and Universal Military Training are needed to strengthen the nation's armed forces. An apparent majority in Congress, however, thinks the two proposals should be kept separate and that only selective service should be voted now.

The evidence from Capitol Hill indicates that selective service has a better-than-even chance of adoption before this month is out, but the chance for UMT at any time this session is less than fifty-fifty. In fact, the UMT proposal is actually hurting the prospects for a draft. This is true because it is recognized that UMT in practice would militate against selective service.

The purpose of the draft is to build up our Army as rapidly as possible. UMT is a long-range scheme which would, at best, create over the years a reservoir of partly-trained young men to swell the manpower force available for training in the event of mobilization. Even if one accepts the glowing descriptions of UMT sponsors, the difference between the two is like the difference between consulting a physician when ill and taking out a life insurance policy on one's wedding day.

The cost of UMT would delay appropriations for urgent military needs. More important, it would rob the Army of 180,000 officers and men, needed to train the high school boys, at a time when every effort should be made to maintain and build up the Army. This simply does not make sense.

No doubt President Truman thought he could put over UMT by tying it up with the draft. Congress should keep the two separate and should concentrate on the one that is needed in the present world crisis, not in the remote future.

Perhaps baby sitters are justified in asking for more remuneration, as kids seem to be different. A Maine baby is able to walk at the age of nine days.

The Officer And The Soldier In Review

General MacArthur's failure to capture the Wisconsin Republican primary, it seems to us, reflects his long absence from the American scene, and nothing more. The suspiciously sudden emergence of "Veterans Against MacArthur" clubs, when he announced his willingness to be a presidential candidate, presaged nothing, we think, as to his drawing power in a political campaign. It did, however, shed some light on a military phenomenon of long standing—how the basic conflict between Liberty and Authority works out in the army.

The three greatest commanders, Alexander, Caesar and Napoleon, were all popular with their men. Yet the time came when Alexander's followers said to him, "No farther! Let's go back!" Caesar's legions said the same thing to him, but he quelled their mutiny by the way that he began his farewell speech. When he took them at their word and addressed them as "Fellow-Citizens," instead of "Comrades-in-Arms," they wept and said: "No! Let's go on!" Napoleon's hold on his men is embalmed for the ages in a song, "The Two Grenadiers."

Turning elsewhere, we find another story. In the Mexican War, Zachary Taylor was just a lucky officer who didn't know too much, while Winfield Scott was a really great commander. Yet the one was lauded as "Old Rough and Ready," the other derided as "Old Fuss and Feathers." In the Civil War, the usually unsuccessful McClellan was idolized by his men and in the presidential campaign of 1864 got nearly as many popular votes as Lincoln. For a time, Ben Butler—"political-brigadier" par excellence—seemed to have been more popular than Grant, McClernand, another of that ilk, was fired at Vicksburg after he issued an order praising his own troops at the expense of his associates and even of the commander-in-chief.

In the South African War, Buller, "good old Buller," as the British called him, though uniformly outwitted by the Boers, enjoyed a frantic popularity. Kitchner, who had to clean up the mess he made, and did so in short order, was cooly regarded. The classic instance in the age-long controversy between Liberty and Authority was furnished in Russia toward the end of the first World War when Bolshevist soldier-committees superseded effective officer command, and every time a committee-controlled army took the field, it took the count.

There is some doubt about the peach crop, and the outcome of the political plum crop is positively up in the air.

Bald But Unbowed

Bald men come up smiling in the latest round of the argument whether baldness is a sign of virtue and, or, virility. There is no conclusive evidence as to when the argument started. Darwin, to be sure, had a theory which assumed that female ape-men preferred to mate with relatively hairless male apemen. "And so," in the words of Fundamentalist William Jennings Bryan, "they just bred the hair off!"

But it was generally assumed that Darwin was talking about body hair in general, not about man's crowning glory. Or maybe he was. Come to think of it, there are few bald-headed bachelors.

Anyway, the theory sprang up somewhere that baldness was a sign of male virility. If not, why were there so few bald women? The superman of the futrue was always described as bald-headed. Bald-headed men have been suspected of spreading this story. Besides, if baldness is an accolade, why do some men wear toupees?

Then the pendulum swung back. Some scientist reported that bald-headedness was associated with cranial calcification which increased the bony structure of the skull. Baldies were boneheads.

But now comes Dr. R. E. G. Armattoe, a scientist from North Ireland, who has just completed a study which proves, he says, that educated men get bald sooner than uneducated ones. The story leaves out the most important fact, though: Does or does not Dr. Armattoe proudly bear a billiard-ball dome?

That ought to be a death blow to the toupee business. It may even send men shamefully hirsute rushing to the barber for a cranial shave.

Americans are urged to watch their weight. Russians to quit throwing theirs around.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Dog Bites and Rabies

We no longer associate rabies with hot weather because the malady can occur at any time of the year; consequently the term "dog days" is passe. Hydrophobia is a disease of man and dumb creatures; it is contracted by humans through the bite of a dog. The canine usually becomes infected from the bite of another dog, a fox, wolf, cat, or other afflicted animal.

Public health officials have been concerned of late because the disorder is becoming more prevalent in wild and domestic animals. In New York state an increase is reported among foxes and cattle. To counteract the threat, the authorities are recommending vaccination for dogs not only to protect the pets but to prevent the disease from reaching us.

The vaccine is not a cure-all but helps tremendously and, in areas where it is not used, rabies in animals is fifteen times more widespread. All this tends to demonstrate that the fight against hydrophobia is turning toward its source. The earlier the condition can be recognized the better because an infected pooch can scatter the virus far and wide.

In one type of rabies (furious), the gentle dog becomes morose, does not bark, refuses food, and seeks seclusion—hiding beneath the bed. Now and then he is more friendly than ever. Twelve to 48 hours later he becomes restless and obviously agitated. He lies down, jumps up, is annoyed by restraint, and may snap at a stranger without warning. He snarls, barks, and —if allowed to roam—will go out of his way to seek a quarrel in order to attack other animals. If housed, he scratches, tears, and chews the carpets, bedding, and furniture. In the paralytic form, the stage of excitement and irritability is absent or goes unnoticed. The lower jaws become paralyzed and saliva drools constantly. The canine acts as if a bone were stuck in his throat; should a sympathetic owner reach into his mouth to extract it, his hands become covered with infected saliva.

The ailment is somewhat similar in man. An average of 50 to 60 days elapses between the bite and the appearance of symptoms. The individual is at first oppressed, then seized with uncontrollable restlessness, almost to the point of becoming maniacal. Excess saliva appears and convulsions may occur on the slightest irritation such as a gust of wind blowing on the neck. After two or three days, painful spasms follow any attempt to drink water. This horrible feature explains why the malady is called "hydrophobia" because after one experience the victim develops an abnormal dread of water. Later, paralysis ensues and in the majority, the outcome is fatal.

Any one who is nipped by a dog should have the wound cauterized. Whether the Pasteur treatment should be employed depends upon the animal but it is always a good rule to suspect the worst unless proved otherwise. If the hound was a stray, and cannot be found, it should be considered rabid and the injections started immediately. Otherwise it should be kept under quarantine according to the local laws. Should the dog become ill within a few days, the answer is provided. On the other hand, if it remains well, the chances are slim that rabies is present.

It Says Here

Traffic cops in Australia are developing something new . . . photographs.

Yessir, they're now photographing motorists in the act of violating traffic laws. When it comes to an argument in court, you can take the affirmative and he shows you the negative.

The police used to yell "pull over to the curb." Now they just smile sweetly and whisper, "watch the birdie."

It must be quite a sight to see those officers march out to the target range, break ranks, fall to the ground, then pull their brownies into the firing position.

Of course, the policeman with the best record doesn't go unrewarded. At the end of the month they give him a one man exhibit.

One cop wanted his picture to be dramatic. He let the cars crash and caught the driver in midair.

And one flashbulb flatfoot really takes his job seriously. He bought a movie camera and every week he comes in with a documentary short.

One driver became very cautious when he heard about the camera conscious cop. He wasn't worried about a ticket. He just isn't photogenic.

And I heard about a very efficient officer who asked the motorist to back up and crash into the telephone pole again. He didn't have any film in the camera the first time.

Of course, they've run into a little technical trouble with some of the drivers. They haven't discovered a camera fast enough to follow a woman driver's arm when she signals for a turn.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, April 15—A lot of people have wondered where Harold Stassen's campaign expenses were coming from.

The ex-Minnesota Governor, not a wealthy man, has spent the last two years touring the length and breadth of the USA, with campaign headquarters set up in several states. Naturally, this takes money. The matter of who is putting up the money is important to the voting public.

Most of Stassen's backers, it can be revealed, are blue-chip businessmen, including some of his old Minnesota neighbors. Several of the group, it should be noted, have progressive ideas and enjoy excellent relations with labor. Here are the chief Minnesota men behind Stassen:

Harry E. Atwood, President, First National Bank, Minneapolis. Julian B. Baird, President First National Bank, St. Paul. Harry A. Bullis, Chairman of the Board, General Mills, Inc. Edward B. Cosgrove, President, Minnesota Valley Canning Co. Donald D. Davis, President, Minnesota and Ontario Paper Co. Daniel C. Gainey, President, Josten Manufacturing Co. Jay C. Hormel, Chairman of the Board, George A. Hormel & Co. W. L. McKnight, President, Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co. John S. Pillsbury, Chairman of the Board, Pillsbury Mills, Inc.

Underground Activities

A Commerce Department employe was being quizzed by a loyalty investigator about a young lawyer in the same department.

"Does he belong to any underground organizations?" asked the investigator.

"Yes."

"Which one?" The investigator leaned forward eagerly.

"The National Speleogical Society."

"What do its members believe in?" asked the puzzled prober.

"They specialize in the study of caves and underground caverns."

Note—During the war, the lawyer being invesigated had made a study of U. S. caves for the War Department with a view to using them for storage in case of enemy bombardment.

Unpartitioning Palestine

As delegates to the United Nations assemble in New York to consider unpartitioning Palestine, most of them will have in the back of their minds certain backstage things which happened when they first voted for partition.

For instance, the Liberian Government, largely dependent on the United States and the Firestone Rubber Company, last winter got a phone call from Harvey Firestone asking that Liberia vote for partition. Haiti, also economically dependent on the USA, got a call from Adolph Berle, former Assistant Secretary of State, now adviser to the President of Haiti.

The French Ambassador, following hints from State Department friends, urged his government to vote for partition. The Chinese Ambassador did likewise. Mexico, New Zealand, Columbia—all were discreetly pressured from Washington during the U.N. debate in November.

And having been told how to vote on Palestine last year, these nations now don't like to be told to vote the other way. They consider themselves sovereign states, not puppets voting as Uncle Sam cracks the whip and calls the roll.

American Handsprings

In diplomatic circles, it's discreetly stated that nothing has hurt American prestige more than our sudden somersault on Palestine. Comparing US foreign policy with British policy, diplomats point out that the British at least are consistent. Even though you disagree with them, you always know where the British stand.

But American policy is unpredictable. It is one thing one day and another thing the next.

For many years western European nations were in the habit of following Britain's lead. She was the strongest nation in the western world. But now, with the United States the most powerful, they prefer to follow us—provided they know where we are. However, it hurts any nation's prestige to have to explain that its vote was reversed because the United States turned a handspring

Note — Remarked one diplomat: "The United States is like the banker in a small town. You have many mortgages on other people's houses. So we always tip our hats to you, and usually vote with you. But the small-town banker isn't loved by the people who come to him for money, and that's why we don't always love you."

Contempt Of Congress

The first of the ten Hollywood screen writers, charged by the Thomas committee with being Communists, is now on trial. Of the ten, inside word is that six are Communists and four are not. The latter refused to answer questions because of honest conviction that Congress had no right to ask a man what party he belongs to.

Two years ago, a D. C. jury refused to convict Dr. Edward Rumely for contempt of Congress when he refused to answer questions about who contributed money to his Committee for Constitutional Government.

Rumely was backed by some of the big oilmen, by some of the Anderson-Clayton cotton executives and by Frank Gannett, New York's powerful chain newspaper publisher. Rumely himself had served time after being convicted for trading with Germany during World War I.

However, the jury let him off when he refused to tell Congress who his financial supporters were.

What influenced the jury was a charge by Judge James Proctor that the jury must be convinced Rumely "did not willfully default in failing to produce the required records" and that "the word willfully must be interpreted as having been done knowingly and with evil intent."

Judge Proctor has now been promoted to the Court of Appeals. Dr. Rumely still has failed to inform Congress—as now required by the Lobbying Act—who his financial contributors are, and a new contempt-of-Congress case is now before the D. C. court. It will be interesting to see whether Judge Edward Curran makes the same "evil intent" charge to the jury as Judge Proctor.

Nebraska Primary Indicates Far More Than Stassen Victory

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Nebraska's primary indicates far more than the mere fact that former Governor Stassen of Minnesota, who won the same primary race four years ago, is a plurality winner this year.

The most significant fact is that the Stassen vote plus the Vandenberg vote is close to a majority of the total vote polled. Inasmuch as Merrs. Stassen and Vandenberg are outspokenly international in their viewpoint, it means that, in a state occasionally referred to as "isolationist," there is a sizable bloc of Republican votes ready to accept the views of the two staunchest exponents of a policy in internationalism.

With only 103 precincts out of 2,024 unreported, the Vandenberg vote of 8,861 and the Stassen vote of 75,997 makes a total of 84,858, which is only a few thousand short of an actual majority as against all the other votes polled.

But it cannot be said that all the votes cast for Dewey—a total of 62,289 from the same precincts—are by any means "isolationist." A goodly proportion would go to either Vandenberg or Stassen if the choice were limited to those two persons as against any "isolationist" candidate.

It may be concluded, therefore, that the so-called "isolationist" vote in Nebraska is a small fraction of the total Republican vote in that state.

A combination of votes looked at from the domestic point of view, and from what might be termed a "left wing" or "right wing" concept on economic questions, would put Stassen with 75,997 over toward the "left" while Taft, MacArthur and Martin might be considered over toward the "right" with a total of 27,973.

The question then would be how to classify the 72,829 votes cast for Dewey, Vandenberg and Warren, who cannot be placed anywhere else except in the "center" in relation to Stassen, on the one hand, and the Taft-MacArthur-Martin bloc on the other.

The Dewey - Vandenberg - Warren bloc, being of the "center" type, might attract more adherents from the 27,973 votes cast for Taft, Martin and MacArthur than it could obtain from the Stassen group. It might be inferred that in a race between Stassen and any conservative, the latter would have won the Nebraska primary.

The indications, therefore, are that the dominant group in the Republican Party is either "center" or toward the "right," rather than to the "left." Thus, the total in Nebraska of all the Dewey, Vandenberg, Taft, MacArthur, Warren and Martin votes amounts to 100,802 as against Stassen's 75,997.

So far as headlines are concerned, where a plurality victory out of a field of seven names voted on means almost as much as if it were a clear majority, the Stassen stock will rise. His supporters in other states will be encouraged. In fact, it might be said that if the convention were held tomorrow Stassen would come near to getting the vice-presidential nomination. The conservative nature of the Republican delegates argues against the probability that he would be acceptable for the top of the ticket on domestic issues. Governor Dewey found a good deal of opposition from conservatives inside the Republican Party in 1944. He was accused of espousing "New Deal" ideas. He has managed to live down much of that reputation, but it is evident that among the conservatives there is a greater friendliness to Vandenberg, a known "progressive," than to the other two "progressives"—Dewey and Stassen.

In Favor of Vandenberg

In many of the state delegations which will appear at the Republican National Convention are members of the Senate and the House. There is among these a predisposition in favor of Senator Vandenberg. If Senator Taft and Governor Dewey appear to be out of the race, the chances are that these congressional members, who are influential in the party, would swing behind the Michigan senator rather than behind Stassen. It is conceivable, too, that the Stassen strength might be enlisted behind Senator Vandenberg if the Minnesota candidate is unable to get the nomination and it appears that the convention is swinging toward a conservative chosen from the Taft, MacArthur or Martin group of delegates. In fact, many of the Dewey delegates would get behind Senator Vandenberg rather than permit an ultra-conservative or isolationist type of candidate to be named.

You have just had a wage or salary increase. Congress gave it to you. If you are a farmer, Congress says you can keep more of what you produce.

You ought to write a letter of appreciation to your Congressman if he voted for the tax-cut—and few did not. Congress gets a lot of kicks, few thanks. When it does a good job, say so, and you'll have a better Congress.

This is the most constructive job this new Congress has done. It tried hard a year ago, but President Truman's vetoes of the two previous tax bills were sustained. This time, Congress overrode the veto. In the Senate, it did so almost 8 to 1. Truman was far out of step with the sentiment and needs of the country.

But apart from the fiscal side of the question, it is an invasion of the unwritten law of the Republic for a President to veto a tax bill. "The power of the purse" belongs to the representatives of the people who pay the taxes. Truman has vetoed three tax bills. Overwhelming defeat now ought to end this practice for all time.

Truman No Solomon

The spending branch of the government—the executive branch—ought not to say how much shall be taken from the pockets of the people. No more astonishing statement has ever been made by a President than Mr. Truman's recent remarks: "Conditions are too grave in the world at this time to put Congress in control of the purse strings of the country." That sounds like one-man government to me. Even if Mr. Truman had the wisdom of Solomon, this was not for him to say, and he is no Solomon.

The chairman of the House and Senate tax committees, Senator Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, and Congressman Harold Knutson of Minnesota, and their colleagues have done a grand job.

This bill takes 7,400,000 off the income tax roll entirely. It is a hundred per cent cut for them. It will help millions of families to cope with the rising cost of living without starting another inflationary cycle of wage increases.

Another long overdue correction is to apply the "community principle" in taxation to husbands and wives everywhere. Until now, the folks living in a dozen states have enjoyed a privilege denied families in all the rest of the states. Now, husbands and wives everywhere can divide the total family income between them and save money by paying taxes in a lower bracket, than when the husband alone pays the tax bill. It is the family that is important—not the husband or wife alone. The new bill is a strong bulwark to family life—the basis of society.

This bill underlines the importance of Congress. We pay entirely too much attention to the Presidency in election years. Congress is apt to be forgotten in the headline news of the candidates for the White House. Don't do it this year. The primaries are now under way. Nominate and elect strong men Republicans or Democrats—to Congress. If you have a good Congress, the country will not suffer greatly, no matter who is President, or what mistakes one man may make. All citizens gain if they unite to support strong men in Congress.

These Days

Cancer, Heart and Old Age

IN SPITE OF ALL the billions that government collects in taxes, private charity grows more essential and more pressing every year. And as one's savings lessen because of taxes, it becomes increasingly more important to scrutinize carefully funds requesting contributions. The best pattern for giving is to set up a plan and, having determined how much one can devote to charity, after taxes, to divide the amount among the chosen charities. I personally prefer to avoid drives, saving their circulars until December when we are able to determine what we shall have to give. Others prefer to give during drives. The important thing is to give and to give wisely.

In my own thinking, I prefer to avoid two categories of funds:

1. Those organizations which year after year undertake huge, well-publicized, heavily advertized drives and which possess enormous reserves that they cannot reasonably expend during the next two or three years. The dead hand of unused funds is not charity; it is business for administrators.

2. My taxes have contributed ample to foreign relief. UNRRA, ERP, the funds for UN come out of taxes —mine and yours. Therefore, I shall contribute nothing to foreign relief except for children and education. I shall not contribute to omnibus funds which combine foreign relief and funds for local organizations. Whereas foreign relief may arouse my emotions, I want to exercise independent judgment about local organizations. Sometimes when I look at these omnibus appeals, I discover among organizations which I can favor some that I regard as altogether disreputable. It is a matter of choice whether one wants to accept the bad with the good or to reject the good with the bad. The latter is my choice.

On the other hand, it seems to me that there are four causes that should have everybody's money. Cancer, heart, diabetes and old age need all the money that the American people can afford for them. It it difficult to understand why there has been so little money for cancer, particularly cancer research, when so many are killed by it. And the same is true of the heart. Of course, these diseases and diabetes are generally due to the fact that we live so much longer than our ancestors did. We get the "After Fifty" diseases more numerously because more of us live to be 60 and 70.

The heart wears out; the pancreas weakens; and those wild cells about which we know so little and need to know so much, appear. The wild cells we call cancer. They can become wild for any of us—for me, for you, for our dearest.

It ceases to be charity to contribute for cancer research; is is insurance. What a God-send it would be if someone found something like insulin for cancer. Of course, much is being done already and we are meeting more and more relatives and friends who have had a cancer and have it no more. And we need to know more about the heart, and particularly we need convalescent homes where cardiacs can rest their weary "pump" without being made worse by kindly but worrysome relatives and friends.

Then there are the old—the very old. What a tough end to life many of them face. Children and grandchildren mean to be kind but they do not understand. They often become less kindly when the legs give way or the heart becomes troublesome, or the kidneys stop functioning. But what children and grandchildren seem so seldom to recognize is that older people often are bored. They crave comrades their own age. They want to discuss the good world of 40 years ago.

They are horrified by the truly disgusting manners of our teenagers, their curious slang, their failure to associate living responsibility. These oldsters often need to retreat to the comfort of associating with their own kind. There are some excellent places for this purpose, but not enough and some of them have too little money.

High taxes notwithstanding, private charity is still important in our lives and we ought to give—to give freely and wisely. And, of course, private charity, up to a certain amount, still remains an income tax deduction.

Today's Talk

MIND ROVING

In my reading, recently, I came across a very interesting comment by Norman Douglas, upon the mind of Charles M. Doughty, the author of "Arabia Deserta," who said: "Doughty is rich in character, self-consistent, never otherwise but himself. Press him to the last drop, it has the same taste as the first."

This quotation was taken to illustrate an argument by H. M. Tomlinson, who contended that in the writing of a book of travel the reader should be led into the mind of the writer, as well as into the story of the country described, and this is what Douglas contended that Doughty did.

I used to sit and listen for hours to the talk of the late Robert H. (Bob) Davis, as he talked of his travels all over the earth—and he travelled everywhere. But as I listened I always felt that I was also travelling the mind of Davis—taking at "interior voyage," every word bristling with color and personality. A gift indeed for either conversationalist or writer—and Bob had it all—to the last drop!

It is not what a talker or writer tells you about a subject that is the most fascinating, but what he reveals of himself in what he has to say. Boswell's Life, for example, is quite as truly an autobiography of Boswell himself. A double life story.

By listening to another person, what he actually says may be irrelevant and of little consequence, so far as that information he may bring forth, but what he reveals of his own mind may be quite significant. That is another story—the unconscious story of the man himself, taking you on a journey through his own mind. I felt this as I read that absorbing book by R. B. Cunninghame Graham which he called "Mogreb-el-Ecksa." One of the great travel books,but unfortunately rarely read, and long out of print, for the same reason! George Bernard Shaw, however, paid it high tribute and borrowed from it.

One of the most fascinating of all the books of W. H. Hudson is that one which he called "A Traveller in Little Things." He had an observant and speculative mind. You are always conscious, in the reading of this, as well as in most of his other books, that you are actually travelling the mind of Hudson itself.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Geologists claim the needy old Navajos are setting right north of an important uranium stashaway. That makes me want to help them more than ever.

Last time they moved the Apaches was because they didn't want them living over such an inflammable commodity like petroleum. So you can expect the Navajos to be packed off to a better residential section where it's quieter at night.

●—●—●

Uranium is a vital prescription in the scheme of things. And never were things scheming faster than they are now.

If you notice an old Indian single-footing it down the main rut he is going to notify his blanket tailor of a change of venue. The government doesn't want him getting uranium blisters.

Grandma knew a thing or two about fashion. "Don't show a pretty exterior unless you've an interior to match" was the modish matriarch's motto. That's why she preened her petticoats. It was a point of honor to look good within as well as without. We're of a mind with grandma. Our rustly, shining petticoat skirts will make glorious ladies without, glorious ladies within. X-Ray Unit Due At Petersburg

By MYRTLE K. PARK

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — The Grant County Health Department has received word that the Mobile X-ray Unit operated by the State Health Department will be located at the office of the Health Department April 26 and 27.

The purpose of the Mobile Unit is to make free X-rays available to all contacts, suspects and persons who might be showing slight symptoms of tuberculosis.

Damage Hearing Begins

The regular term of the Grant County Circuit Court was held April 6 with a small amount of chancery work being disposed of by Judge Ernest A. See, Keyser. A petit jury was called for Wednesday to try the case of Carl Borror against Celanese Corporation in a damage suit resulting from a car wreck with a large truck several months ago. He asks damages of $3000.

Borror was in the hospital at Harrisonburg for over a month as a result of his injuries. The jury is composed of Justin Arnold, D. A. Sherman, Jesse Sites, W. M. Hatcher, Wilson Shobe, Robert Alexander, Glenn Glauze, Cecil Alkire, William Lewis, Fred W. Harman, Demby Berg and Lane Huffman.

H. G. Muntzing, Moorefield, and D. E. Cuppett, Jr., are attorneys for the plaintiff and B. F. Mitchell, Petersburg, and Ralph J. Bean, Moorefield represent the Celanese Corporation.

Brief Mention

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Ours moved from Pansy to the Austin Sites farm near here. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kimble, Pansy, have moved to Moorefield and Mr. and Mrs. William Vance, Dorcas, will move into the Coffman house near Landes.

Nurses Vanguard In Fight On Heart And Other Diseases

The plea by Dr. Thomas Parran, recently retired surgeon general of the United States Public Health Service, which called for nation-wide public support for a drive to reduce the number of deaths from heart disease, draws attention to the need for additional nurses to help fight this menace, Ella Best, executive secretary of the American Nurses' Association, declared today.

Although heart disease is now the nation's number one killer, with a half-million persons expected to die from its ravages this year, there is hope that the joint efforts of the medical and nursing professions, backed by public support, can reduce its mortality rate appreciably, Miss Best's statement said.

"The nursing profession, in the past ten years, has broadened its professional horizon to be of greater service in this cause," Miss Best noted. "In our 1250 state-accredited schools of nursing, special courses have been devised to keep nurses abreast of the latest developments in preventive methods which will decrease the death rate due to heart diseases."

The nursing profession is handicapped in its efforts effectively to fight such afflictions as heart disease by the unprecedented demand for nursing service generally, despite the fact that there are more registered nurses in America today than ever before. The nursing profession, however, headed by the state nurses associations and the ANA, is waging a sustained campaign to alleviate the situation.

This drive, according to Miss Best, is based upon a three-point program calling for higher wages and better working conditions of nurses, up-to-date legal control of nursing in the states, and an extension of existing professional counseling and placement services to place nurses more efficiently.

As this drive succeeds in bettering conditions in nursing, both the profession and the public will directly benefit, Miss Best's statement continued, "for the concern exhibited by the nurses for the elimination of disease is not restricted to any one 'killer' such as heart ailments. Nurses today are actively engaged in the struggle against all of the scourges of mankind—cancer, polio, multiple sclerosis, tuberculosis and all the rest."

A SPECIAL NOTICE TO ALL CATHOLICS!

In a recent pastoral letter to all Priests of the Archdiocese of Baltimore, Archbishop Francis P. Keough said:

"You are, I am sure, aware of the fact that by reason of the critical situation in the world today, great importance attaches to the elections to be held on April 18th in Italy. The struggle between our democratic institutions and the forces of Communism approaches a focal point on that occasion."

In view of this situation, His Excellency asked the priests to bring this matter to the attention of the faithful at all the Masses on Last Sunday, April 11th, and to urge them to pray through the intercession of our Immaculate Mother Mary that the good God will direct the Italian people and strengthen them to uphold the principles of Christianity and of democratic government. Archbishop Keough recommended particularly that the faithful be urged to receive Holy Communion on Sunday, April 18th, and in their thanksgiving earnestly to pray for this intention.

The State Council of The Knights of Columbus of Maryland takes this means of publicizing and emphasizing the importance of His Excellency's message regarding the Italian elections. All members of the Knights of Columbus and their families are urgently requested to comply with Archbishop Keough's recommendations.

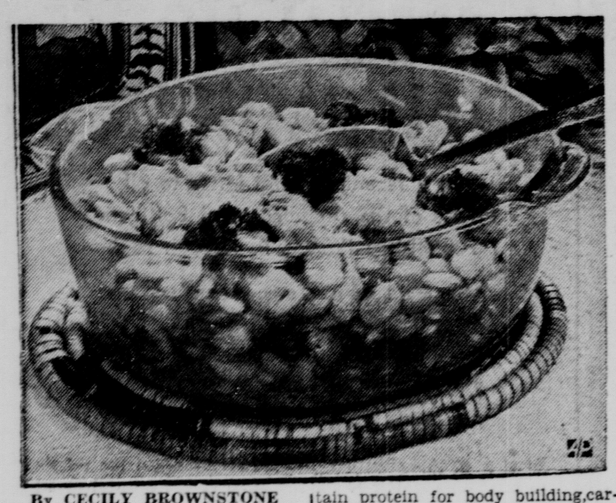
FOOD: You And The Beanstalk



By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Beans are one of the best foods you can serve for thrifty meals because they are low in cost and plentiful in nutrients. They contain protein for body building, carbohydrate for energy and many of the vitamins and minerals needed for general good health.

Usually sold in one and two-pound packages, dried beans measure from 2 to 2¾ cups a pound—a handy fact to remember since recipes often state bean measurements in cups.

All ordinary dry beans should be washed well and any imperfect specimens discarded. Then they should be soaked overnight or at least five or six hours before cooking. Old-fashioned recipes suggest discarding the bean water but modern cooking practices suggest that the beans be cooked in the soaking water since nutrients released during soaking will be lost if this water is drained off. However, if the soaking water has more bean flavor than you think your family will enjoy, drain it off and cook the beans in fresh water.

The variety and age of the bean is also responsible for the cooking time; it may take from one to two hours. During the cooking it is important to keep the heat low and simmer rather than boil for the best-tasting and best-looking beans. The object is to keep them tender but unbroken. A little pot-watching is not amiss in cooking beans since a small amount of water may have to be added from time to time.

Limas are one of the most popular of dried beans and one of the best-liked ways to serve them is in a casserole. An easy way to do this is to put two cups of the cooked beans into a casserole and add a few tablespoons of finely cut or grated onion along with a cup of grated cheese and enough canned tomatoes to moisten. Extra flavor may be added with chopped pimento or green pepper. Strips of bacon may be put over the top of the casserole. The dish should then be baked in a moderate oven until the beans are heated through and the bacon crisped. For another delicious casserole use the recipe below.

Beans are a hearty addition to spring salads. Use them with diced cucumber and scallions on a bed of shredded lettuce or water cress If the cooked beans are marinated in a tangy French dressing before being mixed with other vegetables they will be particularly flavorful. I like to add a little mayonnaise to a salad of this sort just before serving—the combination of the vegetables and the two kinds of dressing (the French for marinating and the mayonnaise for garnishing) seem to be just right.

Another good-tasting salad combination is beans and raw apple sliced with the red skin on; the whole should be moistened with a mayonnaise-type salad dressing and served on a bed of spring greens.

BRAZILIAN LIMA BEANS

2 cups dried lima beans
2 teaspoons salt
1 quart water
1 cup ground ham
1 cup diced onions
1 clove garlic, minced
¼ cup bacon fat
1 cup tomato juice
1 cup tomato puree
2 teaspoons chili powder
2 teaspoons salt
½ cup grated cheese

Soak lima beans overnight. Add beans and two teaspoons salt to one quart water and cook beans slowly until tender. Drain. Brown ground ham, onions and garlic in bacon fat. Add tomato juice, tomato puree, chili powder and two teaspoons salt to ham mixture; cook together for five minutes. Pour cooked tomato sauce over cooked lima beans in a two-quart heat-resistant glass open baker. Sprinkle top with the grated cheese. Bake in a moderate (350° F.) oven for about 25 minutes or until thoroughly hot and cheese is melted. 6 to 8 servings.

Shrimp Popular In Spring Salads

Spring blushes delicately into blossom. Pink dogwood on the green slopes—pink apple blossoms in the orchards—pink buds on the tulip trees —and spring can bloom pink on your table, too, in the delicately rosy salads made with quick, canned shrimp!

A "natural" for the first salad meals of the season, canned shrimp has delicacy of flavor backed up by sturdy nutrition because this shellfish is a complete protein food, and therefore very much in order in spring main dishes. It comes to you with the "fuss and muss" deleted when canned shrimp is the kind you use. Cleaned, cooked, ready-to-use, you'll bless canned shrimp for being available again so that you can call on it to bring spring to your table in salads pretty as these:

Shrimp and Vegetable Salad

1 5-oz. can shrimp, drained
½ cup diced celery
½ cup cooked green peas
1 cup cooked diced potatoes
½ teasp. finely minced onion
⅓ cup mayonnaise
1 tbsp. lemon juice
½ teasp. salt
Lettuce
2 tomatoes

Combine shrimp, celery, peas, potatoes and onion. Add mayonnaise, lemon juice and salt; toss together. Chill. Serve on crisp lettuce and garnish with tomato wedges. Yield: 4 servings.

Shrimp Tomato Mold

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold tomato juice
1¼ cups hot tomato juice
½ teasp. salt
1 teasp. horse-radish
1 tbsp. lemon juice
½ cup diced celery
2 tbsps. diced green pepper
1 5-oz. can shrimp, drained

Soften gelatine in cold tomato juice. Add hot tomato juice and stir until dissolved. Add salt, horse-radish and lemon juice. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Stir in remaining ingredients. Turn into large or individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold onto lettuce and serve with mayonnaise. Yield: 6 servings.

Serve this Tomato Shrimp Mold as the center of interest in a luncheon plate accompanied by chopped olive sandwiches and shoe string potatoes; or bring it to dinner with broccoli and new potatoes.

FOOD: You And The Beanstalk

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Beans are one of the best foods you can serve for thrifty meals because they are low in cost and plentiful in nutrients. They contain protein for body building, carbohydrate for energy and many of the vitamins and minerals needed for general good health.

Usually sold in one and two-pound packages, dried beans measure from 2 to 2¾ cups a pound—a handy fact to remember since recipes often state bean measurements in cups.

All ordinary dry beans should be washed well and any imperfect specimens discarded. Then they should be soaked overnight or at least five or six hours before cooking. Old-fashioned recipes suggest discarding the bean water but modern cooking practices suggest that the beans be cooked in the soaking water since nutrients released during soaking will be lost if this water is drained off. However, if the soaking water has more bean flavor than you think your family will enjoy, drain it off and cook the beans in fresh water.

The variety and age of the bean is also responsible for the cooking time; it may take from one to two hours. During the cooking it is important to keep the heat low and simmer rather than boil for the best-tasting and best-looking beans. The object is to keep them tender but unbroken. A little pot-watching is not amiss in cooking beans since a small amount of water may have to be added from time to time.

Limas are one of the most popular of dried beans and one of the best-liked ways to serve them is in a casserole. An easy way to do this is to put two cups of the cooked beans into a casserole and add a few tablespoons of finely cut or grated onion along with a cup of grated cheese and enough canned tomatoes to moisten. Extra flavor may be added with chopped pimento or green pepper. Strips of bacon may be put over the top of the casserole. The dish should then be baked in a moderate oven until the beans are heated through and the bacon crisped. For another delicious casserole use the recipe below.

Beans are a hearty addition to spring salads. Use them with diced cucumber and scallions on a bed of shredded lettuce or water cress If the cooked beans are marinated in a tangy French dressing before being mixed with other vegetables they will be particularly flavorful. I like to add a little mayonnaise to a salad of this sort just before serving—the combination of the vegetables and the two kinds of dressing (the French for marinating and the mayonnaise for garnishing) seem to be just right.

Another good-tasting salad combination is beans and raw apple sliced with the red skin on; the whole should be moistened with a mayonnaise-type salad dressing and served on a bed of spring greens.

BRAZILIAN LIMA BEANS

2 cups dried lima beans
2 teaspoons salt
1 quart water
1 cup ground ham
1 cup diced onions
1 clove garlic, minced
¼ cup bacon fat
1 cup tomato juice
1 cup tomato puree
2 teaspoons chili powder
2 teaspoons salt
½ cup grated cheese

Soak lima beans overnight. Add beans and two teaspoons salt to one quart water and cook beans slowly until tender. Drain. Brown ground ham, onions and garlic in bacon fat. Add tomato juice, tomato puree, chili powder and two teaspoons salt to ham mixture; cook together for five minutes. Pour cooked tomato sauce over cooked lima beans in a two-quart heat-resistant glass open baker. Sprinkle top with the grated cheese. Bake in a moderate (350° F.) oven for about 25 minutes or until thoroughly hot and cheese is melted. 6 to 8 servings.

Shrimp Popular In Spring Salads

Spring blushes delicately into blossom. Pink dogwood on the green slopes—pink apple blossoms in the orchards—pink buds on the tulip trees —and spring can bloom pink on your table, too, in the delicately rosy salads made with quick, canned shrimp!

A "natural" for the first salad meals of the season, canned shrimp has delicacy of flavor backed up by sturdy nutrition because this shellfish is a complete protein food, and therefore very much in order in spring main dishes. It comes to you with the "fuss and muss" deleted when canned shrimp is the kind you use. Cleaned, cooked, ready-to-use, you'll bless canned shrimp for being available again so that you can call on it to bring spring to your table in salads pretty as these:

Shrimp and Vegetable Salad

1 5-oz. can shrimp, drained
½ cup diced celery
¼ cup cooked green peas
1 cup cooked diced potatoes
½ teasp. finely minced onion
⅓ cup mayonnaise
1 tbsp. lemon juice
½ teasp. salt
Lettuce
2 tomatoes

Combine shrimp, celery, peas, potatoes and onion. Add mayonnaise, lemon juice and salt; toss together. Chill. Serve on crisp lettuce and garnish with tomato wedges. Yield: 4 servings.

Shrimp Tomato Mold

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold tomato juice
1¼ cups hot tomato juice
½ teasp. salt
1 teasp. horse-radish
1 tbsp. lemon juice
½ cup diced celery
2 tbsps. diced green pepper
1 5-oz. can shrimp, drained

Soften gelatine in cold tomato juice. Add hot tomato juice and stir until dissolved. Add salt, horse-radish and lemon juice. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Stir in remaining ingredients. Turn into large or individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold onto lettuce and serve with mayonnaise. Yield: 6 servings.

Serve this Tomato Shrimp Mold as the center of interest in a luncheon plate accompanied by chopped olive sandwiches and shoe string potatoes; or bring it to dinner with broccoli and new potatoes.

Corn Dumplings And Beef Stew Make Spring Meal

SPRINGTIME DINNER
Beef Stew With Corn Dumplings
Celery Hearts Radishes
Grapefruit Orange Surprise
Cookies Coffee

One peek under the lid of the kettle and the secret is out as the steaming essence of a well-flavored stew rushes forth. Even a "chops and steak" man will admit that "here is a dish that is a dish" when he tastes this richly flavored beef-vegetable stew topped with plump, tender corn dumplings. Stews are economical, easy to prepare, and literally bubbling with nourishment.

For time saving, the stew may be made in the morning or even the day before. But the dumplings aren't made until just before serving time. Making the dumplings is a simple matter and 30 minutes is ample time to make and cook them, too.

For dessert we have a recipe we call Grapefruit Orange Surprise. We didn't exactly know what to name it. It is a gelatin dessert made from blended grapefruit and orange juice and frozen in the ice tray. It isn't a sherbet nor is it a mousse, but is a little of each with a delicate texture and a refreshing flavor. We believe that you will consider it a real find when you try it. It may be served piled in sherbet glasses, or it combines very nicely with many fruits when served on dessert plates. This time of year market strawberries and canned sliced peaches are an excellent choice to serve with it.

MEAL CONTENTMENT-- Rich vegetable beef stew topped with fluffy, tender corn dumplings — and a new delightful dessert. A gelatin dessert made from grapefruit and orange juice blend is frozen in the ice tray. It is neither sherbet nor mousse, but a little of both with a delicate texture and a refreshing flavor. Here is is garnished with canned sliced peaches and strawberries.

VEGETABLE BEEF STEW WITH CORN DUMPLINGS

BEEF STEW

1 lb. beef chuck
Flour
1½ cups boiling water
5 whole peppers
1 bay leaf
1 tablespoon salt
3 medium size potatoes
6 small onions
1 No. 2 can mixed vegetables

CORN DUMPLINGS

1 cup sifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
1 cup whole kernel corn
1 egg
¾ cup milk

Fry out some of the beef fat in a heavy kettle. Cut the meat in 2 inch pieces; dredge heavily with flour, add to fat and cook until browned. Add water, spices and salt; cover and simmer gently until tender (about an hour). Remove bay leaf. Pare potatoes and cut into quarters; add with peeled onions to meat. Cook about 20 minutes, until done. Add canned vegetables with liquid. Bring to simmering temperature.

To make dumplings: Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening. Add drained corn. Combine well beaten egg and milk, stirring quickly into dry ingredients to make a soft dough. Drop mixture by tablespoonfuls on gently simmering stew. Cook covered for 20 minutes. Six servings.

GRAPEFRUIT ORANGE SURPRISE

2 tablespoons (2 envelopes) unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 No. 2 can orange and grapefruit juice
½ cup whipping cream

Soften gelatin in ½ cup water for 5 minutes. Combine remaining water with sugar and salt; bring to boiling point. Remove from heat, add softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add juice. Cool. Place in a freezing tray of a mechanical refrigerator. When slightly thickened, remove to a bowl and beat with a rotary beater. Fold in whipped cream and finish freezing. Six servings.

Honey Makes Good Wholesome Snack For Youngsters

To the child who is forced to stay at home though he is well on the road to recovery from an injury or illness, the day will seem long unless you organize for him a routine of well-spaced activities. Have a mid-morning or mid-afternoon snack time when with you, some other child in the family, or a friend can eat a simple, wholesome lunch. For such there is nothing better than a honey eggnog or some honey-spread sandwiches or honey cookies.

Honey satisfies a child's natural desire for sweets. Because the bacteria which causes diseases in human beings cannot grow in honey, it is a safe food. Its rich levulose and dextrose content provides quick energy without tax upon the digestive system and makes wholesome additions to the diet.

HONEY SANDWICH FILLINGS

Honey Butter

Blend ½ cup butter with ½ cup honey. Beat thoroughly. Store in refrigerator. If a thinner butter is desired use ¾ to 1 cup honey to ½ cup butter.

Variations

Use honey butter "as is" between slices of plain or raisin nut bread.

Add 1 tablespoon grated lemon or orange rind to 4 tablespoons honey butter.

Add chopped peanuts to honey butter.

Add raisins, apricots, or other dried fruits, chopped.

Add Chopped carrots.

Blend with same measure of peanut butter.

Blend with same measure of cream cheese.

CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

½ cup shortening
½ cup honey
1 small egg
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
½ cup semi-sweet chocolate chips
¼ cup nut meats, chopped

Cream shortening and honey until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Sift flour, baking powder, and salt twice. Add flour mixture to shortening mixture; add vanilla and blend all well. Fold in chocolate chips and nuts. Chill and drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cooky sheet. Bake at 375 for 12 minutes.

HONEY EGGNOG

4 to 6 egg yolks
4 tablespoons honey
4 cups milk
Nutmeg

Beat the yolks of eggs until lemon colored. Add honey and mix well. Add milk slowly. Fill glasses. Add a slight grating of nutmeg. Serve at once.

Corn Dumplings And Beef Stew Make Spring Meal

SPRINGTIME DINNER
Beef Stew With Corn Dumplings
Celery Hearts Radishes
Grapefruit Orange Surprise
Cookies Coffee

One peek under the lid of the kettle and the secret is out as the steaming essence of a well-flavored stew rushes forth. Even a "chops and steak" man will admit that "here is a dish that is a dish" when he tastes this richly flavored beef-vegetable stew topped with plump, tender corn dumplings. Stews are economical, easy to prepare, and literally bubbling with nourishment.

For time saving, the stew may be made in the morning or even the day before. But the dumplings aren't made until just before serving time. Making the dumplings is a simple matter and 30 minutes is ample time to make and cook them, too.

For dessert we have a recipe we call Grapefruit Orange Surprise. We didn't exactly know what to name it. It is a gelatin dessert made from blended grapefruit and orange juice and frozen in the ice tray. It isn't a sherbet nor is it a mousse, but is a little of each with a delicate texture and a refreshing flavor. We believe that you will consider it a real find when you try it. It may be served piled in sherbet glasses, or it combines very nicely with many fruits when served on dessert plates. This time of year market strawberries and canned sliced peaches are an excellent choice to serve with it.

MEAL CONTENTMENT— Rich vegetable beef stew topped with fluffy, tender corn dumplings — and a new delightful dessert. A gelatin dessert made from grapefruit and orange juice blend is frozen in the ice tray. It is neither sherbet nor mousse, but a little of both with a delicate texture and a refreshing flavor. Here is is garnished with canned sliced peaches and strawberries.

VEGETABLE BEEF STEW WITH CORN DUMPLINGS

BEEF STEW

1 lb. beef chuck
Flour
1½ cups boiling water
5 whole peppers
1 bay leaf
1 tablespoon salt
3 medium size potatoes
6 small onions
1 No. 2 can mixed vegetables

CORN DUMPLINGS

1 cup sifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
1 cup whole kernel corn
1 egg
¾ cup milk

Fry out some of the beef fat in a heavy kettle. Cut the meat in 2 inch pieces; dredge heavily with flour, add to fat and cook until browned. Add water, spices and salt; cover and simmer gently until tender (about an hour). Remove bay leaf. Pare potatoes and cut into quarters; add with peeled onions to meat. Cook about 20 minutes, until done. Add canned vegetables with liquid. Bring to simmering temperature.

To make dumplings: Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening. Add drained corn. Combine well beaten egg and milk, stirring quickly into dry ingredients to make a soft dough. Drop mixture by tablespoonfuls on gently simmering stew. Cook covered for 20 minutes. Six servings.

GRAPEFRUIT ORANGE SURPRISE

2 tablespoons (2 envelopes) unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 No. 2 can orange and grapefruit juice
½ cup whipping cream

Soften gelatin in ½ cup water for 5 minutes. Combine remaining water with sugar and salt; bring to boiling point. Remove from heat, add softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add juice. Cool. Place in a freezing tray of a mechanical refrigerator. When slightly thickened, remove to a bowl and beat with a rotary beater. Fold in whipped cream and finish freezing. Six servings.

Honey Makes Good Wholesome Snack For Youngsters

To the child who is forced to stay at home though he is well on the road to recovery from an injury or illness, the day will seem long unless you organize for him a routine of well-spaced activities. Have a mid-morning or mid-afternoon snack time when with you, some other child in the family, or a friend can eat a simple, wholesome lunch. For such there is nothing better than a honey eggnog or some honey-spread sandwiches or honey cookies.

Honey satisfies a child's natural desire for sweets. Because the bacteria which causes diseases in human beings cannot grow in honey, it is a safe food. Its rich levulose and dextrose content provides quick energy without tax upon the digestive system and makes wholesome additions to the diet.

HONEY SANDWICH FILLINGS

Honey Butter

Blend ½ cup butter with ½ cup honey. Beat thoroughly. Store in refrigerator. If a thinner butter is desired use ¾ to 1 cup honey to ½ cup butter.

Variations

Use honey butter "as is" between slices of plain or raisin nut bread.

Add 1 tablespoon grated lemon or orange rind to 4 tablespoons honey butter.

Add chopped peanuts to honey butter.

Add Chopped carrots.

Blend with same measure of peanut butter.

Blend with same measure of cream cheese.

CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

½ cup shortening
½ cup honey
1 small egg
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
½ cup semi-sweet chocolate chips
¼ cup nut meats, chopped

Cream shortening and honey until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Sift flour, baking powder, and salt twice. Add flour mixture to shortening mixture; add vanilla and blend all well. Fold in chocolate chips and nuts. Chill and drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cooky sheet. Bake at 375 for 12 minutes.

HONEY EGGNOG

4 to 6 egg yolks
4 tablespoons honey
4 cups milk
Nutmeg

Beat the yolks of eggs until lemon colored. Add honey and mix well. Add milk slowly. Fill glasses. Add a slight grating of nutmeg. Serve at once.

Custom Of Serving Cheddar Cheese From Board Is Old As Cheese Itself

The custom of serving fine cheddar cheese hospitably from a wooden board or tray is probably as old as cheddar itself. For several hundred years in England, the home of cheddar, such service has been the sign of the gracious host—and the pleased guest.

Few of the world's great cheese varieties have more numerous or ardent supporters than cheddar. Its mellow flavor, its distinctive texture, make an appeal to almost everyone, almost everywhere around the earth. It is the most popular of all cheese varieties in America—and made here in greatest volume.

For all those who love cheddar, there's a new treat in store—natural cheddar cheese, made with pasteurized milk, cured right in the attractive transparent wrapper it wears to your food store! That's something really new in cheese-making. And for you, it means natural cheddar, uniform in flavor, with just the texture you like.

There is no waste at all. Curing the cheese in its "go to market" wrapper does away with old-fashioned wasteful rind.

See the new cheddar in your food store in its whole ten-pound beauty. Your grocer will cut slices, squares or wedges—as you wish.

For a dessert both sophisticated and delicious—simple too—serve a board or tray of cheddar slices with crackers—a bowl of fruits—and coffee piping hot. It was the favorite dessert of rare Ben Jonson and his fellow wits at the old Inns of London. And it's still among the handsomest and most satisfying of final courses to a good dinner.

New "Sweet" Made With Bananas And Corn Flakes

Cross-country favorite for breakfast is corn flakes with sliced sweet, fully-ripe bananas—those that have yellow peel flecked with brown. When you find your family is "sold" on a combination like that, why not design a brand new dish using the same favorites? Do it cleverly as can be with a banana cream pie made in a corn flake pie crust! You can try the same trick with tarts, too, shaping the corn flake "pastry" mixture in your muffin pans, turning them out after chilling, and fill them as directed in the Banana Cream Pie recipe below.

Here follow the details of both the banana cream filling and the time-saving pie crust made with corn flakes.

Banana Cream Pie

½ cup sugar
5 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon butter
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
3 ripe bananas*
1 9-inch corn flake pie shell

*Use fully ripe bananas . . . yellow peel flecked with brown.

Combine sugar, flour and salt in top of double boiler. Add milk slowly, mixing thoroughly. Cook over rapidly boiling water until well thickened, stirring constantly. Cook 10 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Stir small amount of hot mixture into egg yolks; then pour back into remaining hot mixture while beating vigorously. Cook 1 minute longer. Remove from heat and add butter and vanilla. Cool. Peel and slice fully ripe bananas into corn flake crushed pie shell and cover immediately with filling. Top with meringue or sweetened whipped cream. Makes 1 pie.

Corn Flake Pastry

4 cups corn flakes
¼ cup butter
¼ cup sugar.

Roll or grind corn flakes to make 1 cup fine crumbs. Melt butter in 9-inch pie pan, add sugar and crumbs, and mix thoroughly. Press mixture evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of pan. Chill before adding filling. Yield: 1 9-inch pastry shell.

Strawberry Shortcake

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking podwer
1 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons butter
1 egg, well beaten.
⅓ cup milk
Sweetened sliced strawberries
Whipped cream

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cut in butter. Add combined egg and milk. Mix quickly.

Divide in half. Knead lightly on floured board. Roll to fit 9-inch cake pan.

Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for 20 to 25 minutes.

Separate layers. Spread bottom layer with butter. Put layers together with berries between and on top. Cover with cream. Six servings.

MAKE DESSERT-- Fine cheddar cheese served on a wooden board or tray has served as an excellent dessert for hundreds of years. With fruits and hot coffe, this simple cracker and cheese combination makes an immediate hit with guests. Now available at food stores is a new style and type of natural cheddar cheese which cures in its own wrapper and has no wasteful rind.

Breakfast Cereals Boast Excellent Nutrition

A planned breakfast follows a basic pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter, and contributes from one-fourth to one-third of the total daily nutritional needs at the morning meal. Imagine tucking into a cost of but 15c per person one-fourth to one-third of your daily needed nutrients! Best of all, this morning meal, though economical need never be drab or monotonous, because there are nearly two dozen different kinds of thrifty breakfast cereals to make a daily breakfast as delicious as it is kind to your budget.

Wouldn't be a bit surprised if you could afford that coveted new spring bonnet, once your planned breakfast program gets under way! Cheerful, too, is the fact that a planned breakfast saves you money not only in the morning but throughout the day, since those who breakfast well need not "stuff" at lunch, a meal composed of more costly foods. 'Tis always saving sense, too, to keep the family in good health, and a good breakfast first thing in the day is a sturdy asset toward that effort.

Wouldn't be a bit surprised if you could afford that coveted new spring bonnet, once your planned breakfast program gets under way! Cheerful, too, is the fact that a planned breakfast saves you money not only in the morning but throughout the day, since those who breakfast well need not "stuff" at lunch, a meal composed of more costly foods. 'Tis always saving sense, too, to keep the family in good health, and a good breakfast first thing in the day is a sturdy asset toward that effort.

Bank Robbers Are Seized, Loot Found

POUND, Va., April 15 (AP)—Three men were being held by police here tonight in connection with the robbery of $15,000 from the Peoples Bank here this noon.

Police identified the trio in custoday as Homer Bates, Wheelwright, Ky., wounded in the arm and abdomen and now in a "satisfactory" condition at a Norton hospital; Fred Blackburn, also of Wheelwright, and Newman Mullins, driver of a car Bates and Blackburn were said to have commandeered after the bank robbery.

Cashier Ed Barr revised earlier estimates of the amount taken from the bank tonight, setting the figure at $15,000. Earlier it had been believed that $45,000 to $50,000 had been taken.

The money, in two bags and a bundle of currency, was found in a rock quarry near here where Bates was captured. Buddy Mays, an insurance salesman from Coeburn, was credited with finding the cash as he and others assisted police in the search.

R. L. Lester, chief of police of Jenkins, Ky., said another sack of money had been found in Blackburn's car. All the money is now believed to have been recovered, police said.

The gunpoint holdup occurred as Cashier Barr was alone in the bank. Barr said he was forced into a vault and Lacy Collins, a customer, was brought into the vault after being knocked unconscious. Barr related that he "came out shooting" as the two armed men who had staged the robbery left.

U. S. Army Combat Units Will Train In Alaska

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — The Army announced today it is sending an unspecified number of combat units to Alaska "shortly to undergo summer training."

The units will go from the West Coast and Hawaii. The Army said they will include combat ground troops—of which Alaska has none now.

Growing attention has been given lately to the strategic position of Alaska, the United States' closest area to Russia. Rep. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) has reported that Russian planes have "violated" Alaskan skies; Publisher William L. Baker, Ketchikan, Alaska, supported her statement today. Air Force headquarters in Washington and the Army command in Alaska said they had received no report of Russian activity over Alaska.

What Happened

what happened in Bogota will happen in the streets of American cities unless we wage an all-out fight against Communism now.

Warnings Came In January

Hillenkoetter told a special House subcommittee that intelligence reports beginning last January gave a warning that trouble was afoot.

But the message that told of possible danger to Marshall, he said, was not relayed to the State Department—on the advice, said the Admiral, of a State Department advance man in Bogota.

Hillenkotetter identified the official as O. J. Libert.

But the State Department said Libert was a "very junior" employe with duties more or less of a housekeeping nature. Press Officer Lincoln White said it seemed inconceivable that he would have jurisdiction to tell the Central Intelligence Agency that a message should be withheld.

The CIO message on the subject said Libert didn't think it advisable to relay the warning about Marshall because he felt there was adequate police protection and he didn't want to alarm the delegates unduly.

End of Strike Announced

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 15 (AP) —The Colombian Workers Confederation announced late today the end of a nation wide general strike which paralleled the weekend's bloody revolution.

The strike was called last Friday to protest the assassination of Liberal Party Leader Jorge Eliecer Gaitan, who was shot earlier the same day. The shooting also touched off an insurrection and rioting which caused about 300 deaths.

A confederation spokesman said union chiefs met today with the Liberal Party leadership and agreed to give full support to Dario Eschandia, a Liberal who was taken into Conservative President Mariano Ospino Perez' cabinet as minister of government (interior).

Dircks To Make His 5th Start In Local Ring

Billy Is Favorite Over Knepp Monday

Billy Dircks, the Twenty-ninth Division's heavyweight ace, will make his fifth start since returning from overseas when he tangles with Ed Knepp, of Lewistown, Pa., in the five round feature match of the Royale Athletic Club's amateur boxing show Monday at the State Armory.

The 235-pound local battler is hitting .750 to date with three wins and one loss and the wise money seems to favor him "taking" Knepp in Monday's show.

Dircks will outweigh Knepp by a good margin and he'll have height and reach on the Keystone Stater. Billy looms as a better all-around boxer and hitter as well.

In 1946 after his return to this country, Dircks belted out Dave Kidsey, negro fighter of the Moon Crest A. C., of Coraopolis, Pa. Then he flattened Frank Metz, local novice, in short order. In his third start Billy was outpointed by the clever George Zivic of McKeesport, Pa.

Billy's last bout was on June 30, 1947 when he whipped Jimmie Wilson of McKeesport.

All of Dircks' bouts with the exception of the first one headlined Royale A. C. cards.

Knepp has figured in three matches here, all against novices. The Lewistown 205-pounder stopped Johnny Tressler, local heavy and Johnny Bobbit of Potomac State School, Keyser, then decisioned Bill Stultz of Westernport.

Matchmaker Presley W. "Red" Mauk hopes to have his card of eight matches completed by Sunday night.

For one of the supporting bouts to the Dircks-Knepp battle, Mauk hopes to match Jake Koelker, local featherweight star, with Jim Folk, of Grantsville, who stopped Billy Wilson of Georgtown, D. C., in two heats on Monday night.

Monday's show will get under way at 8 o'clock.

Boxing Show Set For Bloomington

Goss And Powell Head Firemen's Card Apr. 21

Amateur boxing will branch out into Garrett county on Wednesday, April 21 when the Bloomington Volunteer Fire Company will present an A.A.U. sanctioned show at the fire company hall.

Presley W. "Red" Mauk of Cumberland will be the matchmaker.

In the feature go Bobby Goss, Royale A. C. flyweight of Cumberland, will oppose Junior Powell of the Eckhart (Md.) Athletic Club.

A program of eight bouts is planned.

Thomas Kiddy, Sr., will be one of the judges, Mike Botamino will be the timer and Dr. P. E. Berry will be the examining physician for all boxers on the card. Another judge is to be selected.

Reserved seats may be purchased at the Devon Club, Luke; O'Laughlin's and Burns taverns in Westernport and the Pattison Service Station, Luke.

DUCKWORTH TO PILOT NARROWS PARK TEAM

Charley Duckworth, the big right hander who pitched winning ball for the old Liberty Athletic Club baseball team back in the 1920's, plans to essay a comeback this season—but it will be in the role of manager of the Narrows Park softball team of the County League.

The old "Bear Hunter" will take over Sunday when he will meet members of the team at 12:30 p. m., before leaving for Wellersburg where the Parkers will play an exhibition game.

Next week Narrows Park plays exhibition games with the V. F. W. on Monday at 5:30 on Rolling Mill Field, Tuesday with the Corner Merchants at 5:30 at the Park and Wednesday at Bedford Road at 5:30.

The league season will get under way April 27.

Fort Hill Will Play Four Games Next Week

Fort Hill High School's baseball team has a busy week ahead.

The opening contest with the Alumni, originally scheduled for today, has been postponed until Tuesday on account of wet grounds.

On Wednesday the Sentinels will play at Paw Paw, Friday Central of Lonaconing will be met in the Bi-State Conference opener here while on Saturday (May 24) Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's tossers will play Williamsport High School at Williamsport, Md.

PROMOTER RESPONDS TO ILLINOIS' BRAIN TEST FOR FIGHTERS

CHICAGO, April 15 (INS)—The newly-amended Illinois boxing law, which requires, among other things, a brain test for all fighters is having tough sledding.

"Brain test!" shrieked Promoter Jack Begun today, "none of my fighters got brains!"

Several fighters reportedly have refused to have their brains tested.

All University of Maryland football games at Griffith Stadium this season will be broadcast and televised. The Terp games will also be broadcast back to this area when they are on the road.

Orioles To Take Al Rosen's Case To Commissioner

Baltimore Is Irked By Tribe's Action

BALTIMORE, April 15 (AP)—The working agreement between the Baltimore Orioles and the Cleveland Indians didn't seem to be working today and manager Tommy Thomas threatened to take it up with Commissioner Happy Chandler.

The Oriole pilot was steamed up over Cleveland's option of infielder Al Rosen to Kansas City.

"We have counted on Rosen from the beginning,' Thomas said. "The action of optioning the player elsewhere without even consulting us is shocking."

Thomas said the agreement between the International League club and the American League team states clearly that Baltimore has "first claim on any and all players to be optioned" by the Indians.

The Baltimore manager said the Rosen transfer was the second contrary to the agreement.

"This follows the optioning of Pitcher Ed Garcia to Oklahoma City, another player we figured on, about which we knew nothing until the deal had been completed," he said.

"So now I intend to oppose the Rosen case, and if necessary, take it to Commissioner Chandler." His first protest will be to Bill Veeck, president of Cleveland, Thomas said.

Rosen, who hit .349 for Oklahoma City last year, was named the most valuable player in the Texas League. He was sent to Kansas City, a New York Yankee farm, to complete a deal for pitcher Charley Wensloff. The Indians bought Wensloff Monday after he was returned to the New Yorkers by the Philadelphia Phillies.

Manager Thomas, meanwhile, cut six players from his roster today. Pitcher Dick Baxter went to Harrisburg, Catcher Arnold Fischer to Burlington, Pitcher Joe Payne to Dayton, Pitcher Vernon Taylor to Wilkesbarre, outfielder Larry Rowe to Spartanburg, and Pitcher George Cave to Birmingham.

John Michelosen Named To Succeed 'Jock' Sutherland

Gets 2-Year Contract As Coach Of Steelers

PITTSBURGH, April 15 (AP) — Johnny Michelosen has agreed to succeed his late friend and mentor, the late Dr. John B. (Jock) Sutherland, as head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

At 32, Jock's former first assistant, will be the youngest head tutor in the National Football League. He said he would sign a two-year contract, terms of which were not revealed.

Sutherland died Sunday following two emergency operations for removal of a brain tumor. His death climaxed one of the most successful football coaching careers on the American gridiron.

Michelosen, as a player and as Sutherland's top assistant, helped the taciturn Scot achieve some of his most outstanding successes—in both collegiate and pro ranks.

The new coach played varsity football at the University of Pittsburgh in the 1935-36-37 seasons. The next year, Sutherland's last season at Pitt, he was an assistant coach. Sutherland quit after the university adopted a "de-emphasis" program. Michelosen followed suit.

Two years later Sutherland entered pro football as coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers, then in the National Football League. Michelosen joined him and both stayed in Brooklyn two seasons. Both joined the navy in World War II.

Michelosen served as an athletic instructor and was not discharged until 1945. A year later, when Sutherland accepted the head coaching post of the Steelers, Steelers, Michelosen was again at his side as first assistant. He occupied the same capacity last season.

Sutherland had a five-year contract due to expire in 1951. Many persons had expected Sutherland to retire then, handing over the reins to Michelosen. Sutherland once was quoted as saying to his assistant: "You know as much about football as I do."

Michelosen is a native of Ambridge, Pa. Married, he is the father of two children.

Southern Association Opens Season Today

[By The Associated Press]

Eight Southern Association baseball clubs, stronger for the most part than last season, are poised today (Friday) for the 48th annual race that ends with the Shaughnessy playoff and the Dixie series.

Some 42,000 fans are expected to be on hand for the openers which will see Birmingham playing at Atlanta, Little Rock at Memphis, Mobile at New Orleans and Chattanooga at Nashville.

After the openers the teams will take Saturday off and then pitch into doubleheaders Sunday. Monday will be another off day to permit the teams to swap towns. Pairings will remain the same.

Several Evitts Creek Anglers Get Creel Limit On First Day

Jerry Lowery, 5, Lands 12 Inch Brown Trout

Evitts Creek proved to be the best fishing stream in Western Maryland yesterday as the three months' trout season got under way.

In spite of the swollen condition of the stream it was in fair fishing condition and approximately 300 anglers from the vicinity of Cumberland took several hundred trout.

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, reported three anglers caught their creel limit by early afternoon, the lucky anglers being Ray Rodenhauser, 418 Central Avenue; Arthur Windemuth, Chestnut Street, and Ray Selby, Route 2, Cumberland. One of Windemuth's trout was a 14 inch brown.

Jerry Lowery, 5-year-old son of Lambert Lowery, Cresaptown, fishing with his father, caught a 12 inch brown trout. The boy hooked it without any help from his father.

A number of the trout caught were nicely colored which indicates they were left over from last year. None of the trout stocked this year were larger than 12 inches. A number caught were 12 to 14 inches.

Minke counted 228 anglers on the creek durng the day.

Only a few fishermen were on Flintstone Creek due to unfavorable conditions. A few, however, reported good catches.

Bear Creek and Savage river in Garrett county were very high and very cloudy and anglers reported poor catches. These streams were heavily stocked and should provide some good fiishing over the weekend when conditions should be much better.

Clingan Twirls Locals To 6-1 Win At Romney

Silents Battle AHS Here Today At 4 P.M.

Jim Clingan pitched shutout ball for five innings yesterday as Allegany High School marked the opening of the baseball season with a 6 to 1 triumph over the West Virginia School for the Deaf at Romney.

The tall right-hander mowed down 11 batsmen on strikes and gave up only three hits during the five frames he toiled on the hillock. Bob Johnson, a lefthander, who pitched the sixth inning, yielded the lone run. Dick Jamison hurled the last frame for Coach Hubert Radcliffe's aggregation.

Wilbur Asbury went the route for the Silents and was nicked for eight safeties by Captain Jimmie Lease and his crew. Earl "Lefty" Bruce garnered three of the AHS hits. Hamilton accounted for two of the Romney team's five blows. The only extra base wallops were two-baggers by See and Lease of Allegany.

Asbury struck out 15 batsmen.

The automobile concern also will give a large trophy to the victor.

The University of Maryland boxing team may meet the University of Hawaii in Honolulu next year according to Heinie Miller, Terp mentor.

NOMINATED — Lou Brissie, above, courageous athlete of 1947 and war-battered hero, who won 23 and lost 5 for Savannah last year, has been named by Manager Connie Mack to hurl the afternoon game of the twin bill with the Boston Red Sox on Monday in Boston. Phil Marchildon will pitch for the A's in the morning game.

Two Pennant Races

NO. ONE—THE AMERICAN LEAGUE
No. 1 The New York Yankees.
No. 2 The Boston Red Sox.
No. 3 The Detroit Tigers.
No. 4 The Cleveland Indians.
No. 5 The Philadelphia Athletics.
No. 6 Browns, White Sox and Senators, neck and neck for last place.

The Yankees, under the sound leadership of Bucky Harris, are picked to repeat for one solid reason —they look to be the most solid all-around team in the race.

April buds and blossoms are a far cry from the yellow and crimson leaves of late September, so in making a selection one must gamble with fate and the fortunes of war, the breaks of the game, through the five-and-a-half months on beyond.

The Red Sox are as good as the Yankees, perhaps a shade better, up to the important matter of pitching and strong reserves.

The Tigers have the better pitching — and might win through the right and left arms Steve O'Neill can throw again the enemy. But the Tigers have neither an infield nor an outfield to match either the Yankees or the Red Sox.

Cleveland's improved Indians still belong in fourth place as Connie Mack's Athletics have a death grip on the top of the second division.

The White Sox, Senators and Browns are strictly minor league clubs who have no place in a big league. They hardly belong in a class Double-A.

They are to live or make money on the four strong clubs where, on their own, they couldn't draw 300,000 people. They are the league's chiselers. They should offer a spectacular battle for last place in the dizzy dip to the subway title. So we can forget about them as busy brooms-men sweep away the debris.

But the first division race should be something to follow with baseball's highest-priced stars in action —Bob Feller, Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio. They draw double the money paid to any three stars in the older circuit where they are more careful of their cash. Especially Brooklyn.

A First Division Fight

The Yankees are not an overpowering team. They are only fair back of the bat. They have only a fair offensive infield. But they have a great outfield, possibly better than the Red Sox collection. DiMaggio, Henrich, Keller and Lindell are something to cheer about.

Better than Williams, Dom DiMaggio and Mele? I think so. A sounder outfield.

The Yankee infield lacks the power of the Red Sox group. The Yankees have no one to hit with Pesky, Doerr and Stephens. So it all gets down to the pitching. Dobson this spring matched anything the Yankees had. Harris was good. Hughson remained a doubt.

The Red Sox have no staff to stand against Reynolds, Shea, Lopat, Embree, Raschi and one or two more. Joe McCarthy will have to reach into a tall hat and drag out some phenomenal rabbits to complete his pitching staff.

When you ask Joe about it, his answer is a set formula: "Let me worry about that." We'll let Joe worry about that, and he'll spend many a sleepless night.

In addition to a big edge in pitching the Yankees have another margin that throws a heavy shadow over the Red Sox entourage. This is the matter of reserve strength. The Red Sox have no such ballplayer as Bobby Brown for the infield—or Johnny Lindell for the outfield.

Here are two men who can step into anyone's shoes—and look as able as the regular. Brown is certainly as good as any infielder Bucky Harris has. Possibly just a bit better. Lindell is on a par with any Yankee outfielder, barring only Joe DiMaggio.

It must be admitted that the Yankees handled Spud Chandler crudely. Only Brooklyn could have been as bad. It was not a typical Yankee action. Chandler deserved a fairer deal. At least one not quite so abrupt.

The Tigers remain the mystery team of the league. They have the best pitching in baseball, not even barring the Cardinals. Outside of their pitching, they have just another ball club—a weak big league infield —and only a fair outfield.

Apparently the Tigers have an outfield with little ambition, especially Wakefield. Wakefield is physically equipped to be a star. He has never been even close to stardom. He has been an ordinary outfielder, and no better than an ordinary hitter. Wakefield drew a $52,000 bonus which should have been about $50,000 less.

Back in 1906, I saw the White Sox pitching staff carry their Hitless Wonders, team average .228, to a pennant and a world series.

In 1914, I saw Rudolph, Tyler and James do the same for the Braves. Neither had a pitching staff to compare with Newhouser, Trout, Trucks, Houtteman and Hutchinson. The Tigers can win with no heavy shock to the April dope. They will be well worth watching.

But the Yankees still get the call.

BALTIMORE BULLETS TOP WARRIORS, 72-70

BALTIMORE, April 15. (AP)—Player-Coach Buddy Jeannette shot a goal in the final 10 seconds of play tonight to give the Baltimore Bullets a 72-70 win over the Philadelphia Warriors in the third game of the Basketball Association of America's final playoff series.

Baltimore now leads, two games to one, in the four out of seven series. Another contest will be played here Saturday night.

Jeannette's game-winning basket came on a layup shot after he took a rifle-like pass from center Kleggie Hermsen.

The Bullets were leading 70-69 with 22 seconds remaining, but Howie Dallmar sank a foul to pull Philadelphia even.

Injuries Plague Big League Clubs As Openers Near

Berra, Edwards, Doerr Listed As Casualties

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Major league managers, alarmed over the recent wave of injuries to key players, today were anxiously counting the days before the official opening of the season. It simply can't start soon enough to please them.

At least six top flight performers appear certain to be among the missing from the startling lineups when the National and American leagues get under way next Monday and Tuesday.

The injury jinx has played no favorites. It has hit the high and the low alike. Both the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, last year's world series rivals, will make their 1948 bow minus their No. 1 catcher.

Larry (Yogi) Berra, who was expected to handle the catching duties on opening day in Washington Monday, instead will be sitting on the sidelines with a split hand. He injured his mitt while attempting to catch a foul ball in an exhibition game early this week. Gus Niarhos, young hopeful from Kansas City, will do the honors instead.

Hodges To Get Call

The Dodgers' world series catcher, Bruce Edwards, also will see the opener from a cozy spot on the bench. A constant sore arm threatens the sturdy receiver's immediate future. He will be replaced by young Gil Hodges, when the National League Champions invade the Polo Grounds for the curtain-raiser on Tuesday.

The Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Cardinals, generally regarded as the most dangerous challengers of the Yankees and Dodgers, also are faced with an injury problem.

The Red Sox mostly likely will be without the services of second baseman Bobby Doerr. The infielder suffered a back sprain during a batting practice session two weeks ago and still cannot swing a bat without pains in his shoulders. Manager Joe McCarthy plans to use rookie Billy Goodman in Doerr's place.

The Cardinals, besides worrying over the condition of ace southpaw Howie Pollet's pitching arm, are still uncertain of Marty Marion's physical condition. The lanky shortstop's knee caved in on him during an exhibition game two weeks ago. Although he has seen sporadic service since then, none is certain whether he will be able to play nine innings next Tuesday against Cincinnati.

The Giants, who last year were forced to open the season without outfielder Whitey Lockman, again will start without a key man. This time it is second baseman Billy Rigney who will be missing. Rigney, bothered by an ailing arm, will be out of action for at least six weeks. His place will be taken by utility man Jackie Conway.

Greenburg To Play

An injury to first baseman Ed Robinson of Cleveland, has forced Hank Greenberg to vacate his softcushioned seat in the vice-president's office for a hard one on the Indians' bench. Big Hank will play the bag at least until Robinson recovers from an injury to his right leg.

Others who have been sidelined by injuries or sickness recently and whose opening day status is doubtful include Ted Williams, Dom DiMaggio and Tex Hughson, Red Sox; Frank Papish, Chicago White Sox; Bill Bevens and Charlie Keller, Yankees; Ferris Fain, Bob Savage and Dick Fowler, Philadelphia Athletics; Gil Coan, Washington Senators; Warren Spahn, Boston Braves; Buddy Kerr, Giants, Joe Garagoila, Cardinals; Harry Taylor, Dodgers and Bob Chesnes, Pittsbufgh.

Williams, of course, had that widely publicized appendicitis attack; Dom DiMaggio has been bothered by sore feet; Papish is recovering from an arm operation; Bevens, Fowler, Savage, Taylor and Chesnes have sore arms; Coan has a sprained ankle; Kerr was beaned yesterday; Spahn tore some shoulder tissues when struck by a line drive last Monday, and Garagiola's throwing arm is out of kilter.

Moose Will Meet

The Loyal Order of Moose baseball team will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Moose Home.

Frank Simpson's 375 High In State Test

The Fort Hill Rifle Club, firing a postal match in the NRA Gallery League finals, tallied a team score of 1,460 points to bid for the Maryand State Gallery League Championship. Frank Simpson made high individual total of 375 points over the two position 40 shot course.

The scores will be reported to NRA headquarters in Washington for final tabulation by Harry Morgan, who acted as Official Referee. Fort Hill's opponents in this match are the championship rifle teams in the National Capital Rifle League A and National Capital Rifle League B, of Hyattsville, and the Baltimore Rifle and Pistol League, of Baltimore. The scores fired by these teams and the standings in the state and national finals will be known in the next two weeks.

	Prone I.	Prone II.	Stand I.	Stand II.	Tot.
G. Frank Simpson	99	99	87	90	375

William E. Elgin	99	99	86	85	369
W. Charles Simpson	99	98	83	64	344
Team Total					1460

Fort Hill topped the other six clubs in the Western Maryland Rifle League by copping 10 matches out of 12, thus winning the opportunity to represent the Western Maryland League in the state shoot-off.

Competitors making up the Fort Hill team were selected from those posting the highest seasonal averages for the club. Eligibility was determined on the basis of members having fired in at least six of the twelve matches during the past gallery league season.

Allegany And Kitzmiller Capture Opening Games

Dircks To Make His 5th Start In Local Ring

Billy Is Favorite Over Knepp Monday

Billy Dircks, the Twenty-ninth Division's heavyweight ace, will make his fifth start since returning from overseas when he tangles with Ed Knepp, of Lewistown, Pa., in the five round feature match of the Royale Athletic Club's amateur boxing show Monday at the State Armory.

The 235-pound local battler is hitting .750 to date with three wins and one loss and the wise money seems to favor him "taking" Knepp in Monday's show.

Dircks will outweigh Knepp by a good margin and he'll have height and reach on the Keystone Stater. Billy looms as a better all-around boxer and hitter as well.

In 1946 after his return to this country, Dircks belted out Dave Kidsey, negro fighter of the Moon Crest A. C., of Coraopolis, Pa. Then he flattened Frank Metz, local novice, in short order. In his third start Billy was outpointed by the clever George Zivic of McKeesport, Pa.

Billy's last bout was on June 30, 1947 when he whipped Jimmie Wilson of McKeesport.

All of Dircks' bouts with the exception of the first one headlined Royale A. C. cards.

Knepp has figured in three matches here, all against novices. The Lewistown 205-pounder stopped Johnny Tressler, local heavy and Johnny Bobbit of Potomac State School, Keyser, then decisioned Bill Stultz of Westernport.

Matchmaker Presley W. "Red" Mauk hopes to have his card of eight matches completed by Sunday night.

For one of the supporting bouts to the Dircks-Knepp battle, Mauk hopes to match Jake Koelker, local featherweight star, with Jim Folk, of Grantsville, who stopped Billy Wilson of Georgtown, D. C., in two heats on Monday night.

Monday's show will get under way at 8 o'clock.

Two Pennant Races

NO. ONE—THE AMERICAN LEAGUE
No. 1 The New York Yankees.
No. 2 The Boston Red Sox.
No. 3 The Detroit Tigers.
No. 4 The Cleveland Indians.
No. 5 The Philadelphia Athletics.
No. 6 Browns, White Sox and Senators, neck and neck for last place.

The Yankees, under the sound leadership of Bucky Harris, are picked to repeat for one solid reason —they look to be the most solid all-around team in the race.

April buds and blossoms are a far cry from the yellow and crimson leaves of late September, so in making a selection one must gamble with fate and the fortunes of war, the breaks of the game, through the five-and-a-half months on beyond.

The Red Sox are as good as the Yankees, perhaps a shade better, up to the important matter of pitching and strong reserves.

The Tigers have the better pitching — and might win through the right and left arms Steve O'Neill can throw again the enemy. But the Tigers have neither an infield nor an outfield to match either the Yankees or the Red Sox.

Cleveland's improved Indians still belong in fourth place as Connie Mack's Athletics have a death grip on the top of the second division.

The White Sox, Senators and Browns are strictly minor league clubs who have no place in a big league. They hardly belong in a class Double-A.

They are to live or make money on the four strong clubs where, on their own, they couldn't draw 300,000 people. They are the league's chiselers. They should offer a spectacular battle for last place in the dizzy dip to the subway title. So we can forget about them as busy brooms-men sweep away the debris.

But the first division race should be something to follow with baseball's highest-priced stars in action —Bob Feller, Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio. They draw double the money paid to any three stars in the older circuit where they are more careful of their cash. Especially Brooklyn.

A First Division Fight

The Yankees are not an overpowering team. They are only fair back of the bat. They have only a fair offensive infield. But they have a great outfield, possibly better than the Red Sox collection. DiMaggio, Henrich, Keller and Lindell are something to cheer about.

Better than Williams, Dom DiMaggio and Mele? I think so. A sounder outfield.

The Yankee infield lacks the power of the Red Sox group. The Yankees have no one to hit with Pesky, Doerr and Stephens. So it all gets down to the pitching. Dobson this spring matched anything the Yankees had. Harris was good. Hughson remained a doubt.

The Red Sox have no staff to stand against Reynolds, Shea, Lopat, Embree, Raschi and one or two more. Joe McCarthy will have to reach into a tall hat and drag out some phenomenal rabbits to complete his pitching staff.

When you ask Joe about it, his answer is a set formula: "Let me worry about that." We'll let Joe worry about that, and he'll spend many a sleepless night.

In addition to a big edge in pitching the Yankees have another margin that throws a heavy shadow over the Red Sox entourage. This is the matter of reserve strength. The Red Sox have no such ballplayer as Bobby Brown for the infield—or Johnny Lindell for the outfield.

Here are two men who can step into anyone's shoes—and look as able as the regular. Brown is certainly as good as any infielder Bucky Harris has. Possibly just a bit better. Lindell is on a par with any Yankee outfielder, barring only Joe DiMaggio.

It must be admitted that the Yankees handled Spud Chandler crudely. Only Brooklyn could have been as bad. It was not a typical Yankee action. Chandler deserved a fairer deal. At least one not quite so abrupt.

The Tigers remain the mystery team of the league. They have the best pitching in baseball, not even barring the Cardinals. Outside of their pitching, they have just another ball club—a weak big league infield —and only a fair outfield.

Apparently the Tigers have an outfield with little ambition, especially Wakefield. Wakefield is physically equipped to be a star. He has never been even close to stardom. He has been an ordinary outfielder, and no better than an ordinary hitter. Wakefield drew a $52,000 bonus which should have been about $50,000 less.

Back in 1906, I saw the White Sox pitching staff carry their Hitless Wonders, team average .228, to a pennant and a world series.

In 1914, I saw Rudolph, Tyler and James do the same for the Braves. Neither had a pitching staff to compare with Newhouser, Trout, Trucks, Houtteman and Hutchinson. The Tigers can win with no heavy shock to the April dope. They will be well worth watching.

But the Yankees still get the call.

BALTIMORE BULLETS TOP WARRIORS, 72-70

BALTIMORE, April 15, (AP)—Player-Coach Buddy Jeannette shot a goal in the final 10 seconds of play tonight to give the Baltimore Bullets a 72-70 win over the Philadelphia Warriors in the third game of the Basketball Association of America's final playoff series.

Baltimore now leads, two games to one, in the four out of seven series. Another contest will be played here Saturday night.

Rain washed out two previous games scheduled by the local schools.

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Major league managers, alarmed over the recent wave of injuries to key players, today were anxiously counting the days before the official opening of the season. It simply can't start soon enough to please them.

At least six top flight performers appear certain to be among the missing from the startling lineups when the National and American leagues get under way next Monday and Tuesday.

The injury jinx has played no favorites. It has hit the high and the low alike. Both the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, last year's world series rivals, will make their 1948 bow minus their No. 1 catcher.

Larry (Yogi) Berra, who was expected to handle the catching duties on opening day in Washington Monday, instead will be sitting on the sidelines with a split hand. He injured his mitt while attempting to catch a foul ball in an exhibition game early this week. Gus Niarhos, young hopeful from Kansas City, will do the honors instead.

Hodges To Get Call

The Dodgers' world series catcher, Bruce Edwards, also will see the opener from a cozy spot on the bench. A constant sore arm threatens the sturdy receiver's immediate future. He will be replaced by young Gil Hodges, when the National League Champions invade the Polo Grounds for the curtain-raiser on Tuesday.

The Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Cardinals, generally regarded as the most dangerous challengers of the Yankees and Dodgers, also are faced with an injury problem.

The Red Sox mostly likely will be without the services of second baseman Bobby Doerr. The infielder suffered a back sprain during a batting practice session two weeks ago and still cannot swing a bat without pains in his shoulders. Manager Joe McCarthy plans to use rookie Billy Goodman in Doerr's place.

The Cardinals, besides worrying over the condition of ace southpaw Howie Pollet's pitching arm, are still uncertain of Marty Marion's physical condition. The lanky shortstop's knee caved in on him during an exhibition game two weeks ago. Although he has seen sporadic service since then, none is certain whether he will be able to play nine innings next Tuesday against Cincinnati.

The Giants, who last year were forced to open the season without outfielder Whitey Lockman, again will start without a key man. This time it is second baseman Billy Rigney who will be missing. Rigney, bothered by an ailing arm, will be out of action for at least six weeks. His place will be taken by utility man Jackie Conway.

Greenburg To Play

An injury to first baseman Ed Robinson of Cleveland, has forced Hank Greenberg to vacate his softcushioned seat in the vice-president's office for a hard one on the Indians' bench. Big Hank will play the bag at least until Robinson recovers from an injury to his right leg.

Others who have been sidelined by injuries or sickness recently and whose opening day status is doubtful include Ted Williams, Dom DiMaggio and Tex Hughson, Red Sox; Frank Papish, Chicago White Sox; Bill Bevens and Charlie Keller, Yankees; Ferris Fain, Bob Savage and Dick Fowler, Philadelphia Athletics; Gil Coan, Washington Senators; Warren Spahn, Boston Braves; Buddy Kerr, Giants, Joe Garagiola, Cardinals; Harry Taylor, Dodgers and Bob Chesnes, Pittsburgh.

Williams, of course, had that widely publicized appendicitis attack; Dom DiMaggio has been bothered by sore feet; Papish is recovering from an arm operation; Bevens, Fowler, Savage, Taylor and Chesnes have sore arms; Coan has a sprained ankle; Kerr was beaned yesterday; Spahn tore some shoulder tissues when struck by a line drive last Monday, and Garagiola's throwing arm is out of kilter.

Fort Hill Gunners Score 1,460 Points

Frank Simpson's 375 High In State Test

The Fort Hill Rifle Club, firing a postal match in the NRA Gallery League finals, tallied a team score of 1,460 points to bid for the Maryland State Gallery League Championship. Frank Simpson made high individual total of 375 points over the two position 40 shot course.

The scores will be reported to NRA headquarters in Washington for final tabulation by Harry Morgan, who acted as Official Referee. Fort Hill's opponents in this match are the championship rifle teams in the National Capital Rifle League A and National Capital Rifle League B, of Hyattsville, and the Baltimore Rifle and Pistol League, of Baltimore. The scores fired by these teams and the standings in the state and national finals will be known in the next two weeks.

	Prone I.	Stand I.	Tot. I.
G. Frank Simpson	99	87	90—375
Norman O. White	100	99	85 88—372
William E. Elgin	99	99	86 85—369
W. Charles Simpson	99	98	83 64—344
Team Total			1460

Fort Hill topped the other six clubs in the Western Maryland Rifle League by copping 10 matches out of 12, thus winning the opportunity to represent the Western Maryland League in the state shoot-off.

Competitors making up the Fort Hill team were selected from those posting the highest seasonal averages for the club. Eligibility was determined on the basis of members having fired in at least six of the twelve matches during the past gallery league season.

Ferriss Beats Orioles, Redlegs Trim Syracuse

Chicago's Cubs beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 6 to 4.

Grady Hatton walloped a home run as the Cincinnati Reds downed Syracuse, 8 to 6.

Washington's Senators finally won a ball game, beating the Phillies, 6 to 3. Pittsburgh outslugged the Chicago White Sox, 9 to 5, and the St. Louis Browns drubbed Texarkana, 10 to 5.

Orioles To Take Al Rosen's Case To Commissioner

Baltimore Is Irked By Tribe's Action

BALTIMORE, April 15 (AP)—The working agreement between the Baltimore Orioles and the Cleveland Indians didn't seem to be working today and manager Tommy Thomas threatened to take it up with Commissioner Happy Chandler.

The Oriole pilot was steamed up over Cleveland's option of infielder Al Rosen to Kansas City.

"We have counted on Rosen from the beginning," Thomas said. "The action of optioning the player elsewhere without even consulting us is shocking."

Thomas said the agreement between the International League club and the American League team states clearly that Baltimore has "first claim on any and all players to be optioned" by the Indians.

The Baltimore manager said the Rosen transfer was the second contrary to the agreement.

"This follows the optioning of Pitcher Ed Garcia to Oklahoma City, another player we figured on, about which we knew nothing until the deal had been completed," he said.

"So now I intend to oppose the Rosen case, and if necessary, take it to Commissioner Chandler." His first protest will be to Bill Veeck, president of Cleveland, Thomas said.

Rosen, who hit .349 for Oklahoma City last year, was named the most valuable player in the Texas League. He was sent to Kansas City, a New York Yankee farm, to complete a deal for pitcher Charley Wensloff. The Indians bought Wensloff Monday after he was returned to the New Yorkers by the Philadelphia Phillies.

Manager Thomas, meanwhile, cut six players from his roster today. Pitcher Dick Baxter went to Harrisburg, Catcher Arnold Fischer to Burlington, Pitcher Joe Payne to Dayton, Pitcher Vernon Taylor to Wilkesbarre, outfielder Larry Rowe to Spartanburg, and Pitcher George Cave to Birmingham.

John Michelosen Named To Succeed 'Jock' Sutherland

Gets 2-Year Contract As Coach Of Steelers

PITTSBURGH, April 15 (AP) — Johnny Michelosen has agreed to succeed his late friend and mentor, the late Dr. John B. (Jock) Sutherland, as head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

At 32, Jock's former first assistant, will be the youngest head tutor in the National Football League. He said he would sign a two-year contract, terms of which were not revealed.

Sutherland died Sunday following two emergency operations for removal of a brain tumor. His death climaxed one of the most successful football coaching careers on the American gridiron.

Michelosen, as a player and as Sutherland's top assistant, helped the taciturn Scot achieve some of his most outstanding successes—in both collegiate and pro ranks.

The new coach played varsity football at the University of Pittsburgh in the 1935-36-37 seasons. The next year, Sutherland's last season at Pitt, he was an assistant coach. Sutherland quit after the university adopted a "de-emphasis" program. Michelosen followed suit.

Two years later Sutherland entered pro football as coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers, then in the National Football League. Michelosen joined him and both stayed in Brooklyn two seasons. Both joined the navy in World War II.

Michelosen served as an athletic instructor and was not discharged until 1945. A year later, when Sutherland accepted the head coaching post of the Steelers, Steelers, Michelosen was again at his side as first assistant. He occupied the same capacity last season.

Sutherland had a five-year contract due to expire in 1951. Many persons had expected Sutherland to retire then, handing over the reins to Michelosen. Sutherland once was quoted as saying to his assistant:

"You know as much about football as I do."

Michelosen is a native of Ambridge, Pa. Married, he is the father of two children.

Several Evitts Creek Anglers Get Creel Limit On First Day

Jerry Lowery, 5, Lands 12 Inch Brown Trout

Evitts Creek proved to be the best fishing stream in Western Maryland yesterday as the three months' trout season got under way.

In spite of the swollen condition of the stream it was in fair fishing condition and approximately 300 anglers from the vicinity of Cumberland took several hundred trout.

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, reported three anglers caught their creel limit by early afternoon, the lucky anglers being Ray Rodenhauser, 418 Central Avenue; Arthur Windemuth, Chestnut Street, and Ray Selby, Route 2, Cumberland. One of Windemuth's trout was a 14 inch brown.

Jerry Lowery, 5-year-old son of Lambert Lowery, Cresaptown, fishing with his father, caught a 12 inch brown trout. The boy hooked it without any help from his father.

A number of the trout caught were nicely colored which indicates they were left over from last year. None of the trout stocked this year were larger than 12 inches. A number caught were 12 to 14 inches.

Minke counted 228 anglers on the creek durng the day.

Only a few fishermen were on Flintstone Creek due to unfavorable conditions. A few, however, reported good catches.

Bear Creek and Savage river in Garrett county were very high and very cloudy and anglers reported poor catches. These streams were heavily stocked and should provide some good fishing over the weekend when conditions should be much better.

NOMINATED — Lou Brissie, above, courageous athlete of 1947 and war-battered hero, who won 23 and lost 5 for Savannah last year, has been named by Manager Connie Mack to hurl the afternoon game of the twin bill with the Boston Red Sox on Monday in Boston. Phil Marchildon will pitch for the A's in the morning game.

Hyndman Lions Observe Third Charter Night

35 Attend From Cumberland Club

By LILLIAN H. CRABTREE

HYNDMAN, Pa.—One hundred and seventy Lions, their ladies and guests, attended the third annual Charter Night of the Hyndman Lions Club Wednesday at Londonderry Township cafeteria and auditorium. This was the most outstanding affair ever staged by the local club because prior to the opening of this new cafeteria there was no room available to accomodate a large group of people.

Rev. Nevin Smith, well-known Hanover humorist and lecturer, was the speaker. Music was furnished after the dinner by the Philharmonic Six, consisting of C. P. Gaster, Edward Shaffer Jr., Paul Evans, William Kennedy, Huston Albright and Milton Reese. Two numbers, "Bells" and "Old Ark's A-Moverin'" were sung by the Ladies P-TA Choral Club under the direction of Miss Mary Meyers, with Miss Eloise Headland at the piano.

A humorous skit in protest to the type of Ladies Nights held by the club was presented as a surprise by Mrs. Lloyd Keller, Mrs. William Bateson, Mrs. C. E. Miller, Mrs. Aubrey Clapper and Mrs. Edward Shaffer.

Rev. J. E. Joyce of the Meyersdale club led the group in singing.

Among those present were Deputy District Governor Eber Cockley, Meyersdale, and Dr. Harold Black, zone chairman, Everett.

Thirty-five guests were present from the Cumberland Lions Club and other clubs represented were Salisbury, Boswell, Confluence, Everett and Meyersdale.

The committee in charge of arrangements was R. H. Harclerode, E. J. Phillippi and Don Harclerode.

P-TA Meets

The Hyndman Parent-Teacher Association met Tuesday night in the school auditorium with the fifth and sixth grades presenting the entertainment under the direction of Miss Buelah Blackburn and Mrs. Pearl Koontz. Two short plays were given. A choral number, a piano solo by Joseph Luman, and a military tap dance by Beverly Ann Diehl completed the program.

An open forum discussion led by Ross Harclerode used the theme "Community Recreation." The following representatives of organizations spoke concerning their work: Rev. C. E. Miller, of the Evangelical U. B. Church, Robert A. Miller, local Scoutmaster, and Llyod G. Keller, principal of the Hyndman Schools. The need for additional facilities and a directed play area was discussed.

A nominating committee composed of Lloyd Keller, Mrs. Robert Miller and Mrs. William Bateson was appointed to prepare a slate of officers for the April meeting when officers for the coming year will be elected.

To Present Musicale

The Young Adult Bible Class of the Methodist Church will present a musicale tonight at the church. The program will include pipe organ solos, organ and piano duets, vocal selections and two numbers by the P-TA Choral Club, Miss Mary Meyers directing.

Record Number State Tax Forms Filled Out Here

Yesterday was the final day for filing state income tax returns, and at closing time a long line of taxpayers waited in the Court House for assistance in completing their forms.

Edward V. Welsh of the state tax office, Annapolis, and an assistant completed more than 300 returns yesterday, a similar number the day before and an average of 200 per day for about 10 days previously. Welsh said twice as many persons sought help this year as last, and more non-residents who earn their livelihood in Maryland filled out forms.

Crowds were so great at the Court House on numerouse occassions that Court House personnel and Court attaches complained that the crowd interfered with the normal flow of business.

It was reported a responsible county official wrote the State Comptroller this week, outlining the situation and commending Welsh and his assistant for the competent manner in which they were handling the situation. At the same time it was suggested and urged that at least a half dozen deputy collectors be sent here next year to meet the pressure of local taxpayers.

Strike Sanction To Be Asked On Koppers Contract

C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters Union, reported yesterday following a meeting with the management of the Koppers Company's Green Spring tie treating plant that the local will ask "strike sanction" from the international Teamsters Union.

Company and union officials met at the union hall yesterday afternoon in an effort to negotiate a contract for the some 125 workers of the plant.

Stutzman said the firm made a further offer yesterday but predicted the members will reject that offer also at a meeting planned in Green Spring April 25.

He said negotiations on the contract which expired March 31 will continue. Workers are asking a 30 cent wage increase.

Open Wage Talks

Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, yesterday opened negotiations with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company for a 30 cents an hour increase at the local tire plant.

The committee, headed by Ralph C. Beard, said the union also desires a "comprehensive and equitable health and welfare fund" to safeguard the families of its members against adverse circumstances.

Accepts Pastorate

The acceptance by Rev. F. Ralph Miller, Willoughby, Ohio, of the pastorate at First Christian Church, 310 Bedford Street, to succeed Rev. Ray L. Henthorne, was announced yesterday.

Rev. Henthorne recently accepted a pastorate in Fairmont, W. Va.

Record Number State Tax Forms Filled Out Here

Yesterday was the final day for filing state income tax returns, and at closing time a long line of taxpayers waited in the Court House for assistance in completing their forms.

Edward V. Welsh of the state tax office, Annapolis, and an assistant completed more than 300 returns yesterday, a similar number the day before and an average of 200 per day for about 10 days previously. Welsh said twice as many persons sought help this year as last, and more non-residents who earn their livelihood in Maryland filled out forms.

Crowds were so great at the Court House on numerouse occassions that Court House personnel and Court attaches complained that the crowd interfered with the normal flow of business.

It was reported a responsible county official wrote the State Comptroller this week, outlining the situation and commending Welsh and his assistant for the competent manner in which they were handling the situation. At the same time it was suggested and urged that at least a half dozen deputy collectors be sent here next year to meet the pressure of local taxpayers.

Strike Sanction To Be Asked On Koppers Contract

C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters Union, reported yesterday following a meeting with the management of the Koppers Company's Green Spring tie treating plant that the local will ask "strike sanction" from the international Teamsters Union.

Company and union officials met at the union hall yesterday afternoon in an effort to negotiate a contract for the some 125 workers of the plant.

Stutzman said the firm made a further offer yesterday but predicted the members will reject that offer also at a meeting planned in Green Spring April 25.

He said negotiations on the contract which expired March 31 will continue. Workers are asking a 30 cent wage increase.

Open Wage Talks

Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, yesterday opened negotiations with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company for a 30 cents an hour increase at the local tire plant.

The committee, headed by Ralph C. Beard, said the union also desires a "comprehensive and equitable health and welfare fund" to safeguard the families of its members against adverse circumstances.

Buyers Push Market Average Prices To Best Level Since Last October

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Buyers returned to the stock market today and pushed average prices to their best level since last October on one of the largest volumes of the year to date.

Aircrafts came to the fore after midday when the House passed the bill for large-scale war plane expansion.

While assorted pivotals did little or nothing, advances of one to two or more points were widespread at the close. Transfers of 1,650,000 shares compared with 1,030,000 on Wednesday's dip and were a maximum since the final March session.

It was the eighteenth day since March 18 that the Million-mark has been crossed.

In the "new high" class most of the day and finishing up fractions to around two points were Bethlehem Steel at 35½, Republic Steel 27¾, Curtiss-Wright 8⅛, Boeing 29¼, Douglas Aircraft 67½, United Aircraft 29¾, Glenn Martin 21⅝, Lockheed 21⅝, Southern Pacific 53⅛, Illinois Central 33¾, Western Maryland 12⅛, Shamrock Oil 33¾, Standard Oil (NJ) 79⅝, Texas Pacific Coal and Oil 51, Montgomery Ward 57⅞, Third Avenue Transit 12⅜, United States Smelting 53¾, International Paper 55, Lowenstein 29⅜, Anaconda Copper 36½, Kennecott 56 and Phelps Dodge 52⅞.

Central Railroad of New Jersey, a sprinter of the day before on reorganization gossip, dipped seven-eighths at 16⅞ on profit cashing but the company's bonds climbed. Easier tendencies were shown for Chesapeake and Ohio, Allied Chemcal, J. C. Penney, Woolworth, Deere, North American, Electric Power and Light and American Tobacco.

Rail issues paced the bond market in a smart advance.

Among trading favorites were Hudson and Manhattan refunding 5s, up a fraction at 61⅝, and the income 5s, up two at 24.

United States governments in the over-the-counter joined the parade but at a slow pace. The bank-eligibles 2½s of September 1967-'72 inched up 1/32 to 101 23/32 bid.

Sales of $5,300,000 compared with $3,380,000 Wednesday.

Attempts Suicide

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va—Jay Lantz, 68, Hendricks, is improving at the Nelle Rest Home after attempting suicide yesterday morning.

Deputy Sheriff C. W. Harvey said he was called to the home of Lantz's daughter, Mrs. Tessie Ketterman, Hendricks, when Mrs. Ketterman found Lantz in the act of cutting his throat with a safety razor. His wife was away from the house at the time.

Sheriff Harvey and H. C. Daniel of the Department of Public Assistance, took the injured man to the Nelle Rest Home and called Dr. C. E. Johnson, who, upon examining the man, said Lantz had made seven gashes in his throat, none of which was deep enough to cause serious bleeding.

When asked why he tried to kill himself, Lantz said, "I didn't want to live any longer." His family said he had been in ill health for several months.

Buyers Push Market Average Prices To Best Level Since Last October

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Buyers returned to the stock market today and pushed average prices to their best level since last October on one of the largest volumes of the year to date.

Aircrafts came to the fore after midday when the House passed the bill for large-scale war plane expansion.

While assorted pivotals did little or nothing, advances of one to two or more points were widespread at the close. Transfers of 1,650,000 shares compared with 1,030,000 on Wednesday's dip and were a maximum since the final March session.

It was the eighteenth day since March 18 that the Million-mark has been crossed.

In the "new high" class most of the day and finishing up fractions to around two points were Bethlehem Steel at 35½, Republic Steel 27¾, Curtiss-Wright 8⅛, Boeing 29¾, Douglas Aircraft 67½, United Aircraft 29¾, Glenn Martin 21⅝, Lockheed 21⅝, Southern Pacific 53⅛, Illinois Central 33¾, Western Maryland 12⅛, Shamrock Oil 33¾, Standard Oil (NJ) 79⅝, Texas Pacific Coal and Oil 51, Montgomery Ward 57⅞, Third Avenue Transit 12⅝, United States Smelting 53¾, International Paper 55, Lowenstein 29⅝, Anaconda Copper 56½, Kennecott 56 and Phelps Dodge 52⅞.

Central Railroad of New Jersey, a sprinter of the day before on reorganization gossip, dipped seven-eighths at 16⅞ on profit cashing but the company's bonds climbed. Easier tendencies were shown for Chesapeake and Ohio, Allied Chemical, J. C. Penney, Woolworth, Deere, North American, Electric Power and Light and American Tobacco.

Rail issues paced the bond market in a smart advance.

Among trading favorites were Hudson and Manhattan refunding 5s, up a fraction at 61⅝, and the income 3s, up two at 24.

United States governments in the over-the-counter joined the parade but at a slow pace. The bank-eligibles 2½s of September 1967-72 inched up 1/32 to 101 23/32 bid.

Sales of $5,300,000 compared with $3,380,000 Wednesday.

Attempts Suicide

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va—Jay Lantz, 68, Hendricks, is improving at the Nelle Rest Home after attempting suicide yesterday morning.

Deputy Sheriff C. W. Harvey said he was called to the home of Lantz's daughter, Mrs. Tessie Ketterman, Hendricks, when Mrs. Ketterman found Lantz in the act of cutting his throat with a safety razor. His wife was away from the house at the time.

Sheriff Harvey and H. C. Daniel of the Department of Public Assistance, took the injured man to the Nelle Rest Home and called Dr. C. E. Johnson, who, upon examining the man, said Lantz had made seven gashes in his throat, none of which was deep enough to cause serious bleeding.

When asked why he tried to kill himself, Lantz said, "I didn't want to live any longer." His family said he had been in ill health for several months.

Celanese First Quarter Earnings Increase

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Demand for Celanese Corp.'s acetate rayon pushed sales and earnings in the first quarter to a higher point than in the like quarter last year, the company reported at the annual meeting yesterday.

First quarter sales were approximately $57,000,000, compared to $44,700,000 in the same period in 1946.

Harold Blancke, president, said he believed the trend to higher sales and earnings might continue throughout the year.

Stockholders were told the company's expansion program would require about $40,000,000 and would be completed in about a year's time.

Potomac Park Group Postpones Election

J. Milton Dick, president of the Potomac Park Improvement Association, said yesterday plans for the annual nomination of officers and election were changed at a meeting this week and that both the nomination and election will be held next Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Dick also reported that a financial report shows the association has $700 in the treasury and a membership of over 200 residents of the McMullen Highway community.

Celanese First Quarter Earnings Increase

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Demand for Celanese Corp.'s acetate rayon pushed sales and earnings in the first quarter to a higher point than in the like quarter last year, the company reported at the annual meeting yesterday.

First quarter sales were approximately $57,000,000, compared to $44,700,000 in the same period in 1946.

Harold Blancke, president, said he believed the trend to higher sales and earnings might continue throughout the year.

Stockholders were told the company's expansion program would require about $40,000,000 and would be completed in about a year's time.

Correspondents Will Support Allen

Thirteen Washington correspondents yesterday said they will support the candidacy of Will Allen, Bethesda newspaperman, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination to congress from the Sixth District.

Allen received the backing of leaders of the Allegany County chapter of the Maryland League of United Voters at the opening speech of his campaign here Wednesday night.

Over one-third of the members of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Medical Association (wives of physicians) are nurses or former nurses.

Paul J. Grabenstein, 108 North Smallwood Street, forfeited $11.45 bond this morning in Trial Magistrates Court for failing to stop for a school bus discharging passengers on Route 40 in LaVale Tuesday.

Another driver, Horace R. Clark, 567 Patterson Avenue, forfeited $6.45 for failing to obey a stop sign in LaVale Wednesday. Both were arrested by State Trooper Milton G. Hart.

Arthur D. Wells, New Creek Drive, Keyser, W. Va., forfeited $11.45 for exceeding 50 on Route 220 at Rawlings March 19, and Ray D. Pile, 10 West Elder Street, forfeited $2.45 for not halting at a stop sign on Route 40 at Mason Road March 30. Cpl. Harry Holsinger, State Police, preferred charges.

Atomic Protection

LONDAN (AP) — The director of Britain's atomic research laboratory said today workers in one operation are protected fom radioactivity by "liquid moth balls." In this operation the scientists, from behind a screen, count the flashes caused by atomic particles bombarding tools used in the laboratory at Harwell, Buckinghamshire. Formerly the screens were coated with zinc sulphide. Sir John Cockcroft says napthalene, which in solid form is the bane of moths, has been found a more effective coating.

Chelsea Wants Studios

LONDON (AP) — Chelsea, the Greenwhich Village of London, is seeking legislation to replace its war-damaged studios and preserve its tradition as an artist community.

A committee of the Chelsea borough council says that of the 316 studios in use in 1939, 47 were destroyed by bombs and 42 made unfit for occupation, and 85 are occupied by private families, leaving only 142 of the pre-war total in posession of practicing artists. Of these, 66 are damaged or dilapidated, leaving only 76 in good repair and use by artists.

Lipstick Really Sticks

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo.—Superintendent Edmund B. Rogers ranks these men at the top of his blacklist:

"The fellow who invented the teddy bear—that made a bear cub something to pick up and cuddle.

"The fellow who invented cleaning tissue and put the invitation on the box, 'just chuck it out the window.'

"The fellow who invented lipstick."

Rogers carries a special grudge against the last gent.

"The vandalism resulting from lipstick would surprise you. We haven't found anything that will take it off anything. Even on enameled signs we can't get it off without taking off some of the enamel."

And, Rogers says, many of the geysers and hot springs have been damaged "very seriously by tourists who use them for wastebaskets.

Morning Glory Pool recently "just got disgusted and disgorged two truckloads of pots, pans, kettles, hubcaps, bottles and an auto wheel," he says.

The annual United States death rate from tuberculosis has been reduced from 100 to 35 a year per 100,000, in the last 20 years.

$750 Damages Sought From Auto Collision

Bance Sheets through his attorney, Edward J. Ryan, filed a damage suit in Circuit Court yesterday against George House for a claim of $750.

Sheets alleges his automobile was damaged to the extent of $550 in a collision with House's car last March 27 on U. S. Route 220 near McCoole. Sheets said he was driving toward Cumberland when House approached from the opposite direction. He claims House crossed to the left of the road and the cars collided.

Change In Weather Ends Flood Threat

Yesterday's sunny and warmer weather ended a flood threat that has hung over the city for the past two days, when the Potomac River reached a crest of 16 feet, one foot below flood stage.

Yesterday morning the river had receded to 12:53 feet and was continuously falling. Water in Wills Creek was also receding.

Pilots Club Plans Breakfast Flight

Twenty members of the Cumberland Pilots club at a recent reorganization meeting at the administration building of the Cumberland Municipal Airport, made plans for a breakfast flight for area pilots.

The flight will be held from the local airport to the CAA auxiliary field at Petersburg, W. Va., Sunday morning, April 25. All flyers in this section may participate.

The club voted to have the officers who were serving at the time the club was disbanded during the war keep their posts until the group is fully reorganized.

Officers are Bernard Miltenberger, president; Ellsworth Rosenmarkle, vice president, and Wade Berg, secretary-terasurer.

Billy Rose

For the past six months I've been buying a dozen eggs a week from a woman named Mollie who has a small chicken farm out in New Jersey. She charges a few cents more than the chain stores, but usually makes up for it by squeezing a thirteenth egg into the box.

Mollie brings the hen fruit to my office every Tuesday afternoon, and with it, some neighborly talk-talk about the people in Pine Valley where she lives. The eggs are fresh and, in the main, so are her stories.

For example, the other day Mollie told me about Charlie Holland who died a few months back. Charlie, she said, was a contrary old bat who cussed and drank, and once a week took the bus to Union City to see the burlesque show. Pine Valley considered Charlie a disgrace to the community, and Charlie was inclined to agree. But he used to tell people he'd make it up to the town when he died. He promised that all his money—and he had a sockful—would go to the First Baptist Church. That is, providing the minister preached the right kind of sermon at his funeral.

Well, when Charlie died the minister did his best to give him a good send-off. He couldn't come right out and say Charlie was a credit to Pine Valley, but he did manage to forget the gals and grog, and to dig up a few virtues nobody but a minister would notice.

The day after Charlie was tucked away for keeps, almost everybody in the town attended the reading of his will. And sure enough, in the first paragraph it stipulated that the church was to get all his money if the minister preached the right kind of sermon.

But the church never got a dollar. In the last paragraph, Charlie defined the right kind of sermon as one which gave him full credit for all his vices . . . .

A couple of Tuesdays ago when Mollie made her delivery, the thirteenth egg was missing. "I'm sorry," she said, "but the Plymouth Rocks took it easy this week. Maybe I can make up for it by telling you about Jim Morton."

The way Mollie told it, Jim is a perky little fellow who has lived most of his forty years in lower Pine Valley. He works for a newspaper in Bergen County and handles most of its big political stories.

Jim Morton has one funny quirk—in addition to politics, he likes to cover weddings. He explains it this way: "Maybe it's because my own folks got divorced when I was a kid. Besides, after all the double-talk in the legislature, it's a relief to hear somebody come right out and say, 'I do.'"

Of course Jim's editor doesn't like to waste a good political reporter on routine stuff like weddings, but he lets him cover one every so often to keep him happy.

One day a story of bribery in high places broke and Jim was assigned to it. It meant spending a few days in Trenton. Jim told the editor he'd have to send someone else. There was a wedding coming up the next day he wanted to cover.

"To quote Gromyko, no," said the editor. "This is a page one yarn, and we've got to get it right."

"I'm sorry," said Jim, "but I've known this couple all my life and I can't let them down. As a matter of fact, I've been telling the groom for thirty years he'd be just as happy married."

"Send them a wire and some flowers," said the editor. "The office will pay for it."

"That wouldn't do it, I'm afraid," said Jim. "You see, the bride is my mother."

"That's different," said the embarrassed editor. "Who's the lucky man?"

"Who do you think?" said Jim. "My father, of course."

Dark-skinned people inherit the kind of skin cells that contain a heavy concentration of melanin. People who live in warm, sunny climates generally have the darkest skins — the Caucasian of North Africa, the Negro of South Africa, peoples of Ceylon and India. Dark skins are a protection against the burning rays of the sun. Dark-skinned people, like the Eskimos and some Indians, also live in the far north.

"I'm sorry," said Jim, "but I've known this couple all my life and I can't let them down. As a matter of fact, I've been telling the groom for thirty years he'd be just as happy married."

"Send them a wire and some flowers," said the editor. "The office will pay for it."

"That wouldn't do it, I'm afraid," said Jim. "You see, the bride is my mother."

"That's different," said the embarrassed editor. "Who's the lucky man?"

"Who do you think?" said Jim. "My father, of course."

Dark-skinned people inherit the kind of skin cells that contain a heavy concentration of melanin. People who live in warm, sunny climates generally have the darkest skins — the Caucasian of North Africa, the Negro of South Africa, peoples of Ceylon and India. Dark skins are a protection against the burning rays of the sun. Dark-skinned people, like the Eskimos and some Indians, also live in the far north.

Students To See Movie On Fire

By DAVID E. KIRK

BARTON—A free motion picture, "The Chemistry of Fire," will be shown to the students of Barton High School today at 2 p. m. in the school auditorium.

Barton Hose Company No. 1 has arranged the showing of the movie with school officials and the public is invited to attend.

The picture is furnished by the Fire Chiefs Association of the Allegany-Garrett Firemen's Association and it describes and illustrates the combustion of common materials and the methods of controlling fires.

The committee in charge includes Forrest Mowbray, William Chappell and David E. Kirk.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 15 (INS)—The European jaunt Rosalind Russell and Freddie Brisson are taking is purely a vacation for Roz, but not for Freddie. Freddie will complete arrangements for putting "The King of Diamonds," the life story of Barney Barnato, on the screen.

Ann Sothern

There's no more fabulous character than Barnato, who started as a London peddler, became a vaudeville actor, and then went to South Africa and founded the Kimberly mines with Cecil Rhodes as his partner.

Brisson now is in New York closing the deal with Wolfe Barnato, one of the heirs. I have been hearing about the Barnatos for years and years, for Fanny Ward was married to Barney's son. That's how she got her famous jewels.

Freddie, who will make the picture for his own company, Independent Artists, will film it in authentic backgrounds in England and South Africa.

Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers sail for Europe the last of June. Gwynne Pickford, Mary's niece, is expecting a baby in July, and Mary wants to be with her. Gwynne now is in Switzerland and will have her baby at a hospital there.

Then Mary, who has a story with a German background for which she is negotiating, and which she is not making public because she hasn't yet bought it, will see about getting some background shots in Germany. Also about leasing a studio in England where her movie will be made.

Cary Grant came in from Palm Springs today to make a test opposite his protege, Betsy Drake—and shall I say it out loud—his girl friend.

Cary is using his influence, to help Betsy get the lead in Eleanor Harris' story for RKO, "Every Girl Should Be Married."

Chatter in Hollywood: Claire James and Steve Brodie were talking over their matrimonial troubles at the new Conegrill. This is the first public appearance Claire has made since her illness and separation from William Girard.

There seems to be confusion about the assorted Steve Brodys. Steve Brody is the gent who was formerly married to Elizabeth Cobb, and who was recently divorced by Caroline Fortree. Steve Brodie, the one with Claire, is the latest husband of Lois Andrews. He moved out of her home last week.

Then there is Steve Broidy, president of Monogram who is not divorced. And, of course, there was the original Brody who took a chance and jumped off Brooklyn bridge.

James Holden, the very attractive young man who plays Captain George Washington Culpepper Lee in "Command Decision," arrives in our town April 26, headed for Warners.

Yep, James has been signed by Jack Warner for one of the leading roles in "Fighter Squadron, which Raoul Walsh is putting on the screen. This picture, as I understand it, is a full cousin, or maybe full brother, to "Command Decision," which has been bought by M-G-M for Clark Gable. Both plays have to do with the air force. Meanwhile, Paul Kelly is continuing to pack them in on Broadway in "Command Decision."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Margaret Sullavan, who just has to make a picture to please all of us, was at Ciro's with Anatole Litvak and Maria Montez and Jean Pierre Aumont.

Vincent Price's serious dates are with a lady doctor named Larraine Kramer. He and Deanna Durbin are in the same picture and have often lunched together to go over their lines, but it's nothing more than friendship between them.

Jane Wyman, who is spending some of her evenings painting, has been taking lessons from Paul Clements, noted artist. She sold one of her portraits to Gail Patrick. The price $4.50.

Ann Sothern and Jim Davis doing the rounds together. She and Tyrone Power were with the Walter Langs at Bebe Daniels' and Ben Lyon's on Sunday. It's wishful thinking on the part of their friends, that they are interested. It's still Linda Christian with Ty, although this romance isn't as hot as it was a few months ago.

Every eye in the Mocambo turned on Greer Garson and Georgie Jessel when they came in after the opera. Georgie, in full regalia—white tie and tails, was almost as resplendent as Greer in her finery. Oh, dear, I did want to hear Rise Stevens in "Carmen," but I was in bed.

Barbara Bonnet back with John Lee Mahin again, and at Charley Foy's. That was where she and another lady had an altercation one evening.

Brian Donlevy, who went into seclusion at his Malibu home after his matrimonial troubles, at the Kings with some guests from New York and Chicago.

I am sorry to say Richard Ney is out of the male lead in "Rats of Norway." He and producer Jimmy Elliott couldn't see eye to eye.

That's all today.

Perceptible tides are observed in some lakes.

The greatest natural enemy of the wild goat is the avalanche.

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 15 (INS)—The European jaunt Rosalind Russell and Freddie Brisson are taking is purely a vacation for Roz, but not for Freddie. Freddie will complete arrangements for putting "The King of Diamonds," the life story of Barney Barnato, on the screen.

Ann Sothern

There's no more fabulous character than Barnato, who started as a London peddler, became a vaudeville actor, and then went to South Africa and founded the Kimberly mines with Cecil Rhodes as his partner.

Brisson now is in New York closing the deal with Wolfe Barnato, one of the heirs. I have been hearing about the Barnatos for years and years, for Fanny Ward was married to Barney's son. That's how she got her famous jewels.

Freddie, who will make the picture for his own company, Independent Artists, will film it in authentic backgrounds in England and South Africa.

Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers sail for Europe the last of June. Gwynne Pickford, Mary's niece, is expecting a baby in July, and Mary wants to be with her. Gwynne now is in Switzerland and will have her baby at a hospital there.

Then Mary, who has a story with a German background for which she is negotiating, and which she is not making public because she hasn't yet bought it, will see about getting some background shots in Germany. Also about leasing a studio in England where her movie will be made.

Cary Grant came in from Palm Springs today to make a test opposite his protege, Betsy Drake—and shall I say it out loud—his girl friend.

Cary is using his influence, to help Betsy get the lead in Eleanor Harris' story for RKO, "Every Girl Should Be Married."

Chatter in Hollywood: Claire James and Steve Brodie were talking over their matrimonial troubles at the new Conegrill. This is the first public appearance Claire has made since her illness and separation from William Girard.

There seems to be confusion about the assorted Steve Brodys. Steve Brody is the gent who was formerly married to Elizabeth Cobb, and who was recently divorced by Caroline Fortree. Steve Brodie, the one with Claire, is the latest husband of Lois Andrews. He moved out of her home last week.

Then there is Steve Broidy, president of Monogram who is not divorced. And, of course, there was the original Brody who took a chance and jumped off Brooklyn bridge.

James Holden, the very attractive young man who plays Captain George Washington Culpepper Lee in "Command Decision," arrives in our town April 26, headed for Warners.

Yep, James has been signed by Jack Warner for one of the leading roles in "Fighter Squadron, which Raoul Walsh is putting on the screen. This picture, as I understand it, is a full cousin, or maybe full brother, to "Command Decision," which has been bought by M-G-M for Clark Gable. Both plays have to do with the air force. Meanwhile, Paul Kelly is continuing to pack them in on Broadway in "Command Decision."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Margaret Sullavan, who just has to make a picture to please all of us, was at Ciro's with Anatole Litvak and Maria Montez and Jean Pierre Aumont.

Vincent Price's serious dates are with a lady doctor named Larraine Kramer. He and Deanna Durbin are in the same picture and have often lunched together to go over their lines, but it's nothing more than friendship between them.

Jane Wyman, who is spending some of her evenings painting, has been taking lessons from Paul Clemments, noted artist. She sold one of her portraits to Gail Patrick. The price $4.50.

Ann Sothern and Jim Davis doing the rounds together. She and Tyrone Power were with the Walter Langs at Bebe Daniels' and Ben Lyon's on Sunday. It's wishful thinking on the part of their friends, that they are interested. It's still Linda Christian with Ty, although this romance isn't as hot as it was a few months ago.

Every eye in the Mocambo turned on Greer Garson and Georgie Jessel when they came in after the opera. Georgie, in full regalia—white tie and tails, was almost as resplendent as Greer in her finery. Oh, dear, I did want to hear Rise Stevens in "Carmen," but I was in bed.

Barbara Bonnet back with John Lee Mahin again, and at Charley Foy's. That was where she and another lady had an altercation one evening.

Brian Donlevy, who went into seclusion at his Malibu home after his matrimonial troubles, at the Kings with some guests from New York and Chicago.

I am sorry to say Richard Ney is out of the male lead in "Rats of Norway." He and producer Jimmy Elliott couldn't see eye to eye.

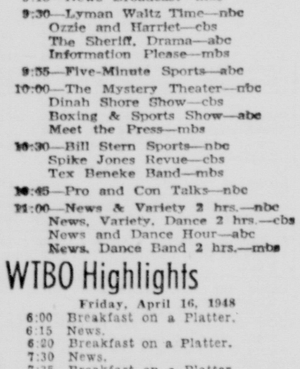
SALLY'S SALLIES



"It's nice of you, caddie, to find all these, but you haven't found MY ball."

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Five Times Five

For many years Kraft has sponsored on the radio the Kraft Music Hall, one of the few musical programs on the air that consistently draws an audience in the first fifteen on Mr. Hooper's list, chiefly because of the lure of its names. (Paul Whiteman, Bing Crosby, Al Jolson—in that order.) In television Kraft was forced into straight drama by the Petrillo ruling, only recently lifted, which forbade music. Since it couldn't have music, Kraft plunged into drama with the intention of becoming the television equivalent of Lux Theater and it has a pretty good chance of realizing that intention.

John Crosby

For many years the figure five has been an oft-quoted almost mystic number in television. (Television is five times as expensive, five times as effective, five times as complicated as radio). The figure five can be carried farther than that. "June Moon"—counting time costs, sets, actors, everything — cost almost $6,000 to produce. This is roughly five times what the same play, same actors, same time would have cost Kraft last year. Chief reason for the increase is the fact that sets in use have multiplied ten-fold since last year.

A year from today—and here the agency is just guessing—the cost of this production will be another five and possibly six times as great. In other words a televised play that cost $1,200 in 1947 will cost $10,000 in 1949, which is more than the most expensive radio show on the air. After 1949, you can make your own guess with the assurance that it will be just as authoritative as anyone else's. If television costs continue to skyrocket in this manner, an hour-long televised drama may cost more to produce than a Broadway play. ($40,000 to $100,000) These costs, incidentally, provide a potent argument for a school of thought which holds that television simply can't afford a star system like radio or the movies.

• — • — •

Having spent a month in preparation, a week in rehearsal and $6,000 in cash, J. Walter Thompson unloosed "June Moon" on a five-city audience nine days ago. It was a pretty good example of Kraft Theater and a very good one of televised theater in its present stage of development. As a play it lacked sweep and scope. Either because the satire has been blunted or because the play dates badly—it's hard to tell which—the point of the play seems to have shifted from comedy to romance, and rather elementary romance at that. Due to space restrictions, the livingroom set, scene of the first act, was as congested as a subway in the rush hour—an actress answering the telephone almost planted her elbow in the eye of the leading man—and this gave an oppressive air to some very amusing dialogue, a free, trial size sample of which is attached:

"Have you ever been through the Holland Tunnel?"

"I've been waiting for someone to go with."

After prowling carefully through my bag of adjectives, I feel reasonably safe in describing the cast as experienced, adequate, and uninspired. Don Keefer was satisfactory—and that's as far as I'll go with him—in the part of a yokel songwriter from Schenectady. As one of the characters remarks, that's one city no one will ever write a popular song about. (There isn't anything that rhymes with Schenectady.) As the songwriter's girl, Hildy Parks is appealing and credible. Considering her part, that's more of a compliment than it sounds. Jack Albertson, who played the part of a tired and cynical song carpenter, and Harold Stone, in the role of a wonderful window washer who writes songs in his spare time, turned in fetching performances in what the trade calls actor-proof parts.

Also—in case you're interested—the commercials had a certain irritating fixity of purpose. The intent obviously is to arouse your appetite but the result of a plateful of cheese sandwiches being thrust uninvited into your face may well be indigestion.

Nevertheless, in spite of its limitations, "June Moon"—to get back to our equation—struck me five times as forcibly as a radio drama which is done five times as well. Right now television enjoys the immense asset of novelty and that alone overrides and all but obliterates the dramatic deficiencies of its plays.

He Can Bee Right

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP)—Sometimes teacher can be right.

Hundreds of bees swarmed into a school here. The principal told the students to stand motionless and they would not be stung. But the students ran for the door. So did their teachers. One hundred and fifteen students and six teachers were stung, two seriously. The headmaster—the only one who followed his own advice — was not touched.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Five Times Five

John Crosby

For many years Kraft has sponsored on the radio the Kraft Music Hall, one of the few musical programs on the air that consistently draws an audience in the first fifteen on Mr. Hooper's list, chiefly because of the lure of its names. (Paul Whiteman, Bing Crosby, Al Jolson—in that order.) In television Kraft was forced into straight drama by the Petrillo ruling, only recently lifted, which forbade music. Since it couldn't have music, Kraft plunged into drama with the intention of becoming the television equivalent of Lux Theater and it has a pretty good chance of realizing that intention.

For many years the figure five has been an oft-quoted almost mystic number in television. (Television is five times as expensive, five times as effective, five times as complicated as radio). The figure five can be carried farther than that. "June Moon"—counting time costs, sets, actors, everything — cost almost $6,000 to produce. This is roughly five times what the same play, same actors, same time would have cost Kraft last year. Chief reason for the increase is the fact that sets in use have multiplied ten-fold since last year.

A year from today—and here the agency is just guessing—the cost of this production will be another five and possibly six times as great. In other words a televised play that cost $1,200 in 1947 will cost $10,000 in 1949, which is more than the most expensive radio show on the air. After 1949, you can make your own guess with the assurance that it will be just as authoritative as anyone else's. If television costs continue to skyrocket in this manner, an hour-long televised drama may cost more to produce than a Broadway play. ($40,000 to $100,000) These costs, incidentally, provide a potent argument for a school of thought which holds that television simply can't afford a star system like radio or the movies.

Having spent a month in preparation, a week in rehearsal and $6,000 in cash, J. Walter Thompson unloosed "June Moon" on a five-city audience nine days ago. It was a pretty good example of Kraft Theater and a very good one of televised theater in its present stage of development. As a play it lacked sweep and scope. Either because the satire has been blunted or because the play dates badly—it's hard to tell which—the point of the play seems to have shifted from comedy to romance, and rather elementary romance at that. Due to space restrictions, the livingroom set, scene of the first act, was as congested as a subway in the rush hour—an actress answering the telephone almost planted her elbow in the eye of the leading man—and this gave an oppressive air to some very amusing dialogue, a free, trial size sample of which is attached:

"Have you ever been through the Holland Tunnel?"

"I've been waiting for someone to go with."

After prowling carefully through my bag of adjectives, I feel reasonably safe in describing the cast as experienced, adequate, and uninspired. Don Keefer was satisfactory—and that's as far as I'll go with him—in the part of a yokel songwriter from Schenectady. As one of the characters remarks, that's one city no one will ever write a popular song about. (There isn't anything that rhymes with Schenectady.) As the songwriter's girl, Hildy Parks is appealing and credible. Considering her part, that's more of a compliment than it sounds. Jack Albertson, who played the part of a tired and cynical song carpenter, and Harold Stone, in the role of a wonderful window washer who writes songs in his spare time, turned in fetching performances in what the trade calls actor-proof parts.

Also—in case you're interested—the commercials had a certain irritating fixity of purpose. The intent obviously is to arouse your appetite but the result of a plateful of cheese sandwiches being thrust uninvited into your face may well be indigestion.

Nevertheless, in spite of its limitations, "June Moon"—to get back to our equation—struck me five times as forcibly as a radio drama which is done five times as well. Right now television enjoys the immense asset of novelty and that alone overrides and all but obliterates the dramatic deficiencies of its plays.

He Can Bee Right

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP)—Sometimes teacher can be right.

Hundreds of bees swarmed into a school here. The principal told the students to stand motionless and they would not be stung. But the students ran for the door. So did their teachers. One hundred and fifteen students and six teachers were stung, two seriously. The headmaster—the only one who followed his own advice — was not touched.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Edward L. Crabtree, who died three years ago, April 15, 1945.

"God Called You Home"
You answered God's call, dear,
Just three years ago today;
He had a place for you Up There
So He called you Home to stay.
We miss your every footstep,
Your sweet and smiling face,
Though your days here have ended,
No other will ever take your place.
Your years here were happy ones,
Your sorrows were so few,
We are sure the place you fill There,
None other could ever do.
You're safe in God's arms, dear,
Beside Him when He roams,
Though your years there have just begun,
You will always be missed at home.

Sadly missed by his MOTHER, FATHER, SISTERS and BROTHERS.

CARD OF THANKS

We also wish to thank Rev. Lee H. Richcreek, those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Edward L. Crabtree, who died three years ago, April 15, 1945.

"God Called You Home"
You answered God's call, dear,
Just three years ago today;
He had a place for you Up There
So He called you Home to stay.
We miss your every footstep,
Your sweet and smiling face,
Though your days here have ended,
No other will ever take your place.
Your years here were happy ones,
Your sorrows were so few,
We are sure the place you fill There,
None other could ever do.
You're safe in God's arms, dear,
Beside Him when He roams,
Though your years there have just begun,
You will always be missed at home.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us in our bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and son, James Shaffer. We also wish to thank Rev. Lee H. Richcreek, those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.
MRS. JAMES SHAFFER & SON,
MR. & MRS. JOHN SHAFFER & FAMILY

I wish to thank my friends, neighbors, and relatives for their kindness to me following the death of my dear husband, Harrison B. Minnicks. I also wish to thank Rev. Lee H. Richcreek, the choir, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who loaned cars for the funeral.
HIS WIFE, EDITH MINNICKS.

Grand Jury Indicts Burke In Tax Case, News Told

Informants Say Embezzlement Charge Found

Former Collector Talks To Jurors

Charles F. Burke, Jr., Bedford Street, former city tax collector, was indicted by the April Grand Jury late yesterday on a charge of embezzlement in connection with an alleged $8,000 shortages in city tax funds, The News was reliably informed last night.

While no entry has been made as yet on the criminal docket of Circuit Court of any of the 17 indictments returned thus far by the April Grand Jury, The News learned from a source deemed reliable, that Burke was among traversers indicted.

Court attaches early this week indicated the Grand Jury was making an effort to complete all routine business Monday and Tuesday, so that as much time as possible could be given the tax collection shortage case, which Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney, had previously announced would be placed before them.

While proceedings of the Grand Jury are secret, it was noted Wednesday and yesterday that witnesses called included those previously interviewed, or who had previous information about the tax audits and alleged shortages.

Volunteers To Appear

Yesterday, Burke went to the Court House and volunteered to appear before the Grand Jury and requested that they permit him to speak before them. His request was granted, and he spent several hours in the Grand Jury room with the grand jurors and Mr. Harris.

Court attaches said the procedure was unusual and that persons who ask for a hearing before the Grand Jury waive their constitutional immunity by doing so and must answer all questions by the jury while they are presenting their case.

Burke had not been summoned along with other witnesses in the case, court attaches said.

Harris stated that evidence prepared in the city tax shortage was voluminous and had taken much time in preparation for presentation to the Grand Jury.

It was recalled that when Harris made his announcement a couple of weeks ago that the case would be placed before the Grand Jury, Burke was quoted in the press as saying, "I feel that the Grand Jury is the proper body to investigate such matters."

Auditors' reports to the mayor and city council, officials said, indicated there is a discrepancy in Burke's accounts as collector of $8,077.24 covering a period from March 14, 1945 to June 3, 1947.

Audit Undisclosed

After this audit was made, Burke was given permission by the Mayor and City Council to engage his own auditors and investigators. No report has been made public of the findings of this later audit.

It is generally customary to withhold the publication of Grand Jury indictments until after the sheriff's office has served summons or warrants, especially in the cases where a traverser or indicted individual might be inclined to leave the county and state.

In this particular case, however, an official said he had been advised that the action can be served against Burke Monday afternoon and that he will be prepared to appear in Circuit Court at that time with his attorney.

The Grand Jury was striving to complete its session today. Court attaches said, but some inspections are yet to be made and a report written, so the jurors might not finish until tomorrow.

BRIEFS ASSISTANT-- Harold W. Smith (right), who has served as secretary of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce for the past 13 years, is seen explaining the organization of the local Chamber of Commerce to James R. Kendall, 28, who arrived here Wednesday to begin his duties as assistant secretary of the group. Kendall was formally introduced to the Chamber of Commerce last night at a meeting of the Board of Directors.

Lack Of Care For Sick Laid To Specialists

Dr. Williams Hits Medical Training

Decrying the policy of organized medicine which urges young physicians to specialize, Dr. Richard J. Williams, this city, last night wrote an open letter reply to Dr. Charles W. Maxson, who was quoted as saying people are finding it more difficult to get a doctor when needed.

Dr. Williams explained that "few specialists will go to homes when called, and the few general practitioners in this city and elsewhere, are working 16 hours a day to perform their duty as physicians and healers of the sick."

His letter answering Dr. Maxson's statement that doctors are unconsciously building up the best argument for socialized medicine follows:

"After reading the unadulterated bunch of rubbish attributed to you in the Cumberland Evening Times of April 15, I think it is high time that the rank and file of the medical profession staged a grass roots revolt against such incompetent leadership and ignorance of the facts, which you display.

"Yes, we do have a shortage of general practitioners of medicine, and that Dr. Maxson, as president of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland, is in part your fault. Organized medicine encourages young men to spend years specializing, and they on account of the high fees to be had, thereby are not hard to encourage. The result, few available doctors for house calls. No man is fit to specialize in anything, until he has had at least 10 years of general practice. That is a fact, and you know it. Unless you men at the top very speedily mend your ways and stop trying to shift the responsibility on to the shoulders of the few of us who are doing general medicine, then the public will rise up and give us state medicine whether we like it or not. After state medicine, there will be state dentistry, state pharmacy, etc., until finally it extends over into the trades, and democracy and free enterprise will go out the window.

"The few doctors of us here in Cumberland who do general medicine, are working night and day. We often refuse calls because we are just too exhausted to go. The situation in Cumberland is the same all over, a shortage of doctors, and that is the fault of our leadership.

"Get down to our level and study the problems, and I am sure you will sing a different tune in your next press conference."

ST. LO VICTIMS-- The bodies of Pvt. John M. Grimes (left) and his brother Joseph J. Grimes (right) who were killed only a few days apart during the battle of St. Lo in France while fighting with the 23rd Division, will be buried in Frostburg Saturday with full military rites. The soldiers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Grimes, entered service in 1942.

Wives Of Student-Vets Support School Strike

College Walkout Gaining Support

With more than 90 per cent of the school's 620 students still participating in the "sympathy vacation" at Potomac State School at Keyser, W. Va., yesterday, it was disclosed at a mass meeting in Mineral County Court House last night that a number of towns people are interested in the situation, a number of parents of students have wired the Board of Governors for an investigation, and the wives of veterans are almost solidly behind their GI-student husbands.

After a threat of being locked out of the Student Center on the campus, members of the Student Council asked for and obtained permission of county officials to hold their rallies in the Court House. At 6:30 p. m. yesterday until 7:10 p. m. a closed meeting was held, and from 7:10 until 8:30 p. m. a public meeting was held, with 25 to 30 townspeople attending and asking questions. Several expressed their sympathy.

Assured Of Support

Charles Bolyard, commander of Queens Point Memorial Post No. 6775, Veterans of Foreign Wars, McCoole, who spoke to the students a couple of nights ago, again assured the veteran-students that the VFW will fight any move by the school or Veterans Administration to deny GI benefits or school privileges to any of the striking veterans.

Students decided to continue the strike and to report on the picket line at 7 a. m. today, with another meeting planned for tonight.

A number of students reported last night that their parents have sent telegrams to the Board of Governors asking for an immediate investigation of conditions at Potomac State School which would lead to a student walkout. Several students said their parents had told them to "stick it out, if you believe you are right."

The letter read from the wives of veteran-students is as follows:

"The married veterans, with the exception of three couples, have given their full support to the Student Council in this controversy.

"To those students who have for four meetings declared how much they have at stake, we the wives of married veterans wish to point out to them a thing they so far have failed to consider.

"If we fail in this endeavor because of lack of 100 per cent student support, we are jeopardizing not only our future, but the future of our children.

"Our Democratic ideals have led us to our present stand. Irregardless of the outcome, we no longer are in a position to depend on our parents for opinions or financial aid. We accepted these responsibilities which came with adulthood and marriage, and the difference between right and wrong is one of them.

Confident Of Desired Result

"Therefore, we resolve to give our full support in the future as we have given in the past to this situation which means so much to ourselves and our children.

"We are confident with the wholehearted support on the part of the student body the action of the committee will bring the desired result."

A student spokesman said there are 24 married veterans and their wives on the campus, and all but three of these wives signed the letter, which was read to the students and offered to the press for publication.

A student leader told the assembly last night that while the county prosecutor had come to the school and "read the law" which outlined possibility of prosecution, an attempt had been made to invoke a city ordinance against the striking students, but city officials had refused.

Another spokesman said several lawyers had contacted the Student Council and offered their legal assistance without charge in the event any arrests are made, or any other legal counsel is needed.

Like all their previous meetings, last night's session was orderly and well conducted. The cause of the "sympathy vacation" which students chose to call the failure to attend classes was reiterated.

It was described as a "culmination of a series of minor and major greivances over a long period of time, with the dismissal from school of two students for staying out all night."

The students have received no replies from letters sent to school and state officials, but said they expect no replies until today or possibly tomorrow.

"Final," Church Says

In Charleston, W. Va., yesterday where Dr. E. E. Church, school president was meeting with the Board of Public Works on plans for new buildings at the college, Dr. Church declared that expulsion of two students which touched off a strike at the institution is "final."

Dr. Church also told the Associated Press that more students are returning to clases and predicted that "the strike would gradually adjust itself."

After the student meeting at the Court House last night, a West Virginia State Policeman there commented, "This is the largest and most orderly crowd I have ever seen in this building."

Despite the fact that 90 per cent of the students are on strike, Rabbi Aaron Decter, of Temple Tifereth Israel, Boston, Mass. was presented in a convocation in the auditorium of the school yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. A faculty member reported the "actual count of students present was between 80 and 100" while a student representative reported the "actual count to be 39 students."

Pleading the case of the Jewish independent state in Palestine, Rabbi Decter stated "the United States has not gained in moral leadership by the suggesting of a trusteeship in Palestine. This country will lose all conscience if trusteeship is enforced," he said.

Local Couple Appeals Zoning Board Decision

Petition Is Filed In Circuit Court

A petition has been filed in Circuit Court by a Williams Street couple opposing the decision of the Board of Zoning Appeals in granting an occupancy permit for a proposed grocery store to be located at the northwest corner of Williams Street and Dorn Avenue.

The action is the second appeal of its kind since the zoning ordinance was passed on November 27, 1944.

In June, 1945, James L. Messick, operating as the Co-operative Ice and Fuel Company, filed suit against the board, asking for a review of their negative decision on his petition to transfer his business to a new Frederick Street location.

The present petition was filed by Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Coffey, 475 Williams Street, against Joseph R. Mantheiy, Charles Paul Roeder and R. J. Shepherd, members of the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Approval Granted

On March 10, the board gave conditional approval to an appeal by George S. Humbertson to use a proposed two-story concrete block building as a grocery store and apartments, and full approval was granted later in the month after the deed to the property was checked and no restrictions regarding business operations were found.

The Coffeys, who are represented by D. Lindley Sloan and William A. Gunter, have asked for a review of the decision on a writ of certiorari.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, who received a copy of the petition this week, said a hearing will probably be held by the court the last week in April.

In their petition, the Coffeys state that their property is located diagonally across from the site of Humbertson's proposed building.

The petition states that the property is in a residential district in which businesses are not permitted, with the exception of those established prior to passage of the zoning ordinance in November, 1944, and that the purpose of the Humbertson application is in violation of the ordinance.

City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer refused Humbertson's original application for an occupancy permit because the site is in a residential district.

However, Board Chairman Joseph R. Mantheiy explained the appeal was granted because the property was at one time part of a tract used for business purposes.

$4,000 Estimated Cost

After the board granted his appeal, Humbertson took out a building permit on April 1. He estimated the two-story structure would cost $4,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Coffey did not testify at the March 10 hearing on Humbertson's appeal for an occupancy permit.

Their petition was filed in Circuit Court on April 9, the last day of the 30-day period allowed in the zoning ordinance to file appeals from board decisions.

Commerce Heads Commend Beall For Coal Study

Kendall Is Welcomed By Board Directors

The Board of Directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce last night commended Rep. J. Glenn Beall for his aid in a Department of the Interior coal drilling project which indicates the presence of substantial amount of mineable low volatile coal in the Cumberland area.

The report on the coal-drilling program held two years ago recently released as "Technical Paper 701" indicates the presence of mineable coal which analyzes less than 8 per cent ash and 1.5 per cent sulphur but points out the mining of these coals would involve a large investment.

Joseph T. Singewald, Jr., director of the Department of Geology, said the report indicates the future of coal production in the Georges Creek Basin will have to depend on larger operating units with washing plants rather than on scall-scale operations without washing plants.

Outlook Is Good

Core drilling in the Casselman River area is being continued and preliminary reports indicate a more favorable outlook than in the Georges Creek region, the commerce heads were told.

Other action taken at last night's meeting, the first to be attended by James R. Kendall, 28, who arrived here Wednesday to assume his post as assistant to Harold W. Smith, secretary of the association was:

The Directors endorsed the action of the Legislative Committee in opposing Federal appropriations of $300 million dollars for the development of education in the United States, pointing out that the maintenance of schools was the responsibility of the individual states.

Representing the Cumberland association at the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Comberce, to be held April 26 to 29, will be Henry W. Price, president; Roy W. Eves, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weber, George Buchanan and Kendall.

Commend City Fathers

Miles G. Thompson, chairman of the Highway and Transportation Committee, reported on progress in the development of a George Street parking lot and a resolution was passed commending the Mayor and Council of Cumberland for its action in appointing a committee to further the project.

A report on the spring dinner meeting planned May 4 at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club was presented by C. Philip Jolley, chairman of the Activities Committee.

Fund Appeal Board Will Be Considered

The Board of Directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce last night authorized the appointment of a committee, representing various local interests, to explore and report on the need for the establishment of a Fund Appeal Review Board in this city.

The group reported that the increased number of fund-raising campaigns has aroused interest in a means of controlling the appeals for funds. Many cities, the group said, have named boards to pass on applications for funds and to act as a guide to the donating people.

Court Approves Budget Of Liquor Control Board

Authorize $7,000 For Fiscal Year

A court order was signed in Circuit Court yesterday by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson instructing Clerk of Court Robert Jackson to set aside $7,000 from liquor license fees for use of the Allegany County Liquor Control Board.

Walter C. Capper, chairman, Fred Crowe, secretary, and Horace P. Whitworth, comprising the Liquor Control Board, filed a petition with the Court explaining that no provision is made in the law for funds to pay salaries and operate the Control Board office.

It was cited that a similar action was taken a year ago by the Court in order that the board might operate.

The petition included the budget for the fiscal year beginning April 15, 1948, as follows:

Salaries of members, $6,000, clerk's salary, $1,500; printing and stationery, $500; telephone, $100; attorney's fees, $500; records and transcripts on hearings, $500; contingent fund, $600.65; total requirements for year, $9,700.65; on hand from previous year, $2,500.65; balance for new fiscal period, $7,000.

The petition states that the salary of each board member is $2,000 per year, and while the law provides for the appointment of the board and sets forth the board's responsibility for issuing licenses and holding hearings, no provisions were made to provide funds for operation.

In the petition, the board also requested that the Clerk of Court be required to set up this fund from the liquor license fees in a separate account and issue checks to pay salaries and other expenses of the board.

Mikesell Cites Methods To Be Used In ERP

Says "Free Dollars" Will Not Be Given

The European Recovery Program will not give free dollars to the foreign countries to be aided, Raymond F. Mikesell, financial consultant to the United States Department of State, said last night.

Mikesell, who is also professor of economics at the University of Virginia, was a guest speaker last night at the annual spring dinner meeting of Group 1 of the Maryland Bankers Association.

Approximately 80 officers and directors of the member banks in Allegany and Garrett Counties attended the session, held at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Howard Riggs, chairman of Group 1 and cashier of Garrett National Bank, Oakland, presided.

Chief purpose of the recovery program, Mikesell explained, is to enable the European countries receiving aid to become independent of further outside economic assistance by 1952.

Discusses Assistance

Dollars will not be given away, he said. Aid will be furnished either directly by commodities or through United States Treasury accounts to be used only for specific purposes.

Assistance will be in the form of grants or loans, depending on the individual country's financial status, with some countries paying cash for allocations where they are able to do so.

Mikesell pointed out that before the countries can receive aid, they must make bi-lateral agreements with the United States, agreeing to balance their budgets, reduce trade barriers and speed up delivery to the United States of materials needed in this country.

The European countries will be required to help themselves through their own efforts in prompting agriculture, industrial production, return to sound currencies and stimulating international trade, the speaker said.

Issues May Decrease

The second speaker of the evening was William A. Allnut, a partner in the Baker Watson Company of the New York Stock Exchange.

Allnut pointed out that the European Recovery Program may cut down on the number of municipal bond issues, because steel and other commodities necessary to building programs may not be available in as large quantities, after allocations are made to foreign countries.

He warned that it is most important in securing that type of bond to check on the municipality's willingness and ability to pay.

Allnut also stated that it is "dangerous" for the 15,000 banks in the United States to buy only government bonds, since they would be supplying money to the Treasury "for the support of bureaucrats."

Charles A. Piper, president of the Liberty Trust Company, urged support of the campaign headed by Lynn Lashley, vice president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, to promote sales of E bonds in the county.

The campaign, which opened yesterday and will continue until June 15, has a county quota of $1,700,000. The Garrett County quota is $140,000, and Riggs said he believes that goal will be met since sales of E, F and G bonds in Garrett County in 1947 amounted to between $300,000 and $400,000.

Playground Group Will Ask $20,000 Budget From City

Municipal Stadium Briefly Mentioned

The City Playground Association last night voted to ask the Mayor and City Council for a $20,000 annual appropriation at a meeting which heard vague mention of a municipal stadium and a tax assessment on local athletic event admissions.

The annual appropriation figure was arrived at after members of the individual organizations represented in the association recommended hiring 28 playground leaders at a weekly salary of $28.50 for the 14-week period the centers are in operation.

With the 28 leaders, four of whom would be men, the association indicated it they would dispense with an overall supervisor and permit the men to oversee activities as well as arrange recreation programs for the centers.

Also included in the budget recommendation was a proposal for a week's training period for all leaders prior to the opening of the playgrounds to enable them to organize schedules and activities for the children.

Salaries Total $10,780

Under the recommendations the 23 leaders salaries alone would amount to $10,780 for the summer period with other recommendations calling for $2,000 to be spent for new equipment and additional funds for regrading and placing the centers in shape.

The mention of a municipal stadium came when William H. Buchholtz, former president of the association and now a member of the City Council, said there is a strong likelihood that land now owned by the Department of Interior of the United States will be turned over to the city at the conclusion of Cumberland-Ridgeley flood project.

Buchholtz told members at the meeting it is his understanding the property in the vicinity of the present Community Baseball Park would be available for a Memorial Stadium which could be built by subscription.

Committee Named

The admission tax on athletic events was brought to the floor when several members recommended the appointment of a committee to study such a possibility of raising funds to promote recreation projects in the city.

Buchholtz who took a positive stand for such a tax, told the organization that such money would provide a fund to sponsor recreation programs for all age groups and would be coming from a source that is always among the first to take an interest in furthering the recreation facilities of the city.

Harry Kauffman, representative of the newly admitted Junior Association of Commerce organization was named chairman of the committee along with Brooks Starcher, representative of the West Side Playground Association.

Both men were instructed to study the legal aspects of such a tax with the understanding that the levy would be placed on adult admissions only.

In addition to the Jaycee group the Order of DeMolay was admitted to membership in the association last night, representing two of the first civic organizations to take an active part in the City Playground Association.

Man Injured In Fall From Train

A local employe of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad was reported in serious condition last night at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., after falling from a caboose while at work.

Railroad officials identified the man as Lester Dubell, about 64, Virginia Avenue. He was carrying no identification at the time of his accident, they said, but had a sum of about $300 in his pockets. He is single, and has relatives in Hagerstown, they added.

The accident, according to officials, occurred while Dubell, a freight conductor, was standing atop the caboose of No. 88, at Bond, W. Va., five miles from Piedmont. The train was stopped, and trackmen placed the unconscious man in the caboose and took him to the Piedmont station where the Rogers ambulance took him to the hospital. He was admitted at 4 p. m. and was still unconscious late last night.

3 Women Seek Police Matron Job

For the first time in the history of the Cumberland Police Department the Civil Service Commission last night had three applications from women for positions on the force, and began preparations for the CSB examination at Fort Hill April 29.

Besides the three women, who are seeking appointment to the newly created police matron's job, 22 men filed applications for examinations for police positions and one person filed for each of the two executive positions on the fire department—firse chief and assistant fire chief.

C. Philip Jolley, president of the CSB, said the board also has applications to take the examination from five persons seeking appointments on the fire department, two seeking the position of clerk in the City Water Department and two seeking positions as public health nurses.

Names of the three women applicants for the matron position were not revealed by the CSB, but Jolley said the applicants for the positions of fire chief and assistant fire chief are both members of the Fire Department at the present time.

The five applicants for appointment to the first department will hardly fill present vacancies, according to Jolley, who said interested persons have until Saturday at noon to file applications to take the examination.

Equity Suit Filed

A bill of complaint was docketed in Circuit Court yesterday by Betty Jane vs William Robert Dean.

Violated Agreement

An arbitration award by Carl Schedler, Washington, ruled that C. H. Johnson, this city, was discharged in violation of the terms of the agreement between the Liberty Milk Company and Local 924, Dairy Workers Union, and directed the firm to compensate the worker for the period from February 5 to March 15, less wages earned during that period.

The Weather

Overcoats and talk of flooded streets disappeared yesterday as sunny weather sent the mercury soaring to a maximum of 62 degrees and the river and creek waters began receding rapidly. The weatherman predicted more of the same for today, only he said it will be "still warmed." It was a light-hearted city that abandoned its watch on the Potomac and began once more to take interest in other events.

Coal Production In Area Showing Slow Increase

Coal production in the Georges Creek and Upper Potomac Soft Coal Regions is increasing gradually, it was reported here last night, as miners are drifting back to work.

The Western Maryland Railway received 500 cars of coal yesterday, about one-third of a normal day's run in this area, it is claimed. This is the most coal loaded since the work stoppage started March 15.

Some coal operators expressed the opinion some miners might wait until a decision is handed down in the contempt of court case against John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers' president, before returning to the pits. They claim therefore, full production is not anticipated until next week, and then if miners believe the Court has been too harsh with Lewis, there may be further "sympathy" walk outs.

In the Lonaconing area, it was reported about 200 miners of the Georges Creek Coal Company's mines No. 2 and No. 3, and Franklin Mines, voted last night to return to work today. Several other operations in the district also expect to work today.

However, east of Thomas, W. Va., there was no indication that any of the idle larger pits would resume today, although operators had been hopeful some miners might report at the late shift last night.

In the Somerset, Pa. area, two large operations went into near full production yesterday, as did operations at Belington, W. Va., and another operation near Thomas, W. Va.

The actual percentage of the state's 2,000 miners, and the district's 5,000 coal diggers actually at work is not known, and union officials remain non-commital. One official said, "I actually don't have anything new to report, but the men seem to be waiting until after the Court's ruling Monday."

Grand Jury Indicts Burke In Tax Case, News Told

Informants Say Embezzlement Charge Found

Former Collector Talks To Jurors

Charles F. Burke, Jr., Bedford Street, former city tax collector, was indicted by the April Grand Jury late yesterday on a charge of embezzlement in connection with an alleged $8,000 shortages in city tax funds, The News was reliably informed last night.

While no entry has been made as yet on the criminal docket of Circuit Court of any of the 17 indictments returned thus far by the April Grand Jury, The News learned from a source deemed reliable, that Burke was among traversers indicted.

Court attaches early this week indicated the Grand Jury was making an effort to complete all routine business Monday and Tuesday, so that as much time as possible could be given the tax collection shortage case, which Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney, had previously announced would be placed before them.

While proceedings of the Grand Jury are secret, it was noted Wednesday and yesterday that witnesses called included those previously interviewed, or who had previous information about the tax audits and alleged shortages.

Volunteers To Appear

Yesterday, Burke went to the Court House and volunteered to appear before the Grand Jury and requested that they permit him to speak before them. His request was granted, and he spent several hours in the Grand Jury room with the grand jurors and Mr. Harris.

Court attaches said the procedure was unusual and that persons who ask for a hearing before the Grand Jury waive their constitutional immunity by doing so and must answer all questions by the jury while they are presenting their case.

Burke had not been summoned along with other witnesses in the case, court attaches said.

Harris stated that evidence prepared in the city tax shortage was voluminous and had taken much time in preparation for presentation to the Grand Jury.

It was recalled that when Harris made his announcement a couple of weeks ago that the case would be placed before the Grand Jury, Burke was quoted in the press as saying, "I feel that the Grand Jury is the proper body to investigate such matters."

Auditors' reports to the mayor and city council, officials said, indicated there is a discrepancy in Burke's accounts as collector of $8,077.24 covering a period from March 14, 1945 to June 3, 1947.

Audit Undisclosed

After this audit was made, Burke was given permission by the Mayor and City Council to engage his own auditors and investigators. No report has been made public of the findings of this later audit.

It is generally customary to withhold the publication of Grand Jury indictments until after the sheriff's office has served summons or warrants, especially in the cases where a traverser or indicted individual might be inclined to leave the county and state.

In this particular case, however, an official said he had been advised that the action can be served against Burke Monday afternoon and that he will be prepared to appear in Circuit Court at that time with his attorney.

The Grand Jury was striving to complete its session today, Court attaches said, but some inspections are yet to be made and a report written, so the jurors might not finish until tomorrow.

Local Couple Appeals Zoning Board Decision

Petition Is Filed In Circuit Court

A petition has been filed in Circuit Court by a Williams Street couple opposing the decision of the Board of Zoning Appeals in granting an occupancy permit for a proposed grocery store to be located at the northwest corner of Williams Street and Dorn Avenue.

The action is the second appeal of its kind since the zoning ordinance was passed on November 27, 1944.

In June, 1945, James L. Messick, operating as the Co-operative Ice and Fuel Company, filed suit against the board, asking for a review of their negative decision on his petition to transfer his business to a new Frederick Street location.

The present petition was filed by Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Coffey, 475 Williams Street, against Joseph R. Mantheiy, Charles Paul Roeder and R. J. Shepherd, members of the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Approval Granted

On March 10, the board gave conditional approval to an appeal by George S. Humbertson to use a proposed two-story concrete block building as a grocery store and apartments, and full approval was granted later in the month after the deed to the property was checked and no restrictions regarding business operations were found.

The Coffeys, who are represented by D. Lindley Sloan and William A. Gunter, have asked for a review of the decision on a writ of certiorari.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, who received a copy of the petition this week, said a hearing will probably be held by the court the last week in April.

In their petition, the Coffeys state that their property is located diagonally across from the site of Humbertson's proposed building.

The petition states that the property is in a residential district in which businesses are not permitted, with the exception of those established prior to passage of the zoning ordinance in November, 1944, and that the purpose of the Humbertson application is in violation of the ordinance.

City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer refused Humbertson's original application for an occupancy permit because the site is in a residential district.

However, Board Chairman Joseph R. Mantheiy explained the appeal was granted because the property was at one time part of a tract used for business purposes.

$4,000 Estimated Cost

After the board granted his appeal, Humbertson took out a building permit on April 1. He estimated the two-story structure would cost $4,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Coffey did not testify at the March 10 hearing on Humbertson's appeal for an occupancy permit.

Their petition was filed in Circuit Court on April 9, the last day of the 30-day period allowed in the zoning ordinance to file appeals from board decisions.

Equity Suit Filed

A bill of complaint was docketed in Circuit Court yesterday by Betty Jane vs William Robert Dean.

Commerce Heads Commend Beall For Coal Study

Kendall Is Welcomed By Board Directors

The Board of Directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce last night commended Rep. J. Glenn Beall for his aid in a Department of the Interior coal drilling project which indicates the presence of substantial amount of mineable low volatile coal in the Cumberland area.

The report on the coal-drilling program held two years ago recently released as "Technical Paper 701" indicates the presence of mineable coal which analyzes less than 8 per cent ash and 1.5 per cent sulphur but points out the mining of these coals would involve a large investment.

Joseph T. Singewald, Jr., director of the Department of Geology, said the report indicates the future of coal production in the Georges Creek Basin will have to depend on larger operating units with washing plants rather than on scall-scale operations without washing plants.

Outlook Is Good

Core drilling in the Casselman River area is being continued and preliminary reports indicate a more favorable outlook than in the Georges Creek region, the commerce heads were told.

Other action taken at last night's meeting, the first to be attended by James R. Kendall, 28, who arrived here Wednesday to assume his post as assistant to Harold W. Smith, secretary of the association was:

The Directors endorsed the action of the Legislative Committee in opposing Federal appropriations of $300 million dollars for the development of education in the United States, pointing out that the maintenance of schools was the responsibility of the individual states.

Representing the Cumberland association at the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Comberce, to be held April 26 to 29, will be Henry W. Price, president; Roy W. Eves, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weber, George Buchanan and Kendall.

Commend City Fathers

Miles G. Thompson, chairman of the Highway and Transportation Committee, reported on progress in the development of a George Street parking lot and a resolution was passed commending the Mayor and Council of Cumberland for its action in appointing a committee to further the project.

A report on the spring dinner meeting planned May 4 at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club was presented by C. Philip Jolley, chairman of the Activities Committee.

Violated Agreement

An arbitration award by Carl Schedler, Washington, ruled that C. H. Fund Appeal Board Will Be Considered

The Board of Directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce last night authorized the appointment of a committee, representing various local interests, to explore and report on the need for the establishment of a Fund Appeal Review Board in this city.

The group reported that the increased number of fund-raising campaigns has aroused interest in a means of controlling the appeals for funds. Many cities, the group said, have named boards to pass on applications for funds and to act as a guide to the donating people.

Lack Of Care For Sick Laid To Specialists

Dr. Williams Hits Medical Training

Decrying the policy of organized medicine which urges young physicians to specialize, Dr. Richard J. Williams, this city, last night wrote an open letter reply to Dr. Charles W. Maxson, who was quoted as saying people are finding it more difficult to get a doctor when needed.

Dr. Williams explained that "few specialists will go to homes when called, and the few general practitioners in this city and elsewhere, are working 16 hours a day to perform their duty as physicians and healers of the sick."

His letter answering Dr. Maxson's statement that doctors are unconsciously building up the best argument for socialized medicine follows:

"After reading the unadulterated bunch of rubbish attributed to you in the Cumberland Evening Times of April 15, I think it is high time that the rank and file of the medical profession staged a grass roots revolt against such incompetent leadership and ignorance of the facts, which you display.

"Yes, we do have a shortage of general practitioners of medicine, and that Dr. Maxson, as president of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland, is in part your fault. Organized medicine encourages young men to spend years specializing, and they on account of the high fees to be had, thereby are not hard to encourage. The result, few available doctors for house calls. No man is fit to specialize in anything, until he has had at least 10 years of general practice. That is a fact, and you know it. Unless you men at the top very speedily mend your ways and stop trying to shift the responsibility on to the shoulders of the few of us who are doing general medicine, then the public will rise up and give us state medicine whether we like it or not. After state medicine, there will be state dentistry, state pharmacy, etc., until finally it extends over into the trades, and democracy and free enterprise will go out the window.

"The few doctors of us here in Cumberland who do general medicine, are working night and day. We often refuse calls because we are just too exhausted to go. The situation in Cumberland is the same all over, a shortage of doctors, and that is the fault of our leadership.

"Get down to our level and study the problems, and I am sure you will sing a different tune in your next press conference."

Court Approves Budget Of Liquor Control Board

Authorize $7,000 For Fiscal Year

A court order was signed in Circuit Court yesterday by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson instructing Clerk of Court Robert Jackson to set aside $7,000 from liquor license fees for use of the Allegany County Liquor Control Board.

Walter C. Capper, chairman, Fred Crowe, secretary, and Horace P. Whitworth, comprising the Liquor Control Board, filed a petition with the Court explaining that no provision is made in the law for funds to pay salaries and operate the Control Board office.

It was cited that a similar action was taken a year ago by the Court in order that the board might operate.

The petition included the budget for the fiscal year beginning April 15, 1948, as follows:

Salaries of members, $6,000, clerk's salary, $1,500; printing and stationery, $500; telephone, $100; attorney's fees, $500; records and transcripts on hearings, $500; contingent fund, $600.65; total requirements for year, $9,700.65; on hand from previous year, $2,500.65; balance for new fiscal period, $7,000.

The petition states that the salary of each board member is $2,000 per year, and while the law provides for the appointment of the board and sets forth the board's responsibility for issuing licenses and holding hearings, no provisions were made to provide funds for operation.

In the petition, the board also requested that the Clerk of Court be required to set up this fund from the liquor license fees in a separate account and issue checks to pay salaries and other expenses of the board.

Mikesell Cites Methods To Be Used In ERP

Says "Free Dollars" Will Not Be Given

The European Recovery Program will not give free dollars to the foreign countries to be aided, Raymond F. Mikesell, financial consultant to the United States Department of State, said last night.

Mikesell, who is also professor of economics at the University of Virginia, was a guest speaker last night at the annual spring dinner meeting of Group 1 of the Maryland Bankers Association.

Approximately 80 officers and directors of the member banks in Allegany and Garrett Counties attended the session, held at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Howard Riggs, chairman of Group 1 and cashier of Garrett National Bank, Oakland, presided.

Chief purpose of the recovery program, Mikesell explained, is to enable the European countries receiving aid to become independent of further outside economic assistance by 1952.

Discusses Assistance

Dollars will not be given away, he said. Aid will be furnished either directly by commodities or through United States Treasury accounts to be used only for specific purposes.

Assistance will be in the form of grants or loans, depending on the individual country's financial status, with some countries paying cash for allocations where they are able to do so.

Mikesell pointed out that before the countries can receive aid, they must make bi-lateral agreements with the United States, agreeing to balance their budgets, reduce trade barriers and speed up delivery to the United States of materials needed in this country.

The European countries will be required to help themselves through their own efforts in prompting agriculture, industrial production, return to sound currencies and stimulating international trade, the speaker said.

Issues May Decrease

The second speaker of the evening was William A. Allnut, a partner in the Baker Watson Company of the New York Stock Exchange.

Allnut pointed out that the European Recovery Program may cut down on the number of municipal bond issues, because steel and other commodities necessary to building programs may not be available in as large quantities, after allocations are made to foreign countries.

He warned that it is most important in securing that type of bond to check on the municipality's willingness and ability to pay.

Allnut also stated that it is "dangerous" for the 15,000 banks in the United States to buy only government bonds, since they would be supplying money to the Treasury "for the support of bureaucrats."

Charles A. Piper, president of the Liberty Trust Company, urged support of the campaign headed by Lynn Lashley, vice president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, to promote sales of E bonds in the county.

The campaign, which opened yesterday and will continue until June 15, has a county quota of $1,700,000. The Garrett County quota is $140,000, and Riggs said he believes that goal will be met since sales of E, F and G bonds in Garrett County in 1947 amounted to between $300,000 and $400,000.

Wives Of Student-Vets Support School Strike

College Walkout Gaining Support

With more than 90 per cent of the school's 620 students still participating in the "sympathy vacation" at Potomac State School at Keyser, W. Va., yesterday, it was disclosed at a mass meeting in Mineral County Court House last night that a number of towns people are interested in the situation, a number of parents of students have wired the Board of Governors for an investigation, and the wives of veterans are almost solidly behind their GI-student husbands.

After a threat of being locked out of the Student Center on the campus, members of the Student Council asked for and obtained permission of county officials to hold their rallies in the Court House. At 6:30 p. m. yesterday until 7:10 p. m. a closed meeting was held, and from 7:10 until 8:30 p. m. a public meeting was held, with 25 to 30 townspeople attending and asking questions. Several expressed their sympathy.

Assured Of Support

Charles Bolyard, commander of Queens Point Memorial Post No. 6775, Veterans of Foreign Wars, McCoole, who spoke to the students a couple of nights ago, again assured the veteran-students that the VFW will fight any move by the school or Veterans Administration to deny GI benefits or school privileges to any of the striking veterans.

Students decided to continue the strike and to report on the picket line at 7 a. m. today, with another meeting planned for tonight.

A number of students reported last night that their parents have sent telegrams to the Board of Governors asking for an immediate investigation of conditions at Potomac State School which would lead to a student walkout. Several students said their parents had told them to "stick it out, if you believe you are right."

The letter read from the wives of veteran-students is as follows:

"The married veterans, with the exception of three couples, have given their full support to the Student Council in this controversy.

"To those students who have for four meetings declared how much they have at stake, we the wives of married veterans wish to point out to them a thing they so far have failed to consider.

"If we fail in this endeavor because of lack of 100 per cent student support, we are jeoparding not only our future, but the future of our children.

"Our Democratic ideals have led us to our present stand. Irregardless of the outcome, we no longer are in a position to depend on our parents for opinions or financial aid. We accepted these responsibilities which came with adulthood and marriage, and the difference between right and wrong is one of them.

Confident Of Desired Result

"Therefore, we resolve to give our full support in the future as we have given in the past to this situation which means so much to ourselves and our children.

"We are confident with the wholehearted support on the part of the student body the action of the committee will bring the desired result."

A student spokesman said there are 24 married veterans and their wives on the campus, and all but three of these wives signed the letter, which was read to the students and offered to the press for publication.

A student leader told the assembly last night that while the county prosecutor had come to the school and "read the law" which outlined possibility of prosecution, an attempt had been made to invoke a city ordinance against the striking students, but city officials had refused.

Another spokesman said several lawyers had contacted the Student Council and offered their legal assistance without charge in the event any arrests are made, or any other legal counsel is needed.

Like all their previous meetings, last night's session was orderly and well conducted. The cause of the "sympathy vacation" which students chose to call the failure to attend classes was reiterated.

It was described as a "culmination of a series of minor and major greivances over a long period of time, with the dismissal from school of two students for staying out all night."

The students have received no replies from letters sent to school and state officials, but said they expect no replies until today or possibly tomorrow.

"Final," Church Says

In Charleston, W. Va., yesterday where Dr. E. E. Church, school president was meeting with the Board of Public Works on plans for new buildings at the college, Dr. Church declared that expulsion of two students which touched off a strike at the institution is "final."

Dr. Church also told the Associated Press that more students are returning to clases and predicted that "the strike would gradually adjust itself."

After the student meeting at the Court House last night, a West Virginia State Policeman there commented, "This is the largest and most orderly crowd I have ever seen in this building."

Despite the fact that 90 per cent of the students are on strike, Rabbi Aaron Decter, of Temple Tifereth Israel, Boston, Mass. was presented in a convocation in the auditorium of the school yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. A faculty member reported the "actual count of students present was between 80 and 100" while a student representative reported the "actual count to be 39 students."

Pleading the case of the Jewish independent state in Palestine, Rabbi Decter stated "the United States has not gained in moral leadership by the suggesting of a trusteeship in Palestine. This country will lose all conscience if trusteeship is enforced," he said.

Playground Group Will Ask $20,000 Budget From City

Municipal Stadium Briefly Mentioned

The City Playground Association last night voted to ask the Mayor and City Council for a $20,000 annual appropriation at a meeting which heard vague mention of a municipal stadium and a tax assessment on local athletic event admissions.

The annual appropriation figure was arrived at after members of the individual organizations represented in the association recommended hiring 28 playground leaders at a weekly salary of $28.50 for the 14-week period the centers are in operation.

With the 28 leaders, four of whom would be men, the association indicated it they would dispense with an overall supervisor and permit the men to oversee activities as well as arrange recreation programs for the centers.

Also included in the budget recommendation was a proposal for a week's training period for all leaders prior to the opening of the playgrounds to enable them to organize schedules and activities for the children.

Salaries Total $10,780

Under the recommendations the 28 leaders salaries alone would amount to $10,780 for the summer period with other recommendations calling for $2,000 to be spent for new equipment and additional funds for regrading and placing the centers in shape.

The mention of a municipal stadium came when William H. Buchholtz, former president of the association and now a member of the City Council, said there is a strong likelihood that land now owned by the Department of Interior of the United States will be turned over to the city at the conclusion of Cumberland-Ridgeley flood project.

Buchholtz told members at the meeting it is his understanding the property in the vicinity of the present Community Baseball Park would be available for a Memorial Stadium which could be built by subscription.

Committee Named

The admission tax on athletic events was brought to the floor when several members recommended the appointment of a committee to study such a possibility of raising funds to promote recreation projects in the city.

Buchholtz who took a positive stand for such a tax, told the organization that such money would provide a fund to sponsor recreation programs for all age groups and would be coming from a source that is always among the first to take an interest in furthering the recreation facilities of the city.

Harry Kauffman, representative of the newly admitted Junior Association of Commerce organization was named chairman of the committee along with Brooks Starcher, representative of the West Side Playground Association.

Both men were instructed to study the legal aspects of such a tax with the understanding that the levy would be placed on adult admissions only.

In addition to the Jaycee group the Order of DeMolay was admitted to membership in the association last night, representing two of the first civic organizations to take an active part in the City Playground Association.
